ONE WITNESS MISSING DELAYS FORTNER'S TRIAL

Judge Continued Hearing Until Afternoon When Lawyers Again Ask Continuance.

MISS HALLEN CALLED

Accused's Former Stenographer Only Woman in Court When Case Is Called.

FORGERY THE CHARGE

Former Hotel Clerk Accused of Affixing Another's Name to $12,000 Check.

After the trial of M. Dwight Fortner for forgery had ben delayed three hours Tuesday to enable the defense to find H. R. Bumpass, said to be a material witness, Thomas D. Lawler, attorney for Fortner, asked Judge Shields when court reconvened at 2 p. m. to grant a fourth continuance of the case.

In support of the request, Lawler submitted two affidavits. In one it was asserted that Bumpass, who lives at 3516 Pine street, could not be found and that the case could not proceed properly without his testimony.

Judge Shields has already continued the case three times, twice for the defense and once for the State. He stated, when granting the third continuance, that he would refuse to delay the case again save for imperative cause, and that the trial must be held during this term of court.

The only woman in court when the case was called at 11 a. m. was Miss Hildegard Hallen, who was Fortner's stenographer and who is one of the important witnesses for the State. She wore a flowing white automobile veil and sat in the rear of the court, in lively conversation with Eugene Handlan, brother-in-law of Fortner. Mrs. Kathryn Handlan Fortner was not present.

The State will seek to prove that Fortner, acting as real estate agent for Steer, a Broadway business man, attempted to buy for him the Alice apartments, owned by Henry C. Tulley; that he obtained from Steer a $12,000 check with which "to bind the bargain;" that he forged the indorsement of Tulley, deposited the check to his own credit, realized $11,000 upon it and went to Paris, by way of New Orleans and Panama.

Indicted Thirteen Times.

Twelve other indictments charging Fortner with forgery hang over him, based on manipulations of deeds of trust on property belonging to his wife, Mrs. Kathryn Handlan Fortner.

Legal authorities doubt, however, whether Fortner can be compelled to stand trial on these additional indictments, as he was extradited on the one specific charge of forging the Tulley indorsement.

What line of defense the former hotel clerk, who arose in a meteoric career to relation by marriage with the Handlans, will adopt has not yet been announced. He has been repudiated by A. H. Handlan, his father-in-law, but the daughter, Mrs. Fortner, is standing by him. They have a young child.

The penalty for first-degree forgery is from 10 years to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. If Fortner were willing and were permitted to plead guilty to second-degree forgery, he might receive a five-year sentence from the Court's clemency.

Promoted Realty Deal.

In January last, Fortner, formerly a hotel clerk and the son-in-law of A. H. Handlan, promoted a deal for the sale of the Alice Apartments, at Union boulevard and Vernon avenue, owned by Henry C. Tulley, to F. A. Steer, a Broadway haberdasher. Fortner on Feb. 9 announced to Steer that the deal was ripe and obtained from him a $12,000 check, payable to Tulley, with which to bind the bargain. Fortner offered the check to Tulley, who refused it on the ground that he did not believe Steer would pay his price of $125,000 for the apartments.

On Feb. 11, Steer's check, bearing what purported to be the endorsement of Tulley was deposited in the St. Louis Union Trust Co. to the credit of M. D. Fortner, who obtained upon it a treasurer's check for $11,000 from the cashier of the bank.

The next day, Fortner cashed the $11,000 check at the National Bank of Commerce and disappeared.

When Tulley saw the check and the indorsement, "Henry O. Tulley," he said: "That is a facsimile of my signature, but it is not mine; I did not indorse that check." Mrs. Fortner said she had received a telegram from her husband in Chicago, stating that he would return in a few days.

Arrested Miss Hallen.

On March 6, while the search for the fugitive went on, Chief of Detectives Desmith made a midnight invasion, which excited widespread comment, of the home of Miss Hildegard Hallen, Fortner's stenographer. He arrested her and charged her with complicity in Fortner's operations. Six days later she was exonerated in Judge Shields' court and freed.

TOM KANE PLOT FAILS AND HE IS TAKEN TO COURT

Gangster Who Sought to Escape Vote Fraud Trial Is Produced.

POLICE GUARD WITNESS

FORGERY IS CHARGED

Note Presented to Judge Differs From One Written at Hospital.

Thomas (Red Mike) Kane was produced in Judge Grimm's court Tuesday by his bondsman, Samuel Epstein, following the failure of an attempt to procrastinate the trial of the political gangster accused of fraudulent voting, until the end of the present term of court, 10 days hence, when the charge would become outlawed.

Circuit Attorney Jones announced Tuesday afternoon that his office would begin an investigation of the Kane Dromios. This statement followed a conference of Jones with Assistant Circuit Attorneys Dyer and Rosskopf.

The finding of a dummy "Tom Kane," really ill, in Alexian Brothers' Hospital, and the obtaining of a certificate from one of the brothers and the house physician of the institution, declaring Kane too sick to appear in court was a part of the plan. The artifice was disclosed when deputy sheriffs, visiting the hospital, found that "Tom Kane" had black hair instead of the fiery shock which won "Red Mike" his gang soubriquet.

"Where did you find Kane?" Epstein was asked.

"I don't know; maybe I met him on the street," answered the bondsman, excitedly.

Controversy in Court.

When the case was called at noon, C. Orrick Bishop, of counsel for Kane, asked for a continuance.

"I will not grant it," said Judge Grimm. "Your associate in the case, C. Porter Johnson, promised me he would be ready for trial today."

"I was not a party to that agreement," retorted Bishop.

"I will pass the case down until you can send for Mr. Johnson," said the Court, noticing that the attorney was not present.

"I'm not interested in Mr. Johnson," said Bishop, "and I don't want him."

Bishop thereupon presented an affidavit that he did not believe Judge Grimm could fairly try the case, as he tried Kane for murdering Moehrle, and asked for a change of venue.

The request was granted, and the case certified to Judge Shields' court, where it will be set at an early date.

Kinney Makes Denial.

Constable Mike Kinney, in whose name someone telephoned the hospital promising that Kinney would be responsible for "Kane's" bills there, was in the Four Courts when Kane arrived, but protested that he had no interest in the case.

"I keep dozens of poor voters of my ward in Alexian Brothers' Hospital," said Kinney. "I have a running account there, and the Brothers send me monthly bills, which I settle by check. Many times I don't know who the men are. Fellows have gone there and used my name to get treatment, and I never kicked. I do it all for charity.

"There may be three or four Tom Kanes at the hospital at my expense,

Woman Made Affidavit That She Was the Wife of William J. Erder—Dr. Doxey Testifies That Wife Has Long Used Morphine.

Miss Kate Erder of 3432 Connecticut street, through her attorney, Edward A. Noonan Jr., Tuesday, began proceedings to recover the estate of her brother, William J. Erder, from Mrs. Dora Elizabeth Doxey, who, with Dr. Loren B. Doxey, is under statutory charges at Columbus, Neb.

Miss Erder has started legal proceedings to have the estate placed in the hands of the Public Administrator. This can be done by obtaining a revocation of the order in which Probate Judge Holtcamp turned the estate over to Mrs. Doxey on her representation that she was the legal widow of Erder.

Following this action a warrant charging Mrs. Doxey with having entered into a bigamous marriage with William J. Erder will be applied for. Miss Erder and Attorney Noonan telephoned to Clayton to make arrangements to get the warrant Tuesday. Prosecuting Attorney Shackleford asked for time in which to examine the evidence in Miss Erder's possession and it was decided to make the formal application Wednesday.

This action followed a conference between Attorney Noonan and Circuit Attorney Jones, in whose hands Miss Erder has placed important evidence, which she hopes will be the basis of official action in case the chemical analysis now under way to determine the cause of Erder's death should show that he was poisoned.

In the Probate Court of St. Louis Tuesday a Post-Dispatch reporter found an affidavit, made and signed by Mrs. Dora E. Erder, which will be relied upon as important evidence if she is charged with having entered into a bigamous marriage with Erder.

Dr. Doxey, rearrested at Columbus, Neb., Monday afternoon, as exclusively told in the Post-Dispatch, testified at his preliminary hearing that since the arrest of himself and his wife on a statutory charge preferred by Miss Kate Erder he has been giving his wife injections of a combination of powerful poisons, one of which is morphine.

He dramatically denied the official accusation that he is trying to kill his wife and explained that his statement that she would never live to return to St. Louis was intended to convey the idea that the excitement caused by the charges made against her might result in her death.

Affidavit Contradicts Statement.

The affidavit found in the Probate Court directly contradicts the statement made by Mrs. Doxey immediately after her arrest that she was never married to Erder and that he made her the beneficiary in his life insurance policies because she nursed him after his wife deserted him.

The affidavit was made before George Brand, Clerk of the Probate Court, July 16 last, six days after Erder's death. This was at the time when, according to statements by Mrs. Doxey at Columbus, Neb., she was "very ill in a hospital."

The document shows that she swore that she was the widow of William J. Erder, who died without making a will, and as Erder's widow she claimed a $500 insurance policy on the life of Erder's sister, Elizabeth, whose death preceded Erder's by less than a week.

She swore also that her family consisted "only of herself" and that $500

HADLEY FIRES QUESTIONS AT SENATOR STONE

Wants Critic to Explain What He Knows of Lobbies That Killed Bills.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 23.—Gov. Hadley, on his return to the city today after a four days' absence on a hunting trip in Taney County, when asked if he would make reply to the charge of extravagance made against his administration by Senator Stone in his speech here last Thursday night, said:

"What Senator Stone had to say in support of his charge of extravagance against me and my administration requires neither answer nor explanation. Every expenditure referred to by him was authorized by the Legislature, one branch of which was Democratic. Otherwise it would not have been allowed by a Democratic Auditor, who prides himself on the care with which he examines all accounts, or paid by a Democratic State Treasurer.

"It is perhaps not to be wondered at that the distinguished Senator should seek to divert attention from his record in the United States Senate, and the record that his party supporters made in the last legislature by resorting to personalities.

Defent of Bills Cited.

"If he really wants to discuss questions of importance in state affairs, let him tell the people of Missouri what he thinks of the action of the Democratic members of the last legislature in opposing and defeating a bill creating such a public service commission as has secured for the people of other states, reasonable rates and satisfactory service from public service corporations; an anti-pass law, such as has been enacted by the National Government and most of the states; a bill prohibiting railroad companies from charging one passenger a higher rate than another for the same service; a bill drawn by the Attorney-General and the special council in the railroad rate litigation, authorizing the Board of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners to fix passenger rates.

"Let him also tell the people what he thinks of the action of his followers in the legislature in opposing and defeating the bill requiring the separation of the brewery from the saloons; the bill authorizing the people of residence districts of the large cities to prohibit the saloon in such districts; the bill increasing the efficiency of the local option laws; the bill suppressing lid clubs, and the bill increasing saloon licenses.

Lobby's Efforts Cited.

"Let him also give the names, well known to him, of the prominent Democratic politicians and former State officials who composed the railroad and brewery lobby in the last Legislature and who proposed all of these bills. And let him tell the people how it happened that every measure these distinguished gentlemen opposed, the Democratic members of the Legislature defeated.

"And if he wants to make a comparison in economy, let him tell the people why it is, if his charge of extravagance is true, that I have been able to pay off nearly $1,000,000 of obligations, inherited from his and other Democratic administrations, and put the finances of the State in a better condition than ever before.

"Let him also tell what he thinks of

31 BUILDINGS ARE BLOWN UP BY BLACK HAND

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 23.—Six buildings were completely wrecked, 25 partially wrecked, windows destroyed in more than one hundred houses and plate glass shattered in half a hundred business houses, as the result of a dynamite explosion in the fruit and wine house of Joseph Mascari, 1 College street, shortly before 12 o'clock last night.

That it was a black hand plot to destroy Mascari there is no doubt, as the police this morning found a dynamite fuse and guncotton two squares away from the wrecked section of the city.

Four Believed to Be Dead.

It is believed that there are four Italians dead in the ruins of the buildings. The police are clearing away the debris to get the bodies.

Fire started immediately after the explosion and this retarded the work of the police, but Tuesday afternoon the flames were under control.

The loss will reach fully $75,000.

The Mayor tonight will ask the City Council to offer a reward of $1000 for the apprehension of the dynamiters. It is thought that Mascari knows their identity but fears to name them on account of threats they have made.

Two minutes before the explosion occurred two Italians were seen to run from the scene and disappear in the darkness. The police have a good description of the men, and every suspicious Italian in the city is being rounded up.

Building Blown Into Bits.

Fully 50 pounds of dynamite was exploded. Not a vestige of the Mascari building remains. It was a one-story structure of stone and wood. Pieces of the building were picked up three squares away.

The Adair barber supply house, adjoining Mascari's place, and a boarding house and restaurant near by were blown from their foundations. The saloon of Joseph Mix, just north of the fruit and wine house, was wrecked. Every barrel, glass and window in the place was blown into innumerable bits.

Nearly half of the city was shaken by the explosion, and thousands rushed from their homes, half-clad, thinking that an earthquake had struck the city.

He said that threats had been made against him, but refused to give the identity of his enemies.

The damage is estimated at from $50,000 to $75,000. The business block in which Mascari's place of business was located was completely demolished. Bricks from it and other buildings in the vicinity were found 10 squares away. Citizens thought the city had been shaken by an earthquake and hundreds fled to the streets. Immediately after the explosion flames began to sweep the district, but they were extinguished.

Woman Got Erder's Property Swearing She Was His Wife

Affidavit made by Dora Erder in the Probate Court of St. Louis, July 16, 1909:

DORA E. ERDER, being duly sworn, on her oath, says she is the widow of William J. Erder, late of the city of St. Louis, deceased, who died intestate on or about July 10, 1909, leaving no real estate nor any interest therein of any kind whatsoever, and that the personal property of said deceased does not exceed the sum of $500 in value, consisting of insurance policy No. 629,889 for $500 on the life of Elizabeth B. Erder, issued by the Prudential Insurance Co., wherein said William Erder is beneficiary.

That her family consists of herself and that in addition to provisions on hand and provided at the time of the death of said deceased there will be needed for the subsistence of said family for 12 months the sum of $500 in lieu of provisions not on hand. Said affiant further states that said deceased had no property or effects of any kind whatsoever at the time of his death, except the property above mentioned, so far as she has been able to ascertain.

WHEREFORE she prays the Court to order that no letters of administration be issued on said estate unless on application of creditors or other parties interested or the existence of other and further property be shown.

D. A. DeARMOND AND HIS GRANDSON BURNED TO DEATH

Missouri Congressman Dies in Morning Fire That Destroys Home at Butler.

WAS SLEEPING ON PORCH IN AN "OPEN AIR ROOM"

Married Daughter Awakened by Flames Heard Father Tell Boy "I Will Save You."—Charred Bones Found in Ruins of the House.

(By Associated Press.)

BUTLER, Mo., Nov. 23.—Representative David A. DeArmond, one of the leading Democratic members of Congress, and his grandson, "Waddie" DeArmond, aged 6, were burned to death in a fire that destroyed the DeArmond home early today. Bones believed to be those of the Congressman were found by searchers in the ruins this morning. It is thought both Mr. DeArmond and the boy were burned to death without being able to leave the "open-air" room in which they slept.

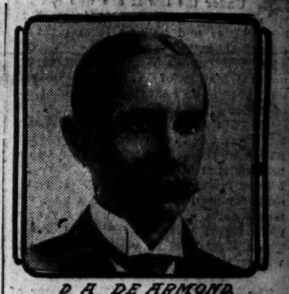

The other occupants of the house at the time of the fire escaped. They are Mrs. DeArmond and Mrs. Hattie Clark, wife and daughter respectively of the Congressman, and a woman servant. Mrs. Clark suffered a slight burn on one hand.

The only theory that has been advanced as to the origin of the fire is that it started from hot bricks which Judge DeArmond and his grandson took to bed to warm their feet. On cold nights, these were taken to the outdoor sleeping rooms. There was no fire in the house, the servant says.

The fire started at about 4 o'clock in the morning. The DeArmond home was a large two-story frame structure, set well back from the street. On two sides of the house, even with the second floor, four outdoor sleeping apartments had been constructed, and at the time the fire broke out the persons in the house occupied these rooms.

Congressman DeArmond and his young grandson occupied one room on the south side of the building, while Mrs. DeArmond and Mrs. Clark were in separate rooms on the opposite side of the house. Nettie Boles, 20 years old, a servant, had a room on the west end of the house.

Mrs. Clark was awakened by a cry, and going to the door of her room, saw smoke issuing from the part of the house where Congressman DeArmond and Waddie slept.

D. A. DE ARMOND.

"Get me out of here," she heard Waddie cry.

"Never mind, son; I'll save you," Congressman DeArmond answered.

Those were the last words either of the victims uttered. A moment later the smoke increased in volume and Mrs. Clark fled downstairs to the telephone. Within a minute's time she had given the alarm to the telephone office and hurried back to the room of her mother.

Daughter's Hand Burned as She Helps Her Mother Through the Flames

By this time the entire second floor was clouded with smoke, and flames were leaping from the windows. Groping her way to Mrs. DeArmond's bedside, Mrs. Clark hurriedly awakened the Congressman's wife and literally dragged her from the room. There was no time to think of aiding those in the other part of the house.

Urging her mother down the stairway, the younger woman with difficulty succeeded in reaching the street door and opening it. The two had scarcely reached the door when Mrs. DeArmond fainted, and it was necessary to carry her into the yard to save her from the flames.

Mrs. Clark suffered a burned hand, but maintained her composure and helped to administer to her mother.

The home of Congressman DeArmond was situated across the street from that of James A. DeArmond, one of his three sons. By the time Mrs. Clark and her mother had reached a safe place, neighbors and the firemen were gathering.

The flames by this time entirely enveloped the big house, shooting from every window, and to have entered the building would have been extremely dangerous.

James DeArmond, however, dashed for the front door, frantic in an effort to save his father and the boy. He had already been lost in a cloud of smoke before neighbors could get to him, and prevent his entering the house. For a few moments there was a struggle and finally he was literally dragged to the street.

No cry came from the burning ruins of the house, now fast crumbling, and it was evident that Congressman DeArmond and Waddie had either been overcome by smoke or were then dead. The fire had then been burning 10 minutes. Fifteen minutes later nothing but ashes remained of the house. The wooden structure had burned with the utmost rapidity and had proved a veritable firetrap.

Nettie Boles, the maid, it developed later, had been one of the first to escape. She reached the yard from the rear door after the first cry of fire. She was unhurt, but too frightened to comprehend the situation, and had fled from the scene.

Search of the ruins at daylight revealed no tangible trace of the two victims. What was believed to be the bones of Congressman DeArmond were found at the south side of the house, but they crumbled quickly, discrediting that belief.

Mrs. DeArmond was cared for at a neighbor's house. She promptly recovered from her fainting condition and today bore the situation with fortitude.

The financial loss is placed at $20,000, and included one of the best libraries in the State.

Thinks DeArmond Tried Rescue.

Mrs. Clark believes that her father sacrificed his life in a heroic effort to save his grandson. She thinks that Congressman DeArmond was aroused in time to save himself, but that in awakening the boy and attempting to carry him from danger, he became confused in the smoke which was momentarily growing denser, and was overcome before he was able to find the way out.

Judge DeArmond, as he was known to his intimates, thought at one time that he had tuberculosis, it is said. He began sleeping out of doors, and soon found that the dreaded symptoms had disappeared. He kept up the open-air treatment, however, and induced other members of his family to take it up, believing it to be a guarantee against ill-health.

Congressman DeArmond had three sons and a daughter. James A. DeArmond is the only son in the West. He is editor of the Butler Democrat. He was Adjutant-General on the staff of Gov. Joseph W. Folk.

"Waddie" DeArmond was the son of James A. DeArmond. His right name was David A. He was named after his grandfather and was the latter's favorite grandchild. The boy frequently remained at the home of his grandparents, always occupying a bed with the Congressman.

Congressman DeArmond's other sons are Edward H., who is an instructor at West Point, and Lieut. George W. DeArmond, now serving with the army in the Philippines.

Mrs. Hattie Clark, the daughter, is the wife of Harvey Clark, who is in would be required for her maintenance in the 12 months following the death of her husband, William J. Erder.

In addition to signing her name to the affidavit she wrote on it the address of the home where she had lived with Erder in the two and one-half months of their married life, 3015 Wyoming street.

William Dee Becker of Henderson & Becker, attorneys for Public Administrator Troll, said Tuesday:

"Evidence indicating that Mrs. Dora Erder was not the legal wife of William J. Erder will be sufficient to set aside the order issued by Probate Judge Holtcamp that there need be no administration of the estate.

This will at once throw the entire estate into the hands of the Public Administrator and will open the way not only for a civil suit to recover all of the money or property obtained from the estate by Mrs. Dora Erder, but also for criminal proceedings against her on a bigamy charge.

"Before making application to have the order set aside we will obtain a certified copy of the marriage certificate said to have been issued to Dora and Dr. Doxey in Des Moines in 1906.

"The Public Administrator might recover the insurance money for Erder's mother and sister by suing the insurance companies direct. The companies in turn would then have redress by suing Mrs. Erder for the money or by prosecuting her for bigamy.

"It makes no difference whether Erder, in making Mrs. Dora Erder his beneficiary, thought she was his wife. It makes no difference that she was the woman whom he chose as his beneficiary. Under the law if she was not his wife she had no insurable interest in his policies and had no legal right to collect them."

Dr. William H. Warren, dean of the medical faculty of Washington University, began the analysis of the contents of Erder's organs Tuesday.

"From the condition of the organs I am convinced that if there is a trace of poison in the body I will be able to determine that fact," he said. "Of course I have found nothing as yet. It is too early for that. I shall give out no statements as to my findings until my complete report is ready for the Coroner. The analysis will be very thorough and will consume a week or ten days."

Minister Identifies Pictures.

The Rev. Karl F. Pfeiffer, pastor of the German Evangelical Church at Clayton, St. Louis County, Tuesday identified the picture of Mrs. Dora Elizabeth Doxey as that of the woman who, under the name of Dodge, married William J. Erder April 26 last. Dr. Pfeiffer performed the ceremony in his parsonage.

He says also that after seeing published photographs he has no doubt that the man who married "Mrs. Dodge" was the William J. Erder of St. Louis, whose sister, Kate Erder, has preferred statutory charges against Mrs. Dora Doxey and Dr. Loren B. Doxey at Columbus, Neb.

Doxey had a preliminary hearing Monday evening in Columbus, and Judge Ratterman of the Platte County Court decided that there was no evidence to hold him on a charge of willfully poisoning his wife. Coupled with this decision was a court order that Doxey must permit other physicians to treat Mrs. Dexey.

At the preliminary hearing Doxey made the first statement he has made since he and his wife were arrested. This followed the testimony of Drs. C. D. Evans and F. H. Morrow that Doxey had been giving his wife eight grains of morphine a day—a quantity, they said, sufficient to cause death in a short time.

The Rev. Samuel Harkness, pastor of the Columbus Presbyterian Church, testified that Doxey told him that his wife would never live to return to St. Louis, and then Doxey took the stand.

Prescribed Morphine for Wife.

"For 12 years or more, long before she became my wife, I was Dora's family physician," he testified. "Her capacity for morphine was most unusual. In recent years she has been suffering from nervous exhaustion and violent headaches.

"She also suffered extreme pain as a result of injuries suffered in a runaway two years ago. As an antidote for this pain she has been a constant user of morphine.

"I have been giving my wife about six grains of morphine every day, including that contained in H. M. C. tablets, as Dr. Evans and Morris have testified. I admit that such a quantity of the drug might appear dangerous to most physicians, but I have always felt safe in administering such doses because of the extreme character of the case and my personal knowledge of it.

"As true as there is a God in heaven," he exclaimed, "I have never thought of such a thing as these men charge. I love that woman as I love my breath, and I know she loves me. Why, if I wanted to kill her, I'd give her one dose and be done with it."

Said Trouble Would Kill.

Asked for an explanation of his statement to Dr. Harkness that his wife would never live to go back to St. Louis, he said:

wife away on a charge of which she is innocent it would kill her or cause her to go insane."

In compliance with the Court's order Dr. W. S. Evans of Columbus is now in attendance on Mrs. Doxey.

"To remove her to a hospital or to take her away from my presence at this time would certainly kill her," said Dr. Doxey in pleading that he be permitted to remain with his wife. "The nervous shock and the loss of that attention to a peculiar case which I have had sole charge of for years would be fatal."

Tablets Contain Three Poisons.

The H. M. C. tablets mentioned by Dr. Doxey and the other physicians at the preliminary hearing are, according to druggists, a combination of three poisons, hyocene, morphine and cactin. In using them they are dissolved in water and the resulting mixture is injected into the patient's arm with a hypodermic syringe. They are narcotic in effect and in sufficient quantity they will cause death.

Special dispatches from Waterloo, Io., reveal the fact that a suit is now pending there against Dr. Doxey and his wife to recover money which Dr. Doxey borrowed from the Leavitt & Johnson National Bank a year ago for the stated purpose of paying the expense of bringing his mothers body from California for burial. The amount borrowed was $284.24.

The petition states that William T. Doxey, a brother of the physician, was also one of the signers of the promissory note on which a payment of $150 was made by Dr. Doxey Dec. 30, 1908. The petition says that since the loan was made Dr. Doxey has conveyed his property, including the old Doxey homestead of 160 acres, to Mrs. Doxey. It is charged that this was done to enable Doxey to escape payment of the bank's claim. This suit was filed about a month ago.

volving $25,000 was discovered, and 13 indictments, charging forgery, were returned against him. There were 11 charges of first degree forgery and two charges of second degree forgery. It was announced that, if captured, he would probably be tried on only one count.

On May 18 came a cable from Paris, France, stating that Fortner had been arrested there, where he had assumed the name of William Wells. Pinkerton detectives had traced him from St. Louis to New Orleans, from there to Panama, and thence to Paris by the conspicuous trail of gold-and-scarlet bands of the three-for-a-dollar cigars which he smoked incessantly and by his penchant for paying bills with $100 gold certificates.

The detectives found persons all along the route of hsi flight who remembered him as "the man who smoked the big, black cigars with red and gold bands;" or as "the fellow with the big 'C' bills."

On May 20 Gov. Hadley signed extradition papers, and five days later Sergt. John McMullen was dispatched by Chief Creecy to bring Fortner back to St. Louis. On June 8 McMullen reached Paris and Fortner's fight against extradition began. The French Government granted extradition two weeks later. Fortner had only $1200 left when arrested. McMullen and he reached New York on Aug. 7, and St. Louis two days later. Judge Allen fixed his bond at $12,000, against the protest of the Circuit Attorney's office, which demanded a bond of $24,000.

Since Fortner's return from Paris his case has been set for trial four times. The State obtained one continuance and the defense two.

the method that I adopted to accomplish this result by increasing for this biennial period the States's revenue $600,000, by increasing saloon licenses through executive orders, and $300,000 by doing away with 150 coal oil inspectorships and turning the money that they received under his administration, and that of his Democratic successors, into the State treasury.

"And if he wants to institute comparisons along other lines between his administration and mine, let him say whether he approves the manner in which the election laws and laws regulating saloons have been enforced during the last 11 months.

Ballot Frauds Charged.

"And let him also tell why it was that during his administration his appointees did not enforce the law requiring saloons to close on Sunday, and why fraudulent registration, ballot box stuffing and forging of election returns were permitted by those whom he placed in charge of our elections in Kansas City and St. Louis.

"If the distinguished Senator wants something to divert the attention of the people from his hypocrisy and inconsistency on the tariff question, let him answer a few of these questions in his remaining speeches. And when he has delivered himself upon these questions, I may have some other matters relating to State affairs to submit for his consideration and discussion."

Kane Appears in Court; Witness Begs Protection

for all I know. I didn't telephone the hospital that I would be responsible for this "Tom Kane's" expenses, but I'll pay them if he is unable. Any fellow from my ward who is down and out can get help from me.

"I know nothing of any plot to keep Kane from being tried for illegal voting. I don't know who obtained the certificate from the hospital and took it into court. I never heard of any conspiracy until I read about it in the papers."

How Ruse Was Attempted.

Inquiry at 920 North Broadway, the address given as his own by the "Thomas Kane" in the hospital, showed that the real "Red Mike" Kane has lived there for four years.

"My 'Red Mike' Kane is the genuine one," said Mrs. John Berry, who keeps a boarding house at that address. "He has lived here four years. He's the man who shot Fred Mohrle.

"A week prior to Nov. 14 he told me he was sick, and he kept his room for seven days. He said he was very sick, but he didn't send for a doctor, and I thought it was queer.

"On Nov. 14 he got up and said he felt so badly he was going to Alexian Brothers Hospital. I have not seen him since.

"No black-headed Tom Kane ever lived at my house. The red-top is the only Tom Kane I know."

But if "Red Mike" Kane started for the hospital, he was sidetracked on the way, for a black-haired Tom Kane arrived there in his stead on the same day.

When the witnesses were instructed to report in Judge Shield's court, Alex. Epstein, the State's main witness against Kane, appealed to Assistant Circuit Attorney Dyer for police protection.

"I am afraid to leave the courtroom alone," said Epstein, who is not related to Kane's bondsman.

Detective John McMullen was detailed to escort Epstein to safety. He is a shoemaker, living at 803 Morgan street, and was an election official at the booth in which Kane is alleged to have voted illegally.

Two Kanes at Hospital.

At the time Kane was to be in court Monday to answer the ballot fraud charge, a stranger gave a note to the Judge, purporting to show that Kane was in the hospital, and signed by "Henry W. Gibbs, M. D., per Brother Pius Egan." On Assistant Circuit Attorney Dyer's protest, the Judge sent deputies to the hospital to arrest Kane. Two "Thomas Kanes" at the hospital were seen, but neither was "Red Mike."

The hospital records show "Thomas Kane" entered Nov. 14, gave his age as 40 years, residence at 920 North Broadway and his ailment as rheumatic gout. It is asserted "Kane" said he was a deputy constable, and when his history was repeated in a ward, "Kane" gave his name as John. It is further declared "Kane" left the hospital for half an hour after the deputies had found him "too sick to appear in court."

"My name is really Thomas W. Kane," said the black-haired patient at the hospital Tuesday to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "I was a deputy constable under Mike Kinney a year ago. I lived at 920 North Broadway for some time and left last spring. I never met 'Red Mike' Kane.

"I don't know who the man was who came here with me, and I don't know who the person was who obtained the certificate which was presented in court. Mike Kinney didn't send me here. I have money of my own and am paying my own bills. My last address was 800 South Sixth street. I am 42 years old and have no occupation."

According to Brother Pius Egan, the man who obtained the certificate and whom "Kane" says he does not know, spent a half hour in conversation with the patient Monday, before requesting the certificate. The stranger said he, too, was a deputy constable under Mike Kinney, and that "Kane" was wanted as a witness in some case.

Forgery Is Charged.

Dr. Gibbs and Brother Egan suspect that the certificate presented in court was a forgery because its wording was very different from the one supplied at the hospital. The one written by Brother Eagan read:

"This is to certify that Thomas Kane is sick in this institution and under my professional treatment since Nov. 14. The nature of his sickness is rheumatic gout and he is unable to attend to his ordinary occupations. Henry W. Gibbs, M. D., per Brother Pius Egan."

The certificate presented in court read: "This is to certify that Thomas Kane is a patient at this hospital and unable to appear in court. Henry W. Gibbs, M. D., per Brother Pius Egan."

"The purpose of having a certificate signed here," said Brother Egan, "may have been to insure our replying in the affirmative if anyone telephoned to ask whether such a certificate had been issued."

David A. DeArmond and Young Grandson Are Burned to Death

In Congress 19 Years.

In Mr. DeArmond the Democrats lose one of their leaders on the floor of the House. A member of that body for the last 19 years, and a man of education, wide experience and fluent speech, he had become one of the principal resources of his party in all discussions of national questions. He made a specialty of labor subjects, but was never at a loss in handling almost any question.

Mr. DeArmond had been on the bench before going to Congress, and he naturally gave much attention to judicial subjects. He was a member of the Committee on Judiciary and had held that post for many years.

Previous to the present Congress he also was a member of the Committee on Rules, but the selection of his colleague, Champ Clark, as minority leader, rendered it necessary to place Mr. Clark on that committee, which had the effect of displacing Mr. DeArmond, as two could not be appointed from the same state.

While Mr. DeArmond will be long remembered for his brilliant oratory and especially for his power of sarcasm and capacity for invectives, he also will long be known on account of his qualities as a party fighter.

Inclined to be pugnacious, he often pleaded subjects as an aggressor rather than as a defendant. This quality of mind was the means of getting him into a personal altercation two years ago with John Sharp Williams, who was then the Democratic leader of the House.

Congressman DeArmond and John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, leader of the House of Representatives minority, passed the lie and fought in the House of Representatives, Dec. 18, 1907. When friends separated them Mr. Williams' face was streaming with blood.

There had been disagreement and bitter feeling between them as to the succession to the minority leadership which Williams held.

Mr. Williams and Mr. DeArmond met on the floor just before the adjournment and began talking. In a moment they grew angry, and nearby congressmen looked up in time to hear the lie passed—they are not certain by which man—and to see the two members strike at one another and clinch.

When, a moment later, the two were pulled apart, it was seen that Mr. DeArmond's blow had laid open Mr. Williams' cheek. Both men were escorted to their rooms.

Mr. Williams intended to resign from his position as leader of the Democrats in the House, that he might have more time to devote to study before he became Senator, for which he had been nominated.

Mr. DeArmond, it was said, was eager to succeed Mr. Williams, who favored Champ Clark.

Mr. DeArmond's strong feeling at that had been openly expressed, but there had been no open rupture between the congressmen until then.

Mr. DeArmond was first elected to the House of Representatives from the Sixth Congressional District. He was born March 18, 1844, in Blair County, Pennsylvania. His early life was spent on his father's farm, receiving his education in the common schools and at Williamsport Dickinson Seminary.

In his young manhood he practiced law in Butler, and in 1884 was named as a presidential elector. He held successively the positions of State Senator, Circuit Judge and Missouri Supreme Court Commissioner.

A Reminder of Old England.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The official sub-taster of Market Drayton, Salop, warned all thieves, rogues, vagabonds, cutpurses and idle and disorderly men to depart immediately from the town, as the ancient festival known as "Dole Fair" had begun, and the Bailiff, chamberlain, constables, searchers, sealers, and scavengers paraded the streets to see that the order had been obeyed.

CITY FATHERS VISIT ASYLUMS

Council Considers Bill for Hospital Commissioner.

Members of the City Council visited the City Hospital, Female Hospital, Insane Asylum and Poorhouse Monday afternoon to get an accurate idea of how the institutions are conducted. The Council has under consideration a bill to place the hospitals under a commissioner, subject to the advice of a hospital board.

WARNER QUITS PENSION OFFICE

Commissioner Will Devote Time to Private Property Interests.

CLINTON, Ill., Nov. 23.—Col. Vespasian Warner, United States Commissioner of Pensions, has tendered his resignation to President Taft and it has been accepted.

Col. Warner was appointed Commissioner of Pensions by Theodore Roosevelt in 1904 and was reappointed by President Taft at the beginning of the present administration. His resignation is forced by the illness of his son, C. M. Warner, which compels the father to assume management of large private property interests, which have been looked after by the younger man. It was the purpose of the Commissioner to come home and relieve his son for a few months, thinking he might again resume his duties as Commissioner, but the ailment of the son has not yielded to medical treatment.

Hundreds of letters from Civil War veterans all over the United States have been pouring in during the past few weeks urging Mr. Warner not to resign.

DIES AS SHE DONS BRIDAL GOWN

Bride-Elect Stricken With Paralysis as Groom and Guests Wait.

REDDING, Cal., Nov. 23.—While Miss Mae E. Deffert was putting on her wedding gown yesterday for her marriage to George Gautier, and the guests were assembled, she was stricken with paralysis and died.

When news of the tragedy was brought to the bridegroom and guests Gautier was nearly overcome.

GIRL TO WED MAN SHE FREED

Clara Hensel's Efforts Acquitted E. D. Poos of Killing Father.

Miss Clara Hensel of 3441 Illinois avenue will be married Thursday to Edward D. Poos of 3464 South Broadway, who was held in jail last May on a charge of killing his father. Miss Hensel was instrumental in procuring the evidence showing the father had ended his own life, which resulted in the release of her fiance.

On May 17 the father, August Poos, shot his wife and fired at his son. The son then fired at his father, who staggered into a rear room and fell dead. The investigation showed his wound was made by a bullet from his own revolver and that the son's shot had missed him.

Poos and his bride will reside at 233A President street.

The Hotel Jefferson will serve a Thanksgiving table d'hote dinner from 6 to 8:30 p. m. at $1.50 per person, including a cocktail and a pint of still wine.

DUKE OF ROXBURGHE BREAKS LEG

May Goelet's Husband Falls From Horse While Following Hounds.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The Duke of Roxburghe, who married May Goelet of New York, met with a serious accident while hunting with the Quorn hounds.

When taking the last fence of the run the horse fell and the Duke suffered a broken leg, and minor injuries.

He was removed to a neighboring mansion, where surgeons were soon in attendance upon him.

ENDEAVORERS TO GIVE COMEDY

Play Will Be for the Benefit of Niedringhaus Mission.

"The Clergyman's Courtship," a three-act comedy, will be staged by members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church at the Niedringhaus Memorial Mission, Thanksgiving night. The proceeds of the production will be donated to the Free Dispensary of the Mission.

The cast has been trained and assisted by Mrs. Alice J. Weintge.

LOCKJAW DEATH WILL NOT STOP USE OF VACCINE

Vaccination in Public Schools Will Not Be Interrupted by Fatality.

VICTIM SIX YEARS OLD

One Hundred Others Inoculated at the Same Time Have Not Suffered.

TETANUS GERMS EASILY INTRODUCED INTO ARM

BY DR. G. A. JORDAN, Assistant Health Commissioner.

INFECTION with tetanus germs can easily result from carelessness with a vaccination wound. Tetanus germs flourish in the top soil of the earth and in the surroundings of stables. A child with particles of dirt beneath his finger nails may scratch his sore arm, perhaps, as he is going to bed and introduce these germs.

SUCH cases some years ago were not uncommon. Their number has been greatly reduced by improved methods of protecting vaccination wounds, and by greater thoroughness in instructing children and parents as to the care of vaccinated arms.

Vaccination of public school pupils will not be interrupted, school officials said Tuesday, by the death of 6-year-old Elmer DeuFriend from tetanus, following vaccination.

Vaccine points of the brand used on the boy have been temporarily withdrawn from use, but it is not believed the infection will be traced to them. Of 100 Arlington School pupils, vaccinated at the same time as Elmer, Nov. 1, no other has shown any symptoms of tetanus. Had the infection been in the vaccine point, it is believed, it would have been equally present in other points, and other children would have been affected.

Elmer, who entered the Arlington kindergarten for the first time this fall, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeuFriend of 3710 Cottage avenue. His death Monday afternoon occurred three weeks after he was vaccinated.

Physician Called Too Late.

His first complaint was made last Friday night, and at that time his father got a salve from a druggist and applied it to the vaccine scar. The boy renewed his complaint Saturday and another application of the salve was made.

Dr. E. H. Johnson, summoned Sunday, recognized symptoms of tetanus, which had advanced so far that the injection of tetanus antitoxin failed to save the boy's life. He died in convulsions after more than a day of great suffering.

Dr. Johnson, the family physician, and Dr. James Stewart, medical officer of the Board of Education, agreed that it was unlikely tetanus had resulted directly from vaccination. The most likely cause, they decided, was infection caused by scratching. That the infection might have come from the salve applied, was said to be possible, but not likely.

Dr. Johnson said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday that the infection must, in his opinion, have been caused by scratching.

"The vaccination apparently had healed, and the scab had been removed," he said. "A raw place must have remained, which left room for infection. This might have been caused either by scratching with the finger nails, or even by scratching through a shirt.

"When my attention was called to the case Sunday morning, tetanus had progressed so far that the child's limbs were bent, and he was beyond help."

Vaccination Done as Usual.

The vaccination was performed by one of the young physicians attached to Dr. Stewart's staff. These physicians are directed to wash the children's arms thoroughly with soap and water, and to rinse them with alcohol. Vaccination shields or aseptic cloths are then applied, but the dust-proof bandage, used by many physicians in private practice and considered an absolute safeguard against infection, is not used.

Vaccination is practically compulsory, as without it children are not admitted to public schools.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon, a Catholic priest officiating, and burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

The "Jaccard" Catalog.

The Mermod, Jaccard & King Jewelry Co. of St. Louis, are now distributing their beautiful catalog or book of reference upon request, offering thousands of suggestions for the selection of gifts. The book is on heavy paper, has over 200 pages, fully illustrated, describing articles of unusual attractiveness and special value. Has 1000 illustrations and over 10,000 articles of merchandise are priced, varying from 25 cents to many thousands of dollars. It is the most complete catalog they have ever issued, and is in keeping with the progressiveness of the House of Jaccard, that has stood the test of more than three-quarters of a century.

Among the articles included in the illustrations and descriptions are many novelties, exclusive to this house, shown for the first time, and comprise everything, including diamonds, watches, silverware, etc., which is carried only by a high-class establishment of this character.

SCHOOLBOY WHO DIED AFTER BEING VACCINATED

ELMER DEU FRIEND.

Physicians Agree That Vaccination Should Continue

PHYSICIANS interviewed by a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday concerning the Deu Friend case were unanimous in declaring vaccination of school children a necessity. Some of them advised that parents gave their children vaccine by family physicians instead of leaving them to the care of the school vaccine corps. All agreed that the greatest care in dressing vaccination wounds is necessary.

Some of the expressions were as follows:

Dr. Robert F. Amix: I never consent to vaccinate a person who will not promise to report to me at least once, to let me see the progress of the wound. If a person whom I have vaccinated neglects to call again, I follow the case up. Too much stress cannot be laid on the necessity of care of such wounds. They should be kept covered with nonabsorbent bandages, and bound with gauze until a good, natural covering is formed. It is better to have vaccination done by family physicians as school physicians are unable to follow up cases.

Vaccination Can't Be Stopped.

Dr. James M. Buchanan: Vaccination in the schools cannot be stopped because of one fatal case of tetanus. If vaccination were abandoned in a few years smallpox would begin to break out in the schools. Nor can parents be left to attend to the matter through family physicians. In times when smallpox is

Dr. George L. Kearney: An open wound is always liable to infection, and the best that can be done in cases of vaccination is to use the best possible points and protect the wounds with shields. The vaccine used in the schools is good and the fact that infections are very rare shows that the school authorities are doing about all that can be done. I think no physician of standing would advise that vaccination be discontinued.

Should Go to Family Doctors.

Dr. E. Magoon: Vaccination is necessary and should be required of school children, but parents should send the children to family physicians and not trust to the wholesale vaccinations in schools. Even though cases of tetanus may be rare, the use of the same instrument in scratching many arms is likely to transmit skin and blood diseases.

Dr. H. A. Jones: Dust-proof covering should be placed over children's vaccine wounds. I am not familiar with the dressing process followed by the school vaccine physicians.

Other physicians who were questioned expressed the same sentiments and the opinion that vaccination must continue was universal.

LAMBERT FINDS TWO FIELDS FOR AEROPLANE MEET

One Is a Mile and a Half Long and the Other Three Miles.

Two fields suitable in every way for the international aeroplane contests were found in St. Louis County Tuesday by Albert Bond Lambert and approved by him. After exxamining the fields, Lambert stated that the organization of a stock company to bring the aeroplane contests to St. Louis will be undertaken immediately.

One of the fields is three miles west of the city limits, on the Olive street road. It consists of a beautiful tract of ground, with a natural amphitheater at one end. A track of one and one-half miles can easily be laid out within the field.

The other field approved by Lamber lies between the two sections of Creve Coeur Lake. It is a mile wide and three miles long.

Fred Essen, who is the principal stockholder in the St. Louis, Creve Couer and Western Electric Railway Co., which owns a franchise in the county to build an electric line along the Olive street road from the city limits to Creve Couer Lake, says that his company will get to work immediately if either of the fields is chosen and the international aeroplane contests arranged to be held on them.

The inspection of the fields was made in a special trip arranged by Mr. Lambert.

Essen, Lambert, Charles Gattner, a St. Louis lumber man and associate in the electric line company with Essen, and a Post-Dispatch reporter made the trip out to inspect the fields in Mr. Lambert's auto. Mr. Lambert was enthusiastic over the sites. He said he preferred the field on the Olive street road because of its nearness to the city.

The belt line terminal railway passes through this tract, and that with Essen's new road, would furnish transportation facilities, Lambert says. The Creve Coeur line of the United Railways Co. passes within one and one-half miles of the field.

Lambert has spent two months looking for a suitable field in which to hold the aeroplane contests. One of the principal objections to bringing the races to St. Louis has been the lack of satisfactory grounds. Lambert thinks that with this question settled the Aero Club of St. Louis and the proposed new company will be able to capture the great aviation meet.

MINE WORKERS ASK DENEEN'S AID AT CHERRY

State Executive Board Declares System of Rescue Work Is Unsatisfactory.

FIRE BLOCKING WAY

It Will Be Several Days Now Before Workers Can Reach Desired Chamber.

CHERRY, Ill., Nov. 23.—The State Executive Board of the United Mine Workers of America has sent the following telegram to Gov. Deneen:

We request that you designate some one man to take charge of the rescue work of this mine. Practical miners stand ready to volunteer services to get to the bodies. System here not satisfactory to us.

DUNCAN McDONALD.

Fire in the second gallery resulted today in heavy cavings of earth, blocking rescue work to the east, the section where it was believed was the best chance of finding survivors.

The passage is so badly blocked that it will be impossible for many days to make an entrance. Meanwhile, men now alive may starve. The news spread gloom throughout the village, relieved only by the fairer prospects of exploring the 500-foot or bottom shaft.

It is said the blockade in the entry to the east is near the main shaft. As one caving followed another, endangering the lives of the workers, attempts to remove the debris were halted and efforts begun to hew a new passage through solid earth, around the fire and piles of earth.

According to Duncan McDonald, president of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, this will take several days.

"Does that mean that practically all hope of reaching the imprisoned men in the east workings has been abandoned, or practically so?" Mr. McDonald was asked.

Hope of Rescues Held Out.

The union official looked gloomy and did not answer directly.

"We have hopes of rescues in the 500-foot level," he said.

At midnight boy miners had forced their way into the third vein, preparing the way for a rush of their comrades to the same vein today. They declared the air in the gallery stagnant, but capable of sustaining life, the water but a few inches deep, and all indications favorable to the prolonging of life to those imprisoned in the depth.

The youths, Robert McFadden and Barney Dougherty, had scarcely emerged from the shaft when tidings were spread that the fire in the second vein had broken out anew.

All preparations for the further exploring of the vein were halted while Chicago firemen attacked the blaze, which threatened the main shaft. The contest with the fire continued several hours, during which the rescuers threw themselves on cots, blankets or the floor of the boiler house to be awakened when all was ready for them to descend.

After experiencing all the terrors of his long imprisonment and the joy of being brought to the surface alive, David Hollofchek, one of the 20 survivors rescued Saturday, died today. Death was due to general exhaustion.

Scores Believed to Live.

That scores of men are alive in the lower level was the almost unanimous assertion of miners who listened to the story of McFadden and Dougherty. The two penetrated 120 feet into the vein and shouted, but no response came. Then they hurried back to the cage.

"There is no reason why they shouldn't be alive," said Dougherty.

After learning that the lower shaft contained air not too impure to sustain life, the hope of those above was increased. Many reasons were advanced to show that the men still may be alive.

"There is plenty of water there," said William A. Smith, one of the few miners in the vein to escape after the fire. "The air is endurable and there is plenty of corn in the mule stables. They have some of the shrewdest and nerviest miners in the country down there. We'll find them barricaded and ready for another week's wait when we reach them."

One Hope Proves Futile.

The optimism of the miners was not shared by the company officials.

"We failed to find living men where we were most certain of finding them," said Mine Superintendent Taylor. "They may be alive still, but I am afraid they are not."

The place meant by Supt. Taylor was the "overcast," an opening high above the floor level, into which it was believed that neither water or black damp would be found. The "overcast" was empty. This in turn readily was explained to the satisfaction of the more hopeful relatives of the missing men.

"They couldn't wall the 'overcast' in, but they could go back to the escape shaft and block in the escape run," it was said.

The "run" is a chamber about 80 feet long and about 12 feet high and wide. From it a door enters into the escape shaft, the other entrance being from the third vein.

Door Closed to Circulate Air.

"They could block the door up with loose earth in 10 minutes," said William Smith, "while there is plenty of material about the other entrance to fill it in a few minutes."

The first act of McFadden and Dougherty, who descended in a small cage lowered 167 feet from the second level, was to shut a door swinging open between the two shafts. The air, which was passing from one opening to the other and not penetrating back to the limits of the shaft, was in this way placed in circulation throughout the third vein.

It is hoped that when they feel the air circulating in the shaft and forcing its way through the crevices of their barricades, the prisoners will emerge and make a rush for safety to the shaft opening. The rescuers worked with desperate energy throughout the morning to be ready to meet them and hurry the weakened ones to the surface.

Singing Prevented Madness.

William H. Clelland, who sang to the entombed miners, and who led them in prayer twice a day, is receiving letters from all parts of the country congratulating him for his great heroism. Many are from women.

Clelland is a man of great modesty.

"I am glad I got out of that hole with the rest of the boys," he said. "Every one of the men showed splendid courage. That's what got us through. If we had given up we would all have died. My singing? I don't know whether the boys liked it or not. It was either listen to it or go crazy, so they listened."

Chicago Gives $50,000.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Chicago's relief fund for the Cherry sufferers reached the $50,000 mark last night, donations seeming to flow into collection centers yesterday under a new impulse.

Besides the actual cash donations, food and clothing have been shipped steadily over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad.

SHIP GOODS BY AEROPLANE AND SAVE ARBITRARY

Suggestion for the Future by Albert Bond Lambert to St. Louis Merchants.

Albert Bond Lambert, who has become an authority on the military, sporting and business phases of aeronautics, will tell the Paint, Oil and Drug Club at its meeting at the American Hotel Tuesday night how the rapid parcels posts of the future may be transported by air craft.

"It may be a good while in the future," said Mr. Lambert, in speaking of the paper which he was preparing, "but rapid carrying of parcels and light freight will in time be done by air craft. As to carrying dispatches in war, wireless telegraphy will be more useful than aeroplanes. The two will supplement each other in warfare."

An Aero Racing Circuit.

Mr. Lambert, with President Bishop of the Aero Club of America, is considering a plan for an inter-city aero circuit, with a week of competitive flights in each city. These events in other cities it is planned to hold either before or after the international aeroplane events, which Mr. Lambert is trying to bring to St. Louis.

"I have invited Mr. Bishop to come here the first week in December,' said Mr. Lambert, "and to call a meeting here of the affiliated aero clubs of several cities. If we can establish a series of contests, with prizes for the best flights, we can do away with the plan of paying bonuses to aviators. With enough prizes in sight, they will come without a guarantee, and the chance for flights satisfactory to the public will be much greater."

Mr. Lambert and Robert Allen of Hartford, Conn., plan a balloon ascension this week if the weather is not too unfavorable. Wednesday is the day when they hope to go up.

IF TURKEY IS TOO DEAR WHY NOT PEMMICAN?

You May Have to Use an Ax, but You Will Be Revenged on the Poultry Trust.

Are you going to have pemmican for your Thanksgiving dinner?

It's cheaper than turkey—and, besides, it's a fad.

With favors representing polar bears, walrus, and Eskimo affidavit-makers, pemmican, neatly arranged in a circle around a miniature representation of the North Pole is a stunning centerpiece for an "Arctic dinner."

The fad hasn't taken a strong hold in St. Louis, but it is likely to before the winter season is over, because New York is wild about pemmican.

St. Louis hotel keepers are preparing for the time, sure to come, when pemmican must have a place on the bill of fare of every well-regulated hostelry.

Col. Lyman T. Hay is worried about it.

Must Have Pemmican.

He can't find the word "pemmican" in the dictionary or in the chef's library at the Jefferson Hotel. He doesn't know whether it is bought by the yard or by the peck—and yet he feels certain that if the New York craze hits St. Louis he cannot run the Jefferson without pemmican.

Hay and pemmican will be the combination which must be relied on to keep the Jefferson Hotel on the map when the "Arctic dinners" are in full swing.

"No guest has demanded pemmican yet," said Col. Hay, "but I am nervous every time I see a man with rough, scraggly whiskers come in. I'm afraid he is a returning explorer. I felt greatly relieved when Dr. Cook departed from St. Louis without once ordering pemmican. Of course, if a guest should threaten to blow up the hotel if he didn't get pemmican, I guess I'd have to hustle out and find some for him, but I am not going to put it on the bill of fare until I am sure there is a strong and concerted demand for it."

"The nearest things to pemmican we have in the house is corned beef and cabbage," said Jack Ryan of the Planters Hotel. "The Missouri game laws are very strict now. You can't shoot pemmican now. If a fellow were to come in here with a gamebag full of pemmican we'd be afraid to buy it."

St. Louis is not prepared for the coming demand for the arctic delicacy. No dealer in town has it in stock and it can only be purchased by ordering it direct from Chicago packing houses. The mince pie served at some lunch counters is said to be an excellent substitute.

It Is Dried Beef.

The basis of pemmican is raw, lean beef from which every sinew and tendon has been removed. This is dried and pulverized. Seeded raisins and currants and fresh beef suet are then mixed with it and it is seasoned with pepper and salt and put into air-tight cans.

It has been facetiously said that pemmican should be served with a hammer and a chisel and washed down with a cod liver oil cocktail.

WHAT MAY BE EXPECTED IF THE FAD OF EATING PEMMICAN BECOMES POPULAR

Big City Pleases Him.

From the Washington Star.

"Did you enjoy your visit to the big city?"

"Well," answered Farmer Corntossel, "it was somethin' of a change to see the sign 'Beware of pickpockets,' in the depot, instead of 'Look out for the locomotive,' here, at the grade crossin'."

Evidence of Extravagance.

Junior Partner: Eh? Is he living extravagantly?

Senior Partner: Well, I passed him in the street yesterday and he was smoking a cigar that didn't smell at all bad.

ZELAYA'S CASE SO SERIOUS IT IS PUT UP TO CABINET

Taft's Advisers Consider Program to Compel Nicaragua to Respect American Rights.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Taft will take up at the meeting of his Cabinet today the problem that confronts the Government regarding Nicaragua. As a result of conferences between the Secretary of State and his assistants, in addition to Mr. Knox's lengthy call at the White House Sunday night, it is expected there will be something definite to discuss in the way of a program of action to be adopted in handling the Zelayan Government.

While it always has been the practice for the administration to leave the handling of such questions to the State Department, the gravity of the existing situation will lead to its consideration by members of Mr. Taft's official family.

The matter has reached the point where preparations are being made to compel respect for the United States and its citizens on the part of the fiery little Central American republics.

Unless cipher messages were received from Henry Caldera, American Vice-Consul at Managua, early this morning or from the commanders of the American war vessels now off the Nicaraguan coast, neither Secretary Knox nor Secretary Meyer will have much new data to offer the President.

In the meantime work is being rushed in preparing the Prairie at the League Island Navy Yard to transport 400 marines now at that yard to Panama. These will reinforce the 380 marines on duty in the canal zone and a reliable force of tried fighters will be close to Nicaragua in case the United States decides that vigorous steps are necessary.

FREEBURG MAYOR AND HIS COMPANION ARE SHOT BY A HUNTER WHILE DRIVING

F. H. Heilingstein and J. B. Johnson Are Wounded by Man Shooting Across Road.

Mayor F. H. Heilingstein of Freeburg, Ill., and J. B. Johnson were shot while driving in a buggy on Smithton road, near the village. A hunter shooting at birds as they flew across the county road, pulled the trigger of his gun just as the Mayor and his companion drove in front of him late Monday.

The two men were struck in the face and body. The horse was hit and ran away. At first it was thought some enemy of Mayor Heilingstein, who has been chief executive of the village for 13 years, had shot him from ambush, but this theory was abandoned later. The hunter who fired the shot disappeared.

The Mayor and Johnson proceeded to town and physicians picked the shot out of their faces. Johnson's sight may be permanently impaired.

Mayor Heilingstein is a miller and attended the Centennial festivities in St. Louis as a guest of the city. Freeburg is three miles south of Belleville.

LADY IN BAD STATE

It Really Looked As If There Was No Way to Relieve Her Except By An Operation.

A letter from Mary Kilman of this place, recites how Cardui, used as a tonic, made her well and brought back her strength.

"I was confined to my bed for three months," she says, "and during this time suffered untold agony.

"I had a rising tumor or something of the kind in my right side. The doctor said an operation was almost inevitable and it really looked as if there was no other way.

"The rising bursted and I was in a critical condition, when I decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic.

"I used two bottles and now I am well and able to do a great part of my work. I can always speak a good word for this excellent tonic medicine."—Ferris, Tex.

Do you need a tonic?

Nobody knows, so well as you, whether you do or not.

A tonic is to help you over the hard places, to relieve headache and other unnecessary pains, the signs of nerve exhaustion or over-work.

It is to make you feel fresh and bright when you feel tired, mopy and drowsy. To help you feel a pleasure in your work when you wish you were dead, rather than have to do it.

SPEECHLESS FROM A BLOW, WORDS ARE RELEASED BY A TRAPDOOR IN MAN'S SKULL

Physicians Relieve Pressure on Brain by Trephining and Restore Speech.

City Hospital surgeons Tuesday cut a trapdoor, two inches square in the skull of Monroe Pritz, a laborer, in an operation to restore his speech.

Pritz was struck on the head with a billiard cue two months ago and the blow caused a depression in his skull on the left side, near the top and front of the skull. For two weeks after the injury Pritz was dumb.

He applied at the hospital Nov. 3 for treatment for malarial fever. It was noticed that he spoke with difficulty, with frequent hiatuses between his words. After the physicians learned of the injury to his skull, they became convinced that the pressure of the sunken bone on the brain was responsible for the impairment of his speech. An operation was determined on, as soon as he should be cured of malaria.

With a surgical gimlet, the surgeons bored holes the size of a lead pencil at the four corners of the depression. Inserting bone-cutting forceps, they severed the bone on three sides and cracked the fourth side with a chisel. This formed a trap door, with a piece of the scalp for a hinge. Raising the trap door relieved the pressure on the brain and it was replaced in a normal position and fastened.

The operation was similar to one performed recently at the same hospital upon Policeman Thomas F. Cuddihee, whose skull was trephined to restore his sanity.

Meteor Hits Earth in Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 23.—Half of an enormous split meteor, visible in Montgomery about 7:20 o'clock tonight, struck the earth in East Alabama, startling the inhabitants for miles around. The impact was so great that some persons believed it to be an earthquake. The meteor was seen to break, one tail traveling to the east and the other to the southwest.

NO LIBEL TO SAY WOMAN WAS SURPRISED IN HER BATH

Judge Says: "Actaeon Was Punished, but Diana Did Not Incur Disgrace."

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—In a decision on file in Special Term, Part III, of the Supreme Court, Justice Bischoff says that it was not a libel for which money damages can be recovered for a certain newspaper to publish a statement that a certain young woman "was surprised by a process server while in the act of taking her morning bath."

The Court in this connection remarked:

"Actaeon was punished, but Diana did not incur disgrace."

The Court also said: "However reprehensible the circulation of such a report may be it would require some degree of torture to average intelligence seriously to assert that to say of a woman that she was surprised by an intrusive and obtrusive visitor while enjoying her matutinal ablution could in any way injuriously reflect upon her character."

"However shocking to her natural modesty," said the learned Justice, "and wounding to her sensibilities, it cannot be truly claimed that the plaintiff's character or reputation has in any sense been impaired by the circulation of a fictitious report that she was surprised by a process server while in the act of taking her morning bath."

ACTRESS WHO PLAYS THE VAMPIRE WOMAN ROLE IN "A FOOL THERE WAS"

KATHARINE KAELRED.

VAMPIRE WOMAN DOMINANT IN 'A FOOL THERE WAS'

Katherine Kaelred Appallingly Realizes the Kipling-Burne-Jones Creation.

A PLAY OF HORROR

Robert Hilliard's "Fool" a Powerful Figure of Inevitable Tragedy.

THE Vampire Woman took on the flesh and blood of Katherine Kaelred in place of the painter's oil of Burne-Jones and the printer's ink of Kipling at the Olympic last night and gave a big and brilliant audience about as shuddery a time as I have seen clock-ticked in a playhouse during all the years of my devotion to the drama.

It is doubtful if any good can result from the emergence of such a figure, set in such a story, upon our stage, but it is not in the least doubtful that the figure and the story possess a fascination that grips the imagination spell-bound in its clutch of horror.

The Burne-Jones painting itself, thus obsessed the soul of Kipling, you will remember; Kipling, frozen to a cold-heat of poetic frenzy, made the Vampire Woman immortal in grewsome song that haunts the mind like a nightmare set to music, and it is from Kipling's verse that the Vampire Woman now comes most directly within our ken.

Porter Emerson Browne, the playwright, who has plucked the Vampire Woman from painting and poem alike and given her a footlight existence of breathing dreadfulness, is neither a Burne-Jones nor a Kipling, but, somehow, he has kept inviolate in "A Fool There Was" all the sinister psychology of the Vampire Woman, and this he stamps upon one's consciousness with the indelible seal of the drama's vital essence.

He has done this mainly by virtue of a courage that impels him to adhere relentlessly to the inexorable truth of the painting and the poem—the truth that makes inevitable the ultimate fate of the Fool at whose throat the Vampire Woman fastens her decadent and henna-stained fingers.

The Fool dies—miserably, in body and soul—and when that time of his dying is reached in Mr. Browne's play the play itself is justified by a moment of the keenest tragedy that has come to the American stage in our generation. You can't help but acknowledge the splendid art or it—the art that appalls us, remorselessly, with the living vision of the Vampire Woman, bending, gloatingly, above the corpse of her Fool, her sin-white face shining with exultant scorn, her lips, almost bloody red, curved in contemptuous laughter, her lean and cruel and beautiful hands working in sinuous, excitement, talon-like, as she stoops for a closer triumphant view of the dead man's awful visage.

At which instant, with a burst of discordant sound from the orchestra, the last curtain falls and the play is ended.

Up to that moment there have been many unconvincing things to be noted in this strange drama. It is incredible that this Fool should have loved the Vampire Woman. It is not to be believed that a seasoned man of the world so utterly abandons himself to ruin at the first flutter of a rose in the hands of the most obvious of harlots. It is beyond acceptance as fact that he should continue to love such a wanton at the cost of all that is worth while in life. A younger Fool might have done these things, but not the Fool of Playright Browne's conception, presented to us as a figure of genuine distinction in the great world of affairs, wise, save here and now, in the ways of women and of men. This is the cardinal weakness of the Browne shaping of the story told by the Burne-Jones picture and the Kipling poem.

But Robert Hilliard plays the Fool and Katherine Kaelred the Vampire Woman with a compelling concentration of effort that finally hypnotizes you into belief. The sure sinking of the former to irrevocable rottenness of soul and body is dismayingly etched upon your mind. The last of him—the little, impotent rally toward better things, the shrinking from the Vampire, the sudden gibbering weakness that again places him under her spell, and then, at last, the mad rage that kills him even at the moment when he seeks to kill the obscene Thing that has so direfully encompassed his own destruction—marks an achievement of the most masterful power on Mr. Hilliard's part. Here, in despite of the Vampire Woman, he is the star of Porter Emerson Browne's play.

But mainly Katherine Kaelred is the star, she who plays the Vampire Woman, crimson-mouthed, ivory-skinned, garbed in the tiger's colors, thin well-nigh to emaciation, serpent-like in her body's grace, lusting for men and for the destruction of men—and nearly always laughing, with a jilt in her voice such as hell's warrant alone can give, its most joyous note sounding when she sees, again and again, the death of something holy in the Fool's poor soul. Katherine Kaelred is inflexible in her playing of this terrible role, refusing at any time to come out from its atmosphere, self-centered upon her task to an astonishing degree, rising, at the moment of the Fool's death, to a splendid height of what must be termed demoniac tragedy. The impression she made upon last night's house was indescribably repellant, and it was maintained resolutely from first to last. This is good playing—I shall expect great future achievement from one capable of it and so absorbed in its accomplishment that no amount of acclaim from her audience is permitted to bring her from under its commanding influence.

The play's production by Frederic Thompson is finely picturesque and the work of the supporting company is competent above the average. But the Vampire Woman of Katherine Kaelred's portrayal and the Fool of Robert Hilliard's constitute the play. They are horror-studies of unforgettable fascination.

PLAYGOERS' GUIDE.

OLYMPIC—Robert Hilliard in "A Fool There Was." Fantastic tragedy, unreal, but of absorbing fascination. Excellently played.

CENTURY — Helen Ware in "The Third Degree." A play of occasional gripping interest, with strongly melodramatic story, but faultily constructed. Miss Ware does admirable work.

GARRICK—Louise Gunning in "Marcelle," a new Pixley & Luders comic opera, excellently sung by principals and chorus.

IMPERIAL—"Old Heidelberg," picturesque play of German university life with strong heart-interest story. Unusually good production by Imperial Stock Company.

GEM THEATER—Prof. Porcasi's Choral Symphony Singers head new bill. Moving pictures.

ODEON—Tuesday night, first Apollo Club concert, with Oscar Seagle, baritone, and Ludwig Becker, violinist, as soloists. Wednesday night, Frank R. Roberson's illustrated travelogue, "The Polar World." Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon, second symphony concert by Symphony Orchestra, with Mme. Maud Powell, violinist, as soloist. Sunday afternoon, popular concert by Symphony Orchestra, with Mr. DuMoulin, cello soloist.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS' REPORTS OF THEIR SALES

Bertha Avenue Sale.

John S. Blake & Bro. Realty Co. reports the sale of the new 7-room house at 5729 Bertha avenue, built on a lot 30x170 feet. This property was sold for the account of Rudolph Meyer to a client of the Blake agency. This is the sixth piece of property the Blake agency has sold in this block within the last few months.

Brewery Leases Saloon.

The St. Louis Brewing Association made a lease yesterday on another one of what saloon men term choice locations. The lease, made with John Bucher for the property at 1000 Helen street, runs for five years at a monthly rental of $55.

Sells Single Flat.

The Anderson-Stocke-Burmann Realty Co. reports having sold for account of C. A. Rychlicki, 3714 Wyoming street, single flat of 5 and 6 rooms, with bath, furnace, combination fixtures, screens, etc. The lot is 33x125. The property was sold to Lucas Schottmueller, who will occupy one of the flats.

Gets Conservatory Quarters.

The Becker Conservatory corporation has leased from the Silberstein Ladies' Tailoring Co. the second floor of the building at 3830-3832 Olive street. The lease runs for 10 years at $1000 a year net.

Jefferson County Farm Sold.

The Greer Real Estate Co. has just made the sale of another farm in Jefferson County, near Morse Mill, consisting of 160 acres, with a 5-room house, barn and outhouses. Eighty acres are in cultivation. The farm sold for $2500, to a client of the firm, who traded St. Louis property in part pay for the farm.

Sale on Oregon Avenue.

Aiple & Hemmelmann Real Estate Co. reports the sale of 4331 Oregon avenue, a 2-story, 7-room brick dwelling, with reception hall, bath and furnace; lot 1[illegible]. Sold for Ottilie Kuebenberger to [illegible] Ehle for $6000.

SHERMAN'S ADOPTED DAUGHTER WANTS DIVORCE

Mrs. James McCallum Accuses Husband, Once a Consul, of Violating Vows.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.--Washington society was astounded when it was announced today that Mrs. Mary Sherman McCallum, adopted daughter of John Sherman, late Senator from Ohio and Secretary of State, had filed suit in the District Supreme Court for an absolute divorce from her husband, James McCallum, on statutory grounds. They were married here Dec. 12, 1894, and have two children, John Sherman McCallum, 14 years old, and Cecilia Sherman McCallum, 11, both of whom are living with their mother at 1319 K street. Mrs. McCallum was one of the belles of Secretary Sherman.

The petition charges acts of infidelity in July and August, 1908. Since making of her husband's alleged acts Mrs. McCallum says, she has not lived with him. She asks for the custody of the children.

McCallum was employed in the State Department as a law clerk during the incumbency of Secretary Sherman. On the retirement of Mr. Sherman he got a consular appointment, but his foreign service was brief.

FINED FOR HITTING HIS WIFE WHOM HE MET WITH STRANGER

Woman Accepted Gallantry of Escort on Way Home From Dance.

Fred Doerr of 3330 Wisconsin avenue was fined $10 Tuesday in the Wyoming Street Police Court for striking his wife, Marie, on the jaw.

Doerr, who is a tailor, was on his way home from work at 3 o'clock Monday morning when he met his wife and a man at Illinois avenue and Cherokee street. Doerr made a rush at the man who fled. Doerr chased him a block and came back to ask his wife where she had been. She said she had attended a dance. Doerr struck her on the jaw. She had him arrested.

Mrs. Doerr testified that she went to a dance at Eckhart's Hall, Oregon avenue and Chippewa street, with a woman friend. She had no one to take her home and her friend introduced to her the young man who was taking her home when Doerr appeared on the scene.

ALIENISTS AID GIRL WHO SHOT HER BETRAYER

Physicians Say Woes of Alma Bell May Have Driven Her Insane.

TRIAL NEAR ITS END

By Associated Press.

AUBURN, Cal., Nov. 23.—Testifying in her own behalf, Alma Bell, the young mountain girl, on trial for the murder of Jose Armes, told the story of her relations with Armes, covering a period of two years, and led up to the tragic sequel on June 5 last, when she shot him to death, because of his refusal to keep an alleged promise to marry her. She said that her engagement with Armes had never been broken, but that he had repeatedly put off the promised marriage ceremony.

Finally, a few days before the shooting, he had cast her off, basing his action upon rumors that had reached him connecting her name with those of other men. The witness denied that she had worn a revolver strapped to her knee or made threats against Armes prior to the tragedy.

Experts Aid Defendant.

Expert testimony introduced yesterday favored her four to one.

Of five physicians called to answer a hypothetical question, tending to bear out the defense's contention that the girl was temporarily insane when she shot and killed Armes, four answered that the circumstances were such as might tend to produce temporary insanity.

The question was whether a young woman who believed that she was about to become a mother and who, after repeatedly asking her fiance to marry her in accordance with his promise, found herself cast off and rejected would not have been so wrought up as to lose her reason temporarily, and in such a state of mind that she might shoot him.

Case to Jury Tomorrow.

It is believed the case will go to the jury Wednesday, at the latest.

Miss Bell has received letters from persons in all parts of the country who have become interested in her since her arrest. D. D. Walker, a millionaire, and formerly a merchant of St. Louis, sent money for her defense and gave hearty approval of her action.

$1,000,000 AEROPLANE CO. FOR WRIGHTS INCORPORATED

Vanderbilt, Belmont and Gould Among the Backers of Flying Concern.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 23.—The Wright Co. of New York, capital $1,000,000, was incorporated today, "to manufacture, sell, deal in, operate and otherwise use at any place or places on the North American continent and the islands adjacent thereto, machines, ships or other mechanical contrivances for aerial operation and navigation of any and every kind and description and any future improvements or developments of the same."

The directors are Wilbur Wright and Orville Wright of Dayton, O.; and George A. Stevens, Henry S. Hooker and Alpheus F. Barnes of New York.

In assurance of the solid character of the enterprise, the incorporators include Cornelius Vanderbilt, August Belmont, Howard Gould, Robert J. Collier, Andrew Freedman, Morton S. Plant, E. J. Berwind, Theodore P. Shonts, Alan A. Ryan and Russell A. Alger.

All the incorporators are thorough believers in the Wrights and in the future of the aeroplane. They have been at pains to obtain a comprehensive expert report of aeroplane inventions, and are advised by attorneys that the Wrights hold basis patents.

The promoters of the company say 700-mile flights in aeroplanes are now feasible.

Roosevelt for Governor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Benj. B. Odell Jr., former Governor, ran down to New York last night and gave out the startling bit of news that Roosevelt was to be the Republican candidate for Governor next fall. Barnes, Woodruff and Loeb, the three State bosses, have their plans all laid, says Gov. Odell, and it will be no trick at all to carry them out.

PRESIDENT CUTS OFF ROOSEVELT'S SAFETY VALVE

Taft Rebukes Indianan Who Was Faucet for Predecessor's Enunciations.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Taft has practically announced that he can get along without another of the Roosevelt institutions—the ready letter writer.

He has written a letter to William Dudley Foulke of Richmond, Ind., erstwhile Civil Service Commissioner and member of the Roosevelt kitchen cabinet, telling Mr. Foulke in the political vernacular of Indiana, "where to get off."

Mr. Foulke contracted the habit of writing to President Roosevelt on questions of national importance and getting long replies, which were promptly given to the press. There were many observers of Roosevelt policies who believed that Mr. Foulke was a convenience for President Roosevelt and to such persons Mr. Foulke became known to fame as "the ready letter writer."

The habit seems to have clung to the Indiana reformer. When President Taft returned from his Western trip, he found in his bulky correspondence a letter from William Dudley Foulke, administering to the President chastisement on account of Mr. Taft's Winona speech.

Mr. Foulke voiced his disappointment at the tone of the speech and mildly rebuked the President and conveyed with expressions of profound regret the feelings of other reformers because the President had seen fit to part company with the so-called insurgents.

Mr. Foulke reminded the President that he had been one of Mr. Taft's ante-convention supporters, and that, he declared, made his grief all the more poignant.

President Taft replied to Mr. Foulke's letter. The correspondence is not available at this time, but a few visiting statesmen at the White House have read Mr. Foulke's letter and the President's reply.

They are chortling over it and it is believed the President did not overlook the humor in the situation when he dispensed with the services of the "ready letter writer" with a few strokes of his pen. It is understood that Mr. Taft read Mr. Foulke a mild lecture on party ethics.

It is certain that Mr. Taft did not apologize for anything he had said or done and those who have an idea of what the letter contained say that the Richmond sage will find very little comfort for himself and his fellow insurgents.

The Planters Hotel will serve a Thanksgiving table d'hote dinner from 6 to 8:30 p. m. Thursday in the main dining room on the parlor floor at $1.50 per person, including a cocktail and a pint of still wine.

Howard M. Hanna Seriously Ill.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 23.—Howard M. Hanna is seriously ill at the Lakeside Hospital, following an operation performed last week. Hanna is suffering from an enlargement of the esophagus or throat glands. He is a brother of the late Senator Hanna, and is at the head of the M. A. Hanna company, controlling docks, coal mines, railroads and steamboat lines on the lakes.

TRY THIS FOR COLDS

Prescription for Home-Made Remedy Will Save Much Money and Suffering.

Mix half ounce of Concentrated pine compound with two ounces of glycerine and a half pint of good whiskey; shake it well each time and use in doses of a teaspoonful to tablespoonful every four hours.

These ingredients can be obtained from any good druggist.

This is said to be the quickest cough and cold cure known to science. The Concentrated pine is a special pine product and comes only in half ounce bottles, each enclosed in an air-tight case, but be sure it is labeled "Concentrated."

The same prescription was published here for several winter seasons and hundreds of persons have expressed the highest praise of its splendid results in fact in many families it is kept constantly on hand.

WHO'LL PUT HEAD AND ARMS ON VICTORY FOR SYMBOL ON SEAL OF BUSINESS LEAGUE?

Poor Girl! She's Been All Broken Up for a Long, Long Time.

William F. Saunders, secretary of the Business Men's League, is looking for somebody who can put a head on a statue. Also arms. He would like to use the famous Victory of Samothrace as a symbol for the great seal of the Business Men's League, but Victory has no head and no arms and Mr. Saunders thinks a symbol on a seal should have both head and arms.

Victory of Samothrace was all broken up when found in 1863 on the Isle of Samothrace. One hundred and eighteen fragments were gathered up and pieced together, but her head and arms were never found. The statue is supposed to commemorate the victory of Demetrius over Ptolemy in 306 B. C.

Mr. Saunders has a picture of the statue in his office. He so greatly admires it as a work of art that it long has been his wish to have it supplied with head and arms so that he could use it as a seal symbol.

When the right artist is found the Business Men's League will have Victory on its seal. So far no St. Louis artist has volunteered to take the job.

DOG MAY HAVE RABIES AND YET BEHAVE NORMALLY AND BE APPARENTLY HARMLESS

Analysis Showed That Animal That Was Good-Natured Really Had Hydrophobia.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—That a dog when mad may become docile and act as if in normal good health, is a fact over which the managers of the Children's Home at Montclair, N. J., are much troubled. Saturday afternoon a very small dog from the street entered the playground of the home and romped with the children. Finally he bit 4-year-old Mary Lake on the arm.

The pup seemed instantly penitent and quietly let the gardener carry him to a far corner of the playground and tie him there. The other children, sorry for the animal's plight, carried food and water to him. He lapped the water eagerly. The children let him lick their hands and in every way he behaved like a dog that was good-natured.

But a policeman came along. Orders from Mayor Campbell lately have been that every unmuzzled dog at large must be killed. There was nothing to do except to dispatch the children's play fellow. When the officer heard that a child had been bitten he cut off the animal's head, and it was sent to the Research Laboratory in this city.

Yesterday the examiners reported that the dog had the rabies in violent form. That report scared the managers of the home. They were not reassured until they had examined every child who had been with the dog and found no scratch or other mark of contact on any of them. The bitten girl will receive the Pasteur treatment.

Sunflower seeds are used as food by Russian peasants; the bulk of the crop is used for feeding animals. The crop for 1908 amounted to 576,000 tons. The sunflower-seed oil is used for cooking.

PROMPTLY ENDS DYSPEPSIA, HEARTBURN, GAS AND OTHER MISERY IN STOMACH.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of Indigestion or Dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Biliousness, Heartburn, Water brash, Pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapepsin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong Stomach, for you then can eat any thing and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from Indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

Dissolution of Partnership Sale

from every viewpoint, we are not stretching the truth an iota to get you interested. We've never resorted to such tactics, and will not do so now.

It's going to require an even $300,000.00 in cash on January 1st next, when this partnership is dissolved, to make a financial settlement between present partners—the money must be raised in the meantime without any "ifs" or "ands."

We're following the only way open to us—to convert our immense stock into cash. For a little over two weeks we've been selling clothing at a rate that has made competitors gasp, but we're still a long way from our goal.

It's absolutely necessary that the buying by the public continue in the volume we've had it since the sale begun. We are sure it will when everybody thoroughly understands that we are actually offering the biggest inducements that ever clothing store did to justify your buying here now not only to satisfy your present, but also future wants. We are sacrificing our clothing, furnishings, hats and shoes for men and boys at nearly half-price.

The stock is a first-class one through and through. Every garment and article passed a rigid inspection before being accepted from the maker. The assortment is still as great as ever, because every day we replenish our display tables from our reserve stock.

GIRL BEATS OFF NEGRO AT LETTER BOX WITH A NOVEL

Attacked in the Street, but She Does Not Call for Help.

Miss Emma Koop of 1816 South Broadway, employed as stenographer by the Simmons Medicine Co., 106 North Third street, was depositing the company's mail in the letter box at Third and Chestnut streets, Monday evening, when she felt a heavy hand on her shoulder.

Miss Koop had a few more letters in her right hand and a novel in her left. She deposited the mail and then placing the novel in her right hand, beat the negro in the face.

"I'll teach you not to insult women," she said, as she pounded her novel upon the head of the negro.

The negro threw up his hands to ward off the blows, and after he had received several whacks in the face fled.

"I didn't have a club, so I had to use the novel," said Miss Koop in reporting the incident to the police.

WOMAN SPENDS 10 CENTS TO SAY CAMPAIGN COST NOTHING

Socialist Candidate for Legislature Files Expense Account in Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Ada Smith Lang, candidate for the legislature on the Socialist ticket, spent 10 cents in the recent campaign. In accordance with the corrupt practices act, Mrs. Lang filed her expense account in the Circuit Court. She did not pay this out in two telephone messages. She did not pay a messenger boy this amount. Neither did she buy postage stamps with the sum. A taxicab and an automobile were not hired by the lady Socialist, nor was a runner fortunate enough to get these 10 pennies, nor did the Socialist ward boss have that amount given him as his campaign contribution. That sum—10 cents—was spent by Mrs. Lang in paying the Justice of the Peace before whom she made affidavit that she contributed nothing to the campaign.

OPERA SINGER WHO WILL SUE JOE JEFFERSON'S SON FOR DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.

FRIENDS of Miss Christie McDonald, who is suing William Winter Jefferson, son of the late Joseph Jefferson, declare the actress' action is the result of his rebellion against the actress' living with relatives. Jefferson is said to have desired a home of his own and failed in his efforts to persuade his wife to keep house with him.

COUGHING BURST BLOOD VESSEL.

Says Danger Avoided and Cures Coughs in 5 Hours.

A writer for the medical press states that coughing is responsible for the bursting of blood vessels quite frequently. A cough or cold means inflammation (fever) and congestion, and these in turn indicate that the body is full of poisons and waste matter. Simple relief, as found in patent cough medicines, and whiskey, often result in more harm than good; as they cause more congestion. A tonic laxative cough syrup will work marvels and here follows a prescription which is becoming famous for its prompt relief and thorough cures. It rids the system of the cause, except it be consumption. Don't wait for consumption to grasp its victim, but begin this treatment, which cures some in five hours. Mix in a bottle one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children less according to age. * * *

JUDSON TO AID OKLAHOMA FIGHT FOR 2-CENT RATE

St. Louis Attorney Hired as Special Counsel to Contest Railroads' Injunction Suit.

Attorney-General West of Oklahoma it in St. Louis conferring with Attorney Frederick N. Judson relative to the injunction suits filed by four railroads to restrain Oklahoma from enforcing the 2 cents a mile passenger rate. Mr. Judson has been employed as special counsel to represent the State.

The State Corporation Commission of Oklahoma issued orders fixing the passenger rate at 2 cents a mile and also orders regulating freight rates. The Santa Fe, the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, the Kansas City Southern and the Midland Valley railroads are resisting the enforcement of the orders.

The Rock Island-Frisco system has made no attempt to have the orders set aside.

State May Ask Continuance.

The injunction suits will be heard in the Federal Court in St. Louis Dec. 7, if the Oklahoma attorneys can get their case prepared by that time. Mr. West says he does not think he will be ready for trial, and may have to ask for a continuance.

Employes of the Oklahoma Corporation Commission have been in St. Louis several days gathering statistics to be used as evidence in the trial of the case.

Gov. Haskell supplied additional State funds to aid Attorney-General West in fighting the injunction suits. This made it possible for the Attorney-General to employ special counsel, and he selected Mr. Judson, who is familiar with railroad matters, having served as counsel for the Government in investigation of the Santa Fe rebate cases.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

MAILS JUSTICE HUMAN FLESH THAT HE MAY GET SMALLPOX

Anonymous Writer Expresses Hope That Enemy Will Contract Disease and Die.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 23.—Justice of the Peace A. E. Tombs yesterday received two pieces of human flesh through the mails. Accompanying them was a note saying they had been taken from a smallpox patient, the writer expressing the wish that the Judge might catch the disease and die.

The County Physician and the City Chemist both examined the grewsome contents of the letter. There is no way, they declare, that it can be told whether the flesh contains contagion until some animal is inoculated. This will be done.

Judge Tombs has reported the matter to the Federal officers for investigation. He is unaware of the existence of any enemy, unless it be someone upon whom he has inflicted punishment in his official capacity.

SCAFFOLD COLLAPSES WITH FOUR MEN, TWO ARE HURT

Workmen Fall 45 Feet in Ventilating Shaft, Others Cling to Rods.

Two men were hurt and two narrowly escaped injury when a scaffold collapsed Tuesday morning on top of a concrete ventilator shaft being built at 715 Pine street. F. T. Tiller, an ironworker, was taken to the City Hospital and will probably die. Rudolph Gaier, a carpenter, was attended at the City Dispensary and taken home.

Four men were on the scaffold when it broke. Two caught supporting rods and saved themselves. Tiller fell down to a concrete floor beneath, striking the blades of a suction fan in his descent. His left leg was broken, right shoulder dislocated, his scalp lacerated and he was injured internally. As Gaier fell he struck several supporting rods which broke his fall. He was bruised and shaken but no bones were broken.

The ventilator shaft is owned by the Terminal Railroad Association and is used to dispose of gases and smoke from the railroad tunnel.

Greatest of All Sales of Women's Long Coats

AN extraordinary event! We've bought and will place on special sale tomorrow, the entire stock of women's coats of L. A. Mendelson & Co., 28-30 W. 27th St., New York—2,000 beautiful coats in this season's smartest styles

At an Average of 50 Cents on the Dollar

This magnificent assortment of coats will be arranged in four groups at four remarkably low sale prices, as follows:

$8.95 $10.00 $15.00 $19.75

A WONDERFUL sale just in time for your Thanksgiving buying. Our Dissolution of Partnership Sale, with our entire stock at pronounced price reductions, continues. This coat selling is an unexpected and extra feature. Mendleson & Co. wired of their willingness to sell us their stock of coats at Half Price. We simply couldn't let so exceptional an offer pass.

These coats will virtually sell themselves. Never before have we offered such high-class coats so far underpriced. At the very height of the season, you are going to buy these garments at prices that would be extreme for after-season selling. An immense variety of styles—above we have illustrated four of them—come tomorrow and let us show you these and others. We can tell you only briefly here about the garments in the different groups, as follows:

$8.95 is the sale price for a grand assortment of Long Coats; tailored in latest styles; fine broadcloths, coverts, etc.; they are one-half satin lined; the first time we've ever offered such Coats for so low a price as $8.95.

$10.00 for each Coat in a group containing about 385 garments; full length; made of fine coverts, broadcloths and superb mixtures; stylish new models, and over 20 of them; some lined throughout and others half-lined with satin; all sizes and colors; greatest bargain in coats ever offered at $10.00.

$15.00 the price of coats in the third group, including coverts, broadcloths and heavy weave mixtures; beautiful styles; high-class tailoring that guarantees you a perfect fit; about 12 different, stunning models; some coats satin lined throughout; full length; should sell for $25.00; our sale price, $15.00.

$19.75 for Coats worth up to $37.50, and not a one of them less than $32.50; newest styles; best workmanship—nothing is left to be desired; most excellent broadcloths, finest coverts, mixtures, diagonals, etc.; fitted, semi and military styles with capes.

We also have between 50 and 60 splendid sample Coats, worth from $37.50 to $50.00, that we shall sell at $24.50 each.

KANSAS CITY WOMAN LEFT $10,000 JEWELS IN HOTEL

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Soon after Mrs. John C. Groves of Kansas City had sailed for Europe, a bag containing more than $10,000 worth of jewels was found in the rooms she had occupied in the St. Regis Hotel.

Mrs. Groves was informed by wireless and she promptly instructed the St. Regis management to forward the jewels to a Mrs. Ferresh at the Vendome Hotel, Boston.

This was done, and a few days ago, when the Vendome management informed the St. Regis that no one had called for the valuable package, the jewels were sent back to this city, and now the St. Regis is trying to find Mrs. Groves.

Weak Stomach

Test Sample of Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets Free to All.

If you have indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, dizziness, or biliousness, no matter how long standing, Mi-o-na stomach tablets will cure you, or your money back.

Thousands are getting rid of indigestion by using Mi-o-na. Here is what one man writes: "I want to speak a good word for Mi-o-na and what it has done for me. I suffered something terrible with dyspepsia and indigestion. It was almost impossible for me to eat anything. Day after day I would go without eating anything. One day I read your ad in the Bangor Daily News. I got a box, and before it was all gone I could sit down to the table and eat anything, thanks to Mi-o-na."—Herbert L. Patterson, Brewer (Bangor), Me., 1908.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are made from the best prescription ever written—they cure to stay cured. They relieve distressed stomach in a few minutes. They are sold by druggists in every town in America. A large box costs but 50 cents. Test samples free from Booth's Mi-o-na, Buffalo, N. Y. who also fill mail orders.

GOVERNMENT IS HOT ON TRAIL OF ELECTRIC TRUST

Investigators Who Stopped Work at Election Time Now Resume the Inquiry.

OWN WATER POWER

Connection Shown Between General Electric and Westinghouse Concerns.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Despite the reticence of the Department of Justice, it is known that the Government has taken up the thread of investigation against the Electrical Trust where it had been temporarily dropped in the heat of the recent campaign. It was dropped by direction of the former Attorney-General and the former administration in response to the powerful political influence which was exerted and notwithstanding the earlier resentment by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Bonaparte of the attempt to stop the investigation by the offer of a $1,000,000 campaign contribution.

The official records show that, although Mr. Bonaparte notified the trust inquisitors that no influence was to affect the work, matters were suspended from the last of August until after the presidential election in November.

This was because of the peculiar wording of instruction given by the Attorney-General to the inquisitors. His message was in part to this effect:

"Press the investigation in the Electrical Trust without fear or favor. Get the big men of the General Electric and the Westinghouse concerns, if possible, and pay no attention to the efforts of party leaders to divert you from your duty.

"But if there should be any more imperative duty requiring your immediate attention you can attend to it, if it does not require too long a time and in no wise interfere with the result the department is after."

The investigation was suspended.

Investigation Is Resumed.

After the election of Taft the investigation was resumed, being directed against the Westinghouse, the General Electric, the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the Western Electric Co. With all fear removed of the loss to Taft of the electoral votes of New York, Connecticut, Masschusetts and Illinois, political pressure against the investigation abated.

Among the few who appeared to feel no further interest in the case was Charles F. Brooker, brass manufacturer and Republican National Committeeman from Connecticut.

The Bureau of Corporations has established absolute connection between the "Water Power Trust" and the General Electric and the Westinghouse concerns.

This information is available for the Department of Justice. Those who have reviewed it say the Government has a prima facie case against a monopoly which makes the Standard Oil Co. look like a collection of amateurs.

The Bureau has found that 13 large concerns, of which the General Electric and the Westinghouse companies are the most important, own water-power plants and valuable water-power rights in various parts of the country.

The Government has established to its own satisfaction the great community of interest existing between these concerns, and has on file the corporative title, the capitalization and the officers and directors of each.

The control of the General Electric is shown indirectly or through subsidiary corporations, or indicated by the appearance of the names of certain individuals connected with the General Electric.

It is charged by the Bureau of Corporations that the American Gas and Electric Co. not only controlled in 1908 at least nineteen lighting and gas plants throughout the country, but was in turn controlled by the Electric Bond and Share Co., a General Electric concern.

Five great water power plants are admittedly owned and controlled by the General Electric in addition to those ferreted out by the corporation investigators, who have proved to their own satisfaction that there are five other valuable plants in which the control by the General Electric or its subsidiary concerns is reasonably inferred.

FULL CENSUS COUNT IS SOUGHT BY MILLION POPULATION CLUB

Enumeration Next April to Be Watched With Unusual Care.

The Million Population Club has instructed the chairman of its Census Bureau, Hugh K. Wagner, to co-operate with Census Supervisor Baker to get a full count of the residents of St. Louis when the enumeration is taken next April. President Wenneker is anxious that none escape the census taker.

An address was delivered by Col. J. L. Torrey of Wyoming, who commanded a Rough Rider regiment in the Spanish-American War. John P. Pensa delivered an illustrated lecture on Italy.

Darning by Electricity.

There is a very interesting exhibit being carried on this week in the showroom of the Union Electric Light and Power Co., Tenth and St. Charles streets, demonstrating the simplicity of darning.

This work has always been a household drudge, and it is interesting to note at this time that darning is nicely and quickly accomplished by the application of an electric motor on sewing machines in connection with the Singer Sewing Machine Co.'s darning device.

GIRL WHO HAS BEEN SELECTED AS QUEEN OF THE HIBERNIANS

MISS JESSIE KEARNS.

HIBERNIAN MEN CHOOSE YOUNGEST OF ALL QUEENS

Miss Tessie Kearns Will Be Crowned at the Ball Wednesday Night.

Surrounded by her maids of honor and a host of courtiers, Miss Tessie Kearns, the youngest queen ever chosen by the Hibernians of St. Louis, will be crowned at the ball which the organization is to give in its hall, 3619 Finney avenue, Wednesday evening.

Michael M. Begley of 2604 North Tenth street, will invest Miss Kearn with the token of her queenly honor, and Thomas Flynn of 3333 Russell avenue, will escort her in the grand march, which is to begin at 10:30 p. m.

Already the hall is decorated with festoons of green and red, white and blue bunting and flowers. Indications are that Miss Kearns will have a host of subjects to applaud her coronation and enthronement.

Miss Loretto Kearns, a siste of the young queen, and Miss Margaret Houlihan of 4128 North Grand avenue, will be the principal maids of honor. A bevy of other young women will be in her retinue.

The committee in charge of the ball are J. J. Finan, James Cody, Con Warren, Cornelius O'Sullivan, Thomas Kelly and Michael McDonough.

Miss Kearns is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Kearns of 1424 Obear avenue. She is 17 years old.

"MARSE" HENRY CHALLENGES THE WORLD TO EAT

Col. Watterson Bets a Meal Taft and Roosevelt Will Be Enemies.

WAGER IS ACCEPTED

Colonel Must Order Meal and See It Through, Is Stipulated.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

Says the New York World:

"We should hardly have expected that Henry Watterson would take the return from Elba' seriously, yet he is 'convinced that there is a strong movement on foot to bring about the renomination of President Roosevelt,' and believes that 'the result will be a division between the Taft and Roosevelt men which may split the Republican party.' The Colonel has lived with the Republican party ever since it was born, and he ought to be better acquainted with it. There is no 'strong movement' to renominate Mr. Roosevelt—merely much gossip, more or less wounded vanity and a friendly disposition on the part of the radical Republicans to scare the Taft administration. At present there is no more danger of a Republican split over Taft and Roosevelt than of the Colonel's voting the straight Republican ticket in 1912.

Sometimes one has to go away from home to get the news. The Courier-Journal gave no credit to the story that there was a dicker between Roosevelt and Taft to take turn and turn about in the White House. Neither did it question Mr. Roosevelt's sincerity when he announced that he would not accept a nomination for a "second elective term." That he was disloyal to Taft at heart, expecting a stampede in the convention that would force its candidacy upon him,—which his enemies yet persist in charging—we did not believe and do not believe. Nor do we regard the "return from Elba" chatter seriously. Either the World misses the point, or else Mr. Watterson failed to make it as clear in the expression as it is in the conception, that the Taft-Roosevelt situation would make a break likely, if there were no busybodies to agitate it; but that, with a host of keen and selfish politicians to see in it at once their profit and their revenge, it seems inevitable.

Mr. Watterson did not say, or did not mean to say, that "There is a strong movement to nominate Mr. Roosevelt." That would be putting the cart before the horse. He said that there is a well-organized conspiracy to make a breach between the President that is and the President that was, and this is true. Whither it will lead and where it will end it is too early to speculate. Men of importance are engaged in it. Our esteemed New York contemporary would be surprised if we named them.

Ex-President Dies or Gets Drunk."

Men like Theodore Roosevelt do not do something for nothing. He is a most astute practical politician. He is not just turned 50, in the very middle and high noon of life. "What is an ex-President to do but die or get drunk?" a dictum which used to be ascribed to one of them, does not apply to Theodore Roosevelt. His African journey was sagaciously planned. It is being systematically achieved.

Nor is there anything which is so easy as the raising of misunderstandings between friends. A wink and a nod and a word by chance, and the trick is turned; presto! a blow is struck. The go-between in love, the marplot in hate, Othello and Iago and Sweet Desdemona! Shall the Republican party play the role of Desdemona?

We agree with The World that the Republican party "is tough." Yea, verily, and sly and hard to down; a roaring, militant, triumphant organization, with perfect discipline, vast resources and the habit of loyalty. So was the Democratic party 50 years ago. Buchanan and Douglas are dead, but human nature remains intact.

Nor let us be too cock sure of anything; and yet, albeit opposed on principle to games of chance, we have a wager to offer The World, not of money, but of wittles, with maybe a drop or two onbeknowst to the W. C. T. U. to wash 'em down; to wit, a dinner for 24, to be given in Washington City, District of Columbia, on or before the first Monday of December, 1911, The World to invite the Courier Journal to invite 12, the Chief Justice of the United States, the Vice-President and the Speaker of the House of Representatives to serve as judges and referees, and to sit at table as additional, ex-officio, guests—or words to that effect—the proposition to be that Taft and Roosevelt are at daggers' points and the Courier-Journal in the affirmative, The World in the negative.

What sayeth our esteemed New York contemporary? Has it a mind to do business? Shall we count it in."

This morning The World says editorially:

"The World accepts. The Colonel can 'count it in,' and we have only two conditions to impose:

"1. Win or lose, the Colonel shall personally order the dinner and supervise its preparation.

"2. He shall stand by and see it through from the caviar to the coffee.

"Bring your feud or your food, Colonel."

BULLET IN A WOMAN'S NOSE DOESN'T STOP HER TALKING, PLEA OF WIFE FOR HUSBAND

PARIS, Nov. 23.—A rather amusing dialogue was heard in one of the Parisian courts the other afternoon. A tradesman had been sentenced at Versailles to four months' imprisonment for having fired at his wife, who was wounded in the nose and he had appealed. The wife made her appearance in court, and, having advanced to the witnesses' bar, delivered the following remarkable speech:

"In firing on me with a revolver, my husband only did his duty. I had left him for no valid reason. So he acted rightly, and what he did was quite natural. I may add that I had asked to have a barrister appointed to plead, but no one was selected for us."

"But you fulfill that part very well," the presiding judge observed gallantly.

"Besides," the wife continued, "I have withdrawn my complaint. I consider that he did right, and I ask for his acquittal."

"But you were wounded," the judge objected.

"Not at all," was the calm reply.

"Why, you speak through your nose," the judge argued, by way of proving that that organ had been injured by the bullet.

"Oh," the wife answered, "I have done so from my birth. Has a bullet in the nose of a woman ever prevented her from talking?"

The generous wife did not succeed in getting her husband off altogether, but the penalty was reduced to two months' imprisonment, perhaps as a tribute to her ready wit.

Human Fat Reduces Easily in This Climate

Now is the time above all others when you should be thinking of removing that dragging down false flesh. It is very simple if you know how to do it. Marmola Tablets, especially prepared so that they may be carried in the purse or the vest pocket, will reduce your flesh at the rate of from 12 to 15 ounces a day and you can eat when and what you will. Diet and exercise have been proven to be no sure relief to the fat people. The question is not one of eating but of digesting properly that which you eat. Just take a Marmola Tablet after each meal and you need not fear anything you eat; it won't make fat. The digestive juices are wrong. What they should do is to give you good, strong, active blood, bone and tissue and serve to replenish the waste nervous organism of man. Marmola Tablets go into the stomach just like food. They mix with the digestive juices and at once digest that meal as it should be digested. They take off the fat where it shows the most and in a few days you will see the change yourself. Thousands of our best men and women have used them successfully. They are sold at every first-class drug store or you may write The Marmola Company, Dept. 109, Detroit, Mich., and inclose the price of a case, 75 cts., and they will send same to you at once. —ADV.

ST. LOUIS 700 INVITED TO 19-HOUR MARATHON DEBUT OF MISS BAGNELL

Function Will Begin at the Women's Club Wednesday at 8 P. M. and Will Last Until 3 P. M. Thursday, Following Old-Time Custom.

More than 700 St. Louis society men and women will celebrate the "coming out" of Miss Effie Bagnell by attending a "Marathon debut," the festivities continuing from 8 p. m. Thanksgiving eve until 3 p. m. or later Thanksgiving day.

Sleep will be foresworn by the members of the smart set, while they spend 19 continuous hours in dancing, dining and motoring as the guests of the debutante's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bagnell of 12 Westmoreland place.

Old Generation Knew How.

St. Louis Society of a generation ago knew how to dance all night, and how to feast on the following day, and the customs of the '60s and '70s will be revived in the ornate and costly festivities to be provided for the Bagnell party.

The St. Louis Woman's Club and the Country Club will be the scenes of the festivities, which will be the most elaborate of the present season, and which may set a new record for beauty and luxury in social observances here.

At the Woman's Club, 3621 Washington boulevard, the reception will begin at 8 p. m. Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Bagnell and their daughter will receive, assisted by their two guests, Miss Dorothy Hussey of Louisville and Miss Florence McFatrick of Chicago.

At 10 o'clock the receiving party will enter the large ballroom and, to the music of two orchestras, dancing will continue until daylight.

The dining room will be opened a half hour after dancing begins, and will remain open throughout the night. Here, too, oldtime customs will be followed in the serving of a sumptuous spread, such as those in which stuffed peacocks and bears' heads used to be conspicuous features.

Beginning at 5 a. m. breakfast will be served. The opening of the shutters at daybreak, which will be at some time after 6 a. m., will release the orchestras and clear the ballroom.

Will Change Costume.

Breakfast will be a leisurely affair, and there will be only informal leave-takings when the guests motor to their homes to exchange evening clothes for those suitable to daylight events. There will be little more than time for such a change before many of the guests will be again in their cars and on their way to the Country Club.

At 1 p. m. Miss Bagnell will be hostess to other debutantes of the season at the Century Club luncheon. While this luncheon is limited to the debutantes, it is anticipated that many of the guests of the night before will be at the club for Thanksgiving day, and these will be included in the reception in the hour following the luncheon. The reception is scheduled to continue until 3 p. m., but will probably merge itself into other festivities at the clubhouse, so as to continue into the late afternoon.

Extensive Floral Decorations.

The floral decorations at the Woman's Club, particularly in the ballroom, are expected to be the most extensive and beautiful ever seen in St. Louis. Pink chrysanthemums will be a dominating feature in the long ropes of flowers and foliage which will cover the walls of the ballroom.

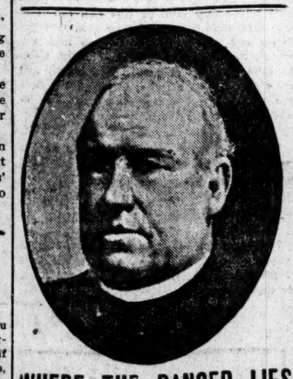

Because of the magnificence of the Bagnell function, society leaders are wondering whether the list of 700 invitations will establish boundaries for the exclusive set of St. Louis, which at present has no accepted numerical limit like the famous "Four Hundred" of New York and Newport.

Penalties of $215,000,000 Asked.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 23.—The attorneys for the State have filed at Tupelo their amended bill in the ouster suit against the 38 fire insurance companies charged with the violation of the antitrust laws of the State in having formed an alleged combination to fix rates, and from whom penalties aggregating $215,000,000 are asked.

He Won His Bet.

An individual, well known on the Berlin Bourse for his wit, one morning wagered that he would ask the same question of 50 different persons and receive the same answer from each. The wit went to the first one and then another, until he had reached the number of 50. And this is how he won the bet: He whispered half audibly to each, "I say, have you heard that Meyer has failed?" "What Meyer?" queried the whole 50, one after another, and it was decided that the bet had been fairly won.

WHERE THE DANGER LIES

How to Best Avoid It.—Facts Everybody Ought to Know.

The great danger in colds at this season of the year is that they lead to chronic throat and lung troubles and consumption.

The moment you begin to take patent medicines and so-called cough cures, the majority of which depend entirely on nerve-deadening drugs for their effect, you weaken the body.

That takes away the fighting power necessary to ward off disease, and the grip and pneumonia germs develop, and because the body is weakened is why pneumonia is so often fatal.

Father John's Medicine is not a patent medicine, and does not contain alcohol or dangerous drugs. It cures throat and lung troubles, coughs and colds. Get a bottle today.

BIG BROTHER JOE AND BOY'S FATHER FOUGHT TEACHER

Members of Family Tried to Prevent Woman Punishing Youngster for Disobedience.

William Noonan of Wellston will be tried Friday by Judge Rutledge for disturbing the peace of Miss Lillian Crossman of Clayton, a teacher in the South Ward School at Wellston. Noonan's 16-year-old son, Joe, will be tried at Clayton Dec. 9 on the same charge.

The trouble was all on account of Noonan's other son, Edgar, 10 years old, who left his seat in Miss Crossman's room without permission, and later refused to go to the room of Miss Lucille Higdon, the principal, for chastisement.

There had been a written spelling lesson and the pupils were correcting each other's papers. Two of the children went to Miss Crossman's desk to ask her something. She ordered them to take their seats.

Another child arose and Miss Crossman gave a general order that no child was to approach the teacher's desk without permission.

Boy Defies the Teacher.

Edgar Noonan, in defiance of the order, walked up to Miss Crossman's desk. She asked him why he had done it and he shrugged his shoulders and said he did not know.

Miss Crossman ordered him to go to Miss Higdon's room for the paddle. He went into the hall, but ran out the back door. He had to go around to the front to reach the gate. Miss Crossman headed him off at the front, and ordered him back into the building.

The boy began to cry and his big brother Joe, who was near demanded that Edgar be allowed to go home. Miss Crossman refused. Joe caught his brother by the arm. Miss Crossman held on to the other arm and there was a scuffle. Joe finally let go and Miss Crosman took Edgar inside, compelled him to get the paddle and punished him with it.

Brother Gets Father.

Joe brought his father and another demand was made that the boy be allowed to go home, but Miss Crossman would not let him. Joe and his father went away, but Joe returned in an hour and made another demand. Miss Crossman would not let Edgar go unless a written request was brought from the parents. The boy stayed that afternoon and has continued in school since.

Miss Higdon and Miss Crossman conferred that night with Superintendent Bush and warrants were sworn out by Miss Crossman against Mr. Noonan and Joe, charging them with disturbing the peace.

School Patrons Elect Officers.

The Clifton Heights School Branch of the St. Louis School Patrons' Association has elected the following officers: G. W. Britt, president; Mrs. G. D. Barnes, vice-president; Clyde Jennings, secretary; Mrs. C. B. Nicholson, treasurer, and G. W. Clinton, sergeant-at-arms.

"Stained My Hair Brown"

Society Woman Wants to Tell Readers How She Stained Her Faded Hair Without Using Hair Dye.

"I think the readers of your paper ought to get the benefit of my experience," said a well-known society woman in an interview. "It is in regard to staining hair. I am now going on to forty years of age and some months ago my hair was nearly all gray, faded, and falling out, and I used to bleach my hair besides. I tried various hair-dyes but I found, as nearly every other woman has found, that by using these dyes you can't conceal the fact that you have dyed your hair. And besides, my hair began to fall out worse than before because of the poisons in the hair-dyes. And then I had to use the dye almost every week or ten days so as to turn the color of the hair near the roots.

"Finally I decided to try walnut-tint hair-stain. Well, you see what a beautiful rich brown my hair has now, and you'd never think I stained my hair at all. It has grown out remarkably fluffy since I have used it. I apply it with a comb in a few minutes only once a month. It stains nothing but the hair, never harms it in the least, and makes it grow out luxuriantly. It stains the hair evenly from tip to root, so that experts cannot tell that you have stained your hair.

Mrs. Potter's Walnut-Tint Hair Stain is what I used. She is the only one who manufactures it. If you want to try it first you write her for a sample package of her Walnut-Tint Hair Stain and enclose twenty-five cents in stamps or coin to help pay postage and packing, and you will get it by return mail in plain, sealed wrapper. Address her, Mrs. Potter's Hygienic Supply Co., 436 Groton Building, Cincinnati, Ohio. She will also send you free her very interesting book on hair.

Mrs. Potter's Walnut-Tint Hair Stain has the advantage over hair-dyes of containing no copper, sulphur, lead or other poisons which cause hair-falling, and has no oil, no sediment and no grease. It is for gray, faded or bleached hair. Any shade can be obtained from a beautiful rich brown to almost black. It does not rub off on the clothing. One bottle should ordinarily last a year.

It is sold at drug stores generally at one dollar a package. Send for the 25-cent trial package today.

NEVER HEARD OF A PLYMOUTH ROCK COON? THAT'S QUEER; ALTON MAN HAS SHOT ONE

Feathers Three Inches Long, and if You Doubt It, You Can See Gun That Shot It.

If Dr. E. O. Greer of 2750 Park avenue had offered President Taft a Plymouth Rock coon instead of a 'possum for his Thanksgiving feast, the President might have seen his way clear to accept it. Oh, yes, there is such a thing as a Plymouth Rock coon—in Alton. Or at least there was.

The President turned down Dr. Greer's 'possum offer because tradition requires the President and his folks to eat turkey on Thanksgiving day. Of course a Plymouth Rock coon is not a turkey, but it has feathers like a turkey and the President might have looked upon it as a fair compromise between the fowl of the North and the varmint of the South.

W. M. Shook of Alton tells about the feathered coon. At first it was just a plain coon, with a liking for Plymouth Rock pullets so strongly developed that it would take no other. One day a woman heard a great fuss in the hen house and ran out with a kettle of boiling water. Brer Coon was making off with another Plymouth Rock. She dashed the water on him and scalded the hair from his back.

That was last winter. The other day Shook and his friend, Gib Bilson, went shooting up the hollow. Gib shot a coon weighing 27 pounds and 3 ounces, and what do you think! Its back was covered with Plymouth Rock chicken feathers, three inches long!

Shook says so. And if you don't believe it, he can show you the gun Gib shot it with.

MAN TIDIES UP HOUSE AND YARD, INVITES IN FRIENDS AND DIES AS HE ANNOUNCED

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Nov. 23.—Friends of John G. Hoffman, a retired manufacturer, who lived alone in a snug little home on Walton avenue, received a summons from him that he would like to see them.

They went to the house and found the old man awaiting them. They observed that he had swept the walks, tidied up the rooms, dusted the furniture and had everything as neat as on Sundays.

"You're all dressed up, John. What is that for?" he was asked.

"Yes, I'm going on a journey," the old man replied. "I want to leave the home in good condition and look well myself, too."

Then he told them he had a premonition he was going to die. He said he was not ill, never had been seriously ill in his life, but that he suddenly became cognizant of the fact that his end was approaching swiftly.

Well-intended cajolery was tried in the belief that Hoffman was depressed, but his smile of quiet resignation had more of courage than melancholy in it. His friends became much impressed as he took a chair and settled himself in a comfortable position, meantime bidding each of those present farewell. They observed that he closed his eyes, and took it for granted he was wearied by the exertions of preparing the house for their reception.

After 10 minutes a lifelong friend stepped forward and laid his hand on the old man's shoulder. There was no response. The man was dead. Physicians summoned said apoplexy was the cause of death. Hoffman was 68 years of age.

WIRELESS SEEKS ASTOR 24 HOURS WITHOUT AVAIL

AIR CONDITION IS BAD

Static Pressure Said to Be Greatest Ever Experienced by Operator.

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 23.—Twenty-four hours of ceaseless endeavor by wireless men have brought no confirmation of the reported safety of John Jacob Astor and his yacht, Nourmahal, at San Juan. The commercial wireless station at this point and the naval wireless station at Key West have called continuously since 5 a. m. yesterday when the San Juan station was "lost," but up to 3 o'clock this morning had not been able to reach the Porto Rico station.

At midnight atmospheric conditions were such that both Key West and Tampa stations discontinued all efforts to raise either Guantanamo or San Juan. Early this morning, however, conditions were such that both Tampa and Key West again began calling at intervals for San Juan. Answer was made, brokenly, supposedly from Guantanamo at 6:15 a. m., indicating that conditions were rapidly growing better and a return message might be expected at any time.

This was evidently due to the heavy atmospheric conditions which prevailed over the Gulf and Caribbean Sea. Manager Hance of the local wireless station stated this morning at 6 o'clock that he had never seen such static pressure as existed during the night. It was almost impossible even to speak to Key West, the nearest wireless station to Tampa, he declared.

Operator Ignorant of Anxiety.

That a confirmation or denial of the report of Col. Astor's presence in the harbor at San Juan has not been obtained so far is due to the ignorance of the operator at San Juan of the anxiety that exists in the United States, especially in New York City, as to Col. Astor and his friends.

The wireless station at San Juan is on an isolated point and the operator would not likely have known the Nourmahal was in San Juan Harbor. Capt. Schlaiker of the German steamer Wotan, who discovered the wreck on the north coast of Cuba, believes the wreck he saw was that of Mr. Astor's yacht.

A rumor that Mr. Astor had landed at an obscure port and gone to his game preserves at Astor, Lake County, Fla., could not be verified.

Those familiar with the port of San Juan do not believe a yacht the size of Mr. Astor's could have put in there for any length of time without some report being made.

Conflicting Reports About Yacht.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Although William A. Dobbin, secretary of the estate of Col. John Jacob Astor, and most of the personal friends of the cable-isolated yachtsman said today that they were satisfied that the Nourmahal had been seen riding at anchor on Nov. 15 by Capt. Furst of the Red D liner Caracas in what was then the placid harbor of San Juan, P. R., there were a number of imaginative persons, an erratic Florida correspondent and queer men of the sea who appeared to have a large stock of theories on the subject of the Nourmahal and other yachts that "looked like her."

One of the stories was that a wireless message from San Juan had been received in Florida saying that the Nourmahal was not at San Juan, but that a large steam yacht belonging to a rich Cuban was there and might have been mistaken for the Nourmahal. The United Wireless Telegraph Co. says of this in a message from Tampa:

"Absolutely no truth in report regarding wireless received here via Key West about yacht Nourmahal not being in San Juan. Still trying to get San Juan."

The report thus contradicted was the only basis offered yesterday for doubting that Capt. Furst had seen what he says he saw at San Juan.

As to yachts resembling the Nourmahal, yachtsmen say there is none, and as to large steam yachts owned by rich Cubans, they, according to Cubans and yachtsmen both, are as scarce as Swiss battleships.

Mrs. Astor Lively on Shipboard.

Copyright, 1909, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

QUEENSTOWN, Nov. 23.—Mrs. John Jacob Astor, who embarked at the last moment on the Lusitania in New York Wednesday, arrived at Queenstown yesterday en route to London.

There were many prominent passengers on board, including Lady Northcote, Lady Nicholson, Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Lady Langham and Miss Eileen Gray, with whom Mrs. Astor fraternized. She was out of her stateroom every day, although the weather was bad during the entire passage. She promenaded the saloon deck constantly and from the agile manner in which she skipped about she was the center of attraction.

With her silver hair done up in the most fashionable manner she appeared quite free from care and chatted quite merrily with her fellow-travelers. She was accompanied by a maid, who paid special attention to her mistress' gestures, particularly for dinner.

SMOKERS CAN NOW GROW $10 PIPES IN OWN BACK YARDS

Uncle Sam Will Furnish Full Particulars About the Boer Calabash.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Pipes made from the South African calabash, or gourd, have created considerable interest in the growth of the vine. It is a native of South Africa. The use of the calabash as a pipe bowl was discovered by the Boers and after the Boer war they were introduced in England and from there were brought to this country.

The Boers attempted to prevent the exportation of seed, but failed, and there is now a supply of the seed in this country. The vine grows luxuriantly and produces a large crop of gourds, but many of them have to be rejected for pipe making, either on account of defective growth or of insect bites which mar the surface.

The pipes are graceful and distinctive in shape, no two being exactly alike. They color like meerschaum, and are delightful smokers. The imported pipes sell for from $8 to $12 each. One of the reasons for their high price is the necessity for hand work in their manufacture, as, on account of their varying shapes and size, machine work is not practicable. The growing, drying and shaping of these gourds should be interesting, and they can be easily made into pipes by buying inside bowls and mouthpieces.

The United States Department of Agriculture has issued a circular (No. 41, Bureau of Plant Industry) on the subject, giving information in regard to the securing of seed, growing the plant and making the pipes, which will be sent free to all who apply for it.

FAMILY CURED OF SKIN TROUBLES

Two Little Girls had Eczema Very Badly—In One Case Child's Hair Came Out and Left Bare Patches—Father's Head Sore from Childhood—In All Three Cases

CUTICURA MET WITH ITS USUAL SUCCESS

"I have two little girls who have been troubled very badly with eczema. One of them had it on her lower limbs. I did everything that I could hear of for her, but it did not give in until warm weather when it seemingly subsided. The next winter when it became cold weather the eczema started again and also in her head where it would take the hair out and leave bare patches as large as a quarter of a dollar. At the same time her arms were sore the whole length of them. I took her to a physician and he said that she had two distinct types of eczema. I continued with him for several weeks and the child grew worse all of the time. Her sister's arms were also affected in the same way. My husband came home one day with a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap. I began using them and also the Cuticura Pills and by the time the second box was used their skin was soft and smooth as it had not been before for the winter. We keep the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment constantly by us and when any little roughness or irritation appears on their skin I quickly dispel it with the Cuticura Remedies. My husband has used them with most satisfactory results for a sore head which has troubled him from childhood. Mrs. Charles Baker, Albion, Me., Sept. 21, 1908."

Cuticura Ointment is one of the most successful remedies for torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, of infants, children and adults, ever compounded, in proof of which a single anointing with it, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed by mild doses of Cuticura Pills, is often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning and scaly humors, eczemas, irritations and inflammations, permit rest and sleep and point to a speedy cure when all else fails.

Cuticura Soap (25c.), Ointment (50c.), Resolvent (50c.), and Pills (25c. and 50c.) are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 137 Columbus Ave., Boston.

A DUTY OF DEMOCRACY.

Strange stories are coming from Washington concerning the relations existing between Government officials and the magnates of the trusts, and concerning the knowledge which the former are said to have had of the guilty acts of the latter. These stories are strange for a double reason; first, because the implication is of a degree of connivance at deliberate fraud on the part of men of the highest station; and, second, because while the stories seem ever on the verge of transforming these implied statements into explicit charges, they never actually name the men nor furnish proofs of guilt.

The country will be slow to believe there was any real compounding of fraud or taking of bribes on the part of the highest officials at Washington, and yet the showing of the sugar weighing scandals and the disclosures in relation to the dealings of the Electrical Trust with the Department of Justice are disquieting and confusing. Such testimony cannot be lightly set aside; yet if it be accepted as true, it is certain the men most guilty in these frauds are not the weighers who took the bribes on the docks, nor yet the trust magnates who paid the bribes and profited by the frauds, but those members of the Cabinet who, in violation not only of common honesty, but of their oaths of office and of their patriotic responsibility, have connived at these frauds, possibly not for personal gain, but for the sake of gaining and holding for the Republican party the powerful support and patronage of law-breaking corporations.

If the Democratic members of Congress have in them the elements of any true leadership they will force this winter an open and full investigation of these charges. That the Republican leaders will hasten to make a pretense of investigation is certain, for the charges, while still silent as to persons, are too definite and too specific to be ignored altogether. An effort at a "whitewash" inquiry is therefore a foregone conclusion. The duty of Democracy in this juncture, then, is that of stopping the hypocritical investigation and of forcing a valid one. "Let no guilty man escape" is a good enough battle cry to fight under.

It seems to be only a ghost of a victory the Court of Appeals has materialized.

NOT A QUESTION OF COMPETITION.

The authorities quoted in the Union Electric's neat and catchy pamphlet agree that competition in public utilities is impracticable, unwise and absurd.

Who does not agree to this proposition, which in the light of experience is self-evident?

The question before the public is not competition, but the nature and extent of regulation. When competition is impossible regulation is necessary. Corporations cannot fool any but the foolish by such a confusion of issues. The threat of competition may be a handy club to keep within reach of public authority for a few years yet, until the matter settles down on the secure basis of strict regulation. But no one thinks of competition as a final method of public service. Corporations gain nothing by assuming that people can't make distinctions which are obvious in the nature of things.

INSIDERS AND OUTSIDERS.

The President and General Manager of the United Railways Co. has the qualities of affability and sympathy which make the harmonizer. He has the energy which inspires while it directs. He has the broad sympathies which unite elements otherwise discordant, welding them into a unit.

This statement of his executive qualities violates no confidence. They are already well known. Then what is the matter with the United Railways in its attitude towards the public?

He himself discloses it in his circular, harmonizing the employes of the company. As it was printed in the Sunday Post-Dispatch from the official copy, he urges everybody inside the breastworks to cultivate the habit of toleration and sympathy for everybody else inside. They are not to waste energy even in trivial disagreements, because it is needed to hold "the strength and correctness of our own affairs against everybody on the outside."

When we rush a street car in the hope of evading a strap and securing a seat, we do not think of ourselves as hostiles, trying to storm the breastworks of the United Railways citadel and overthrow it. We are trying to become insiders, to the best of our ability. So long as we are resisted from headquarters as hostiles, we never can succeed. But we know now what we need. We need to be soothed, tolerated, harmonized and forgiven with the same genius for getting results of this [illegible] which is shown uniformly in harmonizing the

ANOTHER TRUST SMASH.

Judge Shields' decision in the local Ice Trust case follows logically the decisions in the Federal Courts on the Northern Securities and Standard Oil cases and the decision of our State Supreme Court on the Standard Oil Trust. With some differences in details, it agrees with all of these decisions in declaring combinations, agreements and conspiracies in restraint of trade unlawful.

Judge Shields found, contrary to the ruling of the referee in the Ice case, that there had been illegal agreements between the wholesale and retail ice companies and that the merging of other companies with the Polar Wave was a sham and fraud accomplished for the purpose of perpetuating a monopoly combination to fix prices. All of the companies are under the same control and are in agreement to restrain competition.

This decision is another proof of the power of the State government to enforce the anti-trust laws. It requires for effect the affirmation of the Supreme Court, but the principle has been accepted by that body. Combinations, contracts, agreements, conspiracies to destroy competition and restrain trade can be eliminated. The deception of the public through a pretense of competition by allied or subsidiary corporations controlled by a holding corporation or the same individuals is no longer possible. Monopoly mergers under holding corporations cannot exist. All the devices and practices of trusts and combinations used to avoid competition to obtain unfair advantage over competitors and the public, are condemned by the Courts. That much is gained, and the gain represents victory for law and for fair dealing. It is a victory for the people.

The fight has been long and wearing. It has been three years since the Post-Dispatch forced the proceedings against the Ice Trust by exposing its oppressions and demanding action. But the result justifies the work. The end of all these conditions is in sight.

But the monopoly problem is not yet solved. All monopoly is obnoxious and we have yet to devise ways and means of restraining, if not destroying, monopoly under any and all forms. How this shall be done without discouraging individual initiative, energy and ambition and without violating the principle of liberty in the pursuit of legitimate gain, is yet to be determined.

Public deprivation by the death of Congressman David A. DeArmond is heightened by the shock. With Champ Clark he shared the distinction of being Missouri's foremost Democratic representatives. Natural ability, equipped by study, and supplemented by wide experience in his profession and in Congress, had perfected his usefulness. Neither the State nor his party could well spare him. Among his fellows in Congress he was admired for his energy, his clarity of vision, his analytical mind and his integrity. In Missouri he was looked upon as a most valuable asset, and wore fittingly the many honors which came to him as the reward of ability and merit.

OUR DUTY IN NICARAGUA.

There is no particular evidence to indicate that the two Americans, Cannon and Groce, supposed to have been summarily executed by order of Dictator Zelaya of Nicaragua, were reckless adventurers. Zelaya, Cannon wrote to friends, kept him in jail six months and drove him from the country when he had been liberated. Groce was a miner—a man of some wealth—trying to do business in the face of Zelaya's whimsical laws and despite his vicious extortions.

If these reports are correct and we bear in mind Zelaya's well-known methods, it is as fair a conclusion that Cannon was killed as a matter of revenge and Groce as a matter of profit, as that they were engaged in seditious enterprises. It is the truth of these things that we must find out before we can act rationally and consistently. The Monroe doctrine has no application. It is a case of protecting the lives and inflicting punishment for the deaths of American citizens. And to protect the lives of those now there and those who may go there hereafter, it is pertinent that a demonstration of American strength be made. But with the internal struggles of Nicaragua we have nothing to do.

While the population has been increasing 30 per cent, insanity has increased 155 per cent, the standpatters, as usual, being the cause of the disproportionate increase.

CONVERSATIONAL TONE.

Mr. I. H. Lionberger's statement that "foolish talk" is the rule in clubdom and conversation on a high plane of sentiment and intelligence is seldom heard, is strongly controverted by a number of clubmen whose comments are published in the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

The question is wider than clubdom. But what is foolish talk?

Conversational tone depends entirely upon the quality of the conversers. The talk of men whose habitual thought is mean and trivial, and whose character is not matured by education and experience, will be colored to correspond. Let the topic be large or little, the tone, the flavor, the attractive graces will not be there. And on the other hand men with generous natures and larger equipment will put merit and interest into anything they touch. But of course such men prefer the wider interests as conversational matter.

The question is, in the little world of clubdom and the larger world outside: Why are not men of this superior sort socially so active as they were in the days mourned by Mr. Lionberger? It is certainly a widespread belief that they are not. Is it because, after giving themselves to the hard work of business all day they have nothing left for their friends in the evening? If this is the correct explanation, in many cases, at least, they are not giving the best of themselves to the world.

The chief lawyer of Standard Oil says if the Supreme Court decides against them on appeal they will accept the result and abide by it. This is reassuring. We feared they would declare war against the United States, shut off the oil supply, and march upon Washington with an army recruited from among their employes.

Now that Mr. Taft has sat into the New York Custom House game there will be no more dismissals. To separate a government job holder from his place is a cruel and unusual punishment and plainly unconstitutional, as Mr. Taft well knows.

In the long list of things whose advance in price has sent the cost of living skyward, the Panama Canal must now be included. It has gone up 260 per cent in two years—breakfast bacon being its only companion for the whole distance.

Capt. McCulloch may, as he says, be standing against "the world, the flesh and the devil," but that is plainly because of the usual shortage in seats.

A Chicago preacher says the State should make marriage compulsory—just when equal suffrage is on the gain, too.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Herman Brudern, Please Come Home!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

My husband, Herman Brudern, left Warrensburg, Mo., April 1, took the afternoon train, going east. It is said by those that saw him that he came to your city to look for work. We have heard nothing from him since that time. I am nearly crazy to find him. He was a kind husband and a loving father, a good Christian man, a member of the First Presbyterian Church here. We had no family troubles. He failed here in the grocery and baking business and was compelled to go from home to find work; was in Kansas City for awhile. I heard from friends that he became discouraged, and was led to drink. I think this is the cause of us not hearing from him and the cause of him not sending money home.

He leaves us in destitute circumstances, and winter coming on. We have two little girls, one 3 years and one 6 years, and he seemed to idolize his baby. I am trying to keep them from starving by taking in sewing and renting a room. It is the father's duty to help me support them, and he must be found at once. Will you do all you can to help me find him?

MRS. HERMAN BRUDERN.

Downtown Church Dinners.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Regarding the downtown church dinners for business men, a restaurant man would like to say, we St. Louisans wish to increase the population of St. Louis to a million. A gentleman from another city comes to your city, finds a location for a restaurant, pays an exorbitant rent, gives employment to over one hundred citizens and is really a benefit and an honor to the city. The License Collector steps in and charges a large sum for the privilege of giving these 100 people employment; provisions are higher, meat, eggs and poultry higher than ever known before. With the exception of those restaurants that have a saloon attached, there is not a restaurant in St. Louis that has made a dollar in the last year. Right in the face of this the churches come in and beg some man who owns a room (that has not been occupied on account of the high rent) for the use of it. They run along until the butcher and the grocer get tired of contributing provisions gratuitously; then they quit and some other church steps in same location and does the same thing.

Last winter in a vacant store on Broadway, one church followed another week after week and not one of them paid a license nor 1 cent for help. How do you expect a young man to start into business, or to bring other business men from other cities if this is permitted to continue? I. N. S.

Is Capital Punishment Desirable?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Yes, it is not only desired by every true Christian citizen, but it is a command of God. Thousands of years ago, when the Jewish nation was being instructed in laws pertaining to capital punishment, God ordained that no murderer was to be tolerated to live among others, but a portion of the land was to be separated and any person committing murder, even accidentally, had to escape to this city to save his life. "But if any man hate his neighbor and lie in wait for him, and rise up against him, and smite him that he die, and escapeth to the city of refuge, then the judges shall send and deliver him into the hands of the avenger of blood that he may die. Thine eye shall not pity him, but thou shalt put away the guilt of innocent blood." Deuteronomy, xix, 1-13 verses.

In the twentieth century, when greed for gain and fame, so called, seems to be greater than justice, no consideration is given the one who was slain, who in nine cases out of ten is a thousand times more of worth than the slayer, if he were living. So false sympathy assists unlawful methods to free the criminal. Some may say the Bible cannot be a guide, but I say there is no other standard of equal justice to the living or the dead. There is absolutely no excuse for a convicted murderer.

"ANCIENT LAW."

Trouble Brewing in Mexico.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Permit me to second Mr. D. L. Thomas in his criticism of Mr. Shanklin's article on Mexico. Have just returned from a year's stay in that civilized (?) country and saw much while there. First of all, the popularity of President Diaz on this side of the border turns to hatred in his own domains. Even the poorest peons, his supposedly stanchest adherents, brand him as a tyrant. Unquestionably he has done much for Mexico, but how? By removing all who opposed him as did Nero. Elections are mere farces. Diaz is the election. To cite an instance: Last August Sinaloa held an election, punctuated with riots, to fill the vacancy caused by its Governor's death. All agreed that Ferrel, the popular choice, had won handily, but Redo, one of Diaz's tools, is announced elected, even though he is a nonresident of the State, being a citizen of Mexico City.

Mr. Shanklin gave me the instant impression of speaking of Mexico when he meant Mexico City. Protection? Yes, perhaps! What happened in Guadalajara recently? Why is it that almost every "Gringo" carries a six-shooter? What chance has an American if he is taken in custody, guilty or innocent? The Mexicans love us so much they fairly gnash their teeth with love! Protection? Yes, Diaz has protected a few. "Joe" Green and his string of copper mines can afford protection. The railways can be used to ship Diaz's armies by; they are protected; then, perhaps, we may add a few of the American mines in the Guanajuato district. But where will we see American shops or holdings unless Diaz himself is personally interested? Anyway, who would not feel better protected with his own gun than by an army, two of every three men being convicts, and the "rurales," or mounted police (who also show such love for the hated "Gringoes"), mostly all ex-brigands?

Ask any American who has seen Mexico and he will substantiate both Mr. Thomas and myself, perhaps adding still more. The magazine writer referred to by Mr. Shanklin seems much better acquainted with Mexico than the latter. Wonder if Mr. Shanklin has ever been offered 15-year-old girls for 15 or 20 pesos by their own fathers and mothers? Isn't this almost slavery? It needs but a short stay in Mexico to give the American a corrected opinion of Mexico as known on this side of the line. I speak not from personal feeling against Mexico, but merely to prove that "all is not gold" in Mexico. Try a visit to Mexico, not Mexico City. J. W. B.

"THE WORLD, THE FLESH AND THE DEVIL."

—ROBERT McCULLOCH, President United Railways.

THE GUNPOWDER PLOT.

From the London Daily News.

A curious fate befell Red Hall, otherwise known as the Old Red House, at Bourne, in Lincolnshire, where the Gunpowder Plot is supposed to have been originally concocted. After being for centuries in the possession of the Digby family, this historic Elizabethan mansion was sold about 50 years ago to the Great Northern Railway Co. and converted into a station for the passenger traffic; but out of deference to popular sentiment the external appearance of the picturesque old place has been preserved practically unchanged.

STATE REGULATION OF FOOTBALL

From the New York World.

It is a curious development of the agitation against football that its regulation by the State in the interest of public safety is now seriously contemplated. The proposed legislation to suppress the game in Virginia and the efforts to have it prohibited in the New York public schools indicate an attitude on the part of the public authorities in strong contrast with the more lenient view of the sport taken by college presidents even in the face of the recent distressing fatalities on the gridiron.

A GREAT NATIONAL SCANDAL.

From the Nebraska State Journal.

Apparently we are on the verge of the greatest national scandal since the life insurance exposures. It is no newspaper or magazine made sensation. Government attorneys are the muckrakers. A congressional investigation is called for to supplement the work of the Department of Justice, and Congress will serve its reputation by heading the call. Let's have the whole truth, no matter how unpleasant, and end this 20-year scandal.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

From the New York World.

Gov. Deneen of Illinois in removing from office the Sheriff who permitted the Cairo lynchings has set a good example of executive promptness. Following so closely the disciplining of Sheriff Shipp of Memphis by the United States Supreme Court, Gov. Deneen's action should do something to check the lynch-law evil.

THE FOOLISH STATISTICIAN.

From the Washington Times.

In another 150 years, at the present decrease in the birth rate, there will be no more additions to the population, according to a recent authority. That gives promise, at least, of an easy solution of the cost of living problem for people of the next century.

MOTIVE MISCONSTRUED.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

"Ashamed to have your methods inquired into, are you?"

"My dear sir," replied the sugar magnate, "your insinuation does me a grave wrong. The reticence of modesty should not be construed as the contumacy of a troubled conscience. No."

A RETORT.

From the Washington Star.

"Why do you allow bull fighting to go on in your country?"

"Well," answered the distinguished Spaniard, "our public must have excitement and we're rather too mild and sympathetic to enjoy football."

HATRED'S DIVIDENDS.

From the Atchison Globe.

Hatred takes time and energy and health. And the dividends on the investment are pitifully small and unsatisfactory.

CONSTRUCTIVELY SPEAKING.

("The decision against the Standard Oil Co. is only a theoretical victory."—Attorney Wollman, who assisted Gov. Hadley in the Standard Oil case.)

CONSTRUCTIVELY speaking, the Standard is busted; its progress is checked, and its friends are disgusted with courts and with law, and they're wailing and shrieking at 26 Broadway, constructively speaking.

Constructively speaking—Not real you know;
They're wailing and weeping, and tears are a-flow
As salt as the ooze of the infinite sea—
Not real boo-hoos, but in theory.

Constructively speaking, the octopus flurries, he bleeds at the gills, and surrenders his worries; he shudders and dies, in his own ichor reeking, and the boatmen are singing, constructively speaking.

Constructively speaking—or it may be said
That we have constructively cut off his head,
Constructively speaking, but really not.

Constructively speaking, there aren't any trusts. The battle is won, and the armament rusts; the foe is undone, and the people are wreaking their vengeance fully, constructively speaking.

Constructively speaking—or that is to say
That we have constructively put them away;
So let us uplift an unanimous voice
In joy and constructively sing and rejoice.

The Budding Poet.

On Saturday old Jack Frost gave us a call, but we didn't mind it at all, for old Jack has been rather easy with us this fall. But it is now high time that the farmer sees, that the calves and pigs are well sheltered from the breeze. And if you think that it's worth while to have the lady of the house look out and see old Jack with a smile, why do not neglect the wood pile.—Bethany Correspondence in Thomas (Okla.) Tribune.

Harry Whitney, who is publishing his Arctic hunting story in Outing, engaged an Eskimo named Odspuddyfut. Odspuddyfut and I-took-a-shoo ought to make a great vaudeville team.

If Mr. Roosevelt has not been making any more hits of late than the Weather Bureau has been making, he probably is dead.

Mr. Popadoodle Demurs.

An exchange says Charles Popadoodle of Davies County wants his name changed "so he can get a wife." He claims the girls all draw the line on his name. All that is necessary is to cut out the "doodle" and leave the "Pop" stand, then the girls will be right onto him. They don't object to a man popping, but they do object to having him doodle around about it.—Rolla (Mo.) Sharpshooter.

Judge Landis is feeling pretty good, thank you.

Tariff Poem.

Lay away the hose supporter,
And the patent garter, too;
They are among the things no longer
And no earthly use to you.
Do not worry more, dear reader;
Drink no more its bitter cup,
Trust the good old Aldrich tariff—
It will keep your stockings up.

NOTES AND QUERIES

Answers to Questions From Readers of the Post-Dispatch.

Write but one question. No bets decided. Business addresses not given. Legal questions must be simple. Address "Answers," Post-Dispatch, using postal cards when convenient.

H. W. R.—See Answers Oct. 8.

R. R.—Stamp language, Sept. 12.

G. C. L.—Simply write "Land Office, Springfield, Mo."

P.-D READER.—To soften hair, massage with vaseline.

M. W. J.—Try writing to each medical college in the State.

SCHWARZ.—The Fourth of July is a legal holiday in Missouri.

L. C.—There must be no more than six rooms and bath and no less.

NOSEY.—Ethel Barrymore after January, Billie Burke next month.

H. 2.—In general, motor would be overheated and run at lower speed.

J. F. M.—St. Louisan pays $1 for a license to hunt in St. Louis County.

P. R.—F. M. Wilmot, secretary and manager, Carnegie Hero Fund, Pittsburg, Pa.

AN ELK.—Some reader may tell you where to find "The Organ Builder" poem.

GEORGE.—Wait until the scientists have pronounced finally upon the claims of Cook.

N. N.—When you go to a shower leave your presents with the hostess, then do as others do.

ANXIOUS BASS SINGER.—Write to some theatrical or vaudeville manager in New York or Chicago.

ANXIOUS.—Walking up stairs on your toes might heighten instep. If instep is breaking down, nothing can do it.

HOME SEEKER.—Write General Land Office, Washington, D. C., for full information in regard to land reclamation.

RUTH AND BERT.—On the street a lady's escort does not take her arm nor she his. See Answers Nov. [illegible] as to overcoat.

S. J. R.—A policeman found guilty of charges and reprimanded does not draw any salary for the period he was suspended.

R. R. R.—If the Board of Police Commissioners exonerate O'Hearn and reinstate him he will be entitled to the salary which accumulated during his suspension period.

I. W.—If conditions of contract as to payments of salary or employment are broken, suit may be brought at once; you need not wait until expiration of contract period.

IGNORANCE.—Reply to any invitation: Mr. and Mrs. James W. Jones accept with pleasure (or regret that they are unable to accept) Mr. and Mrs. ——'s kind invitation for, etc.

TRANSFERS.—The old transfers collected by the boys have no value. They are said to trade them with the street railroad for old ones in packages and they carry on a trade in them among themselves.

DON'T KNOW.—Read something and talk to your young man about what you have read. Or tell him something about the picture shows. Or speak of Thanksgiving and Christmas. Or interest yourself in something that interests him.

PATIENCE.—From the information obtained it seems that the building association you refer to has wound up its affairs. For particulars write Supervisor Building and Loan Associations, Jefferson City, Mo., inclosing stamped self-addressed envelope.

ANXIOUS.—Our advice is, that you pay, for you cannot claim exemptions to escape taxes should collection be forced. As to the subsequent years you can see Collector of taxes and have him look up to see whether any bills are in his hands against you.

TAXES.—There is a city ordinance prohibiting persons from sprinkling lawns without paying a hose license. The Water Department may not only shut off the water supply, but prosecute the guilty party under the ordinance. The punishment is a fine.

VIOLETS.—How you can loan your money to husband, keep title to it, and at the same time deprive him of his interest (a child's share) therein at your death, we inform you is hardly possible. By discarding one or the other, you can do so in a roundabout way. Consult an attorney, as we cannot go into details, space and time not permitting.

ANXIOUS.—Gypsum is a mineral. The translucent crystalline varieties are known as selenite; the ordinary massive forms and opaque crystals as gypsum; the finer granular semi-translucent massive kinds, as alabaster, and fibrous varieties as satin spar. Heated in kettles to 250 degrees Fahrenheit, it gives off its contained water and falls to a powder, which, if moistened, rapidly "sets" and assumes a solid form. Plaster of Paris is made from it by heating and subsequently grinding.

PARIS.—Ashtabula iron bridge disaster, Dec. 29, 1876. Of 147 persons on the train 72 were rescued alive, most of them badly injured; 75 were killed outright, burned to death or drowned. Ira D. Sankey, evangelist, was not on the train. He died Aug. 13, 1908. His hymn you mention has nothing suggestive of the disaster unless you happen to know of that occurrence. Philip Paul Bliss, evangelist and hymn writer, perished with his wife, on the train. There is now no bridge, the place having been filled and there being a culvert. The bones of those burned or drowned were collected and placed in the beautiful Chester Grove Cemetery and a monument was raised over them.

C. F. G.—In 1907 the State Health Officer of Texas issued a proclamation debarring from Texas persons of advanced tuberculosis. There is at El Paso a sanitarium for consumptives. Arizona and New Mexico are said to be the best places. Colorado, Asheville, N. C., and the pine region of Alabama have been recommended. The Illinois Board of Health says: Certain climates are good for certain consumptives, but the opinion of leading authorities is that no special climate has a specific curative power for consumption. Climate in consumption is a will-o'-the-wisp. It is the end of the rainbow with its pot of gold, ever just a little beyond. The outdoors treatment at home is best for these reasons: Separation from friends depresses the patient; the expense of a journey is a serious drain on resources; the fatigue of a journey is bad; lack of home comforts handicap efforts to effect a cure; even if the disease is cured the patient may not be able to return home; if the patient must work he can find no occupation.

DUET IN A DRUG STORE

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By ROY L. McCARDELL.

Young man—Or you!

Young lady (displaying letter)—I was just going into the drug store here to get a stamp. I'm writing to Clara Perkins. She's the dearest thing! We went to school together and were in the same sororities! I wish you knew her. She's the girl for you!

Young man (fatal error)—You're the girl for me!

Young lady—Well, you bold thing! Come on in with me till I get the stamp. And then, if you're good, you can walk down street with me.

Young man—I guess the druggists get rich on the big business they do selling stamps at cost, not to mention the patronage of the people who use the telephone and walk out without paying, the folks that stop in to see what time it is, the people who look up addresses in the directory and the countless children who come in to ask for almanacs and advertising cards.

Young lady—Isn't it terrible¼ You almost make me ashamed of going in to get a stamp.

(They enter drug store.)

Young Man (producing two cents)—Will you please give the young lady a stamp?

Young Lady (fumbling in handbag)—Now, you mustn't pay for it! You really mustn't! I won't let you! (Thrusts two pennies on druggist, who produces stamp with bored air.)

Young Man—Maudie—Miss Smithson, here's your stamp.

Young Lady (deeply engrossed in toilet preparations on counter)—They say this Toilettine is just lovely for the hair, and I've only brought some small change! Dear me!

Young Man—Bottle of Toilettine, please.

Cash Register—Ding!

Young Lady (taking bottle)—Now, you mustn't, you really mustn't! How much are these individual tooth brushes?

Druggist—They're something superfine, miss. You see, each comes in a glass tube that hangs on the holder this way, and you give your initials and I stamp them in with this automatic stamper—sanitary and hygienic, and cheap at a dollar.

Young Lady—I must come in tomorrow and get one.

Young Man (falling for it)—Permit me! (Passes over dollar bill.)

Cash Register—Ding!

Fat Man—Telephone?

Fat Man—Want long distance.

Druggist—Nothing doing! (Exit fat man.)

Druggist (manipulating initial stamper)—Used to get stung, but it's the local call slot telephone for me now.

Young Lady (while druggist is busy)—Oh, I forgot today was Ella Chickley's birthday. I must take her a box of bonbons! And I forgot—

Young Man (haughtily)—Give us the best.

Druggist—Thanks! Eighty out of five dollars.

Young Lady—Now, I think it's real mean of you to do this! But if you insist—

Young Man—Let me take the things, Maudie—Miss Smithson.

Small Boy ((looking in)—Got any almanacs, Mister?

Young Man (weakly)—How much?

Druggist—Two-sixty. Two-sixty, right! Cash Register—Ding!

Young Lady—Now, I won't permit you! You mustn't! You know you mustn't. Very well, then; you'll have to carry it, too!

Old Gentleman—May I look at your city directory, please?

Druggist—Over there on the desk. You put a penny in the slot and the directory unlocks.

Young Lady—That triple extract is so nice. I do love wood violet.

Druggist—That's the imported, Miss. Dollar a bottle.

Young Lady — Oh, some other time, thank you!

Young Man—Now, Maudie; let me get it for you.

Druggist—Dollar, right!

Cash Register—Ding!

Young Man—Have a nut sundae?

Young Lady—Why, Mr. Hankinson, you will think I brought you in here to buy things for me! Very well, put maraschino cherries in, too.

(Street outside drug store.)

Young Lady—Thank you, SO much, Mr. Hankinson! I'll take the things, I've got to run right away, as I have an engagement! And will you mail this letter for me? And you won't mind. Mr. Hankinson, if I should ask you not to call me by my first name. I'm going with Fred, you know, and he's so jealous! Besides, you know, I'm such a stickler for the conventions. Good-by! You were so kind! (Exit.)

SMART SETS.

THE mind's eye shows us love as the oasis in the Sahara of life; so, together, two set out to seek the haven of rest in the great journey. But, as the travelers approach, their paradise recedes; in just such measure as the pilgrims hasten their Mecca retreats. Love is a witching chimera—life's most beautiful optical illusion.

Why do we labor in this world? The attainable nobody wants; the unattainable nobody can have.

There is nothing like the clutch of conventionality for squeezing the breath out of individuality.

As a place of residence, a fool's paradise is to be preferred to a hell of reality.

No Hobnobbing.

Mrs. Askit: When she goes abroad, does she hobnob with royalty?

Mrs. Nonaught: Mercy, no! Her behavior is always extremely proper.

Not the Right Atmosphere.

Mrs. Askit: Do you intend to have an Italian garden on your place?

Mrs. Nurich: No. I'm afraid I could never get used to that garlic smell.

She Made a Name for Him.

Mrs. Benham: Many a man owes his success in life to his wife.

Benham: Yes, Adam would never have been heard from if Eve hadn't given him the apple.

THE MAN IN LOWER TEN

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
Author of "The Circular Staircase"
(Copyright, 1909, Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Lawrence (Lollie) Blakeley of Blakeley & McKnight tells the story. He goes to Pittsburg to take the deposition of Millionaire John Gilmore, whose name has been forged to four notes by Bronson. Gilmore is ill and cannot go to Washington for trial. McKnight is interested in Gilmore's granddaughter. Allison West, whose father was a "rapscallion" and a friend of the forger Bronson. Blakeley is told some one was in a vacant house adjoining his home, who watched his disposition of the forged notes, and he changed them from his coat to his bag. During the night his coat is stolen from his berth. On the return trip he buys lower 10 in the Pullman and lower 11 for a woman whom he does not know, but who speaks to him while he is at the Pullman window. He finds lower 10 is already occupied, and is changed to lower 9. Being nervous, he goes out to the vestibule clad only in his pajamas and bathrobe. He sees a woman with bronze hair. She flees from him with an extraordinary expression of horror on her face. He finds fragment of a telegram "—ower ten; car seve—" Seven is the number of his car. By mistake he sneaks in berth No. 7, and in the morning finds that his bag and clothes are missing from No. 9, while the clothes left by some man in No. 7 are of fine linen. A card and a gunmetal cigarette case, cards bearing the name of Henry Pinckney Sullivan and other articles, in the midst of Blakeley's excitement over this discovery he meets in the aisle a young woman in blue with an unforgettable face, whom he thinks he has seen elsewhere. The porter tries to arouse the man in lower 10, but finds that he is dead, stabbed through the heart. A card with the name, Simon Harrington, is found on him. Under the pillow of No. 7 an irrepressible amateur detective finds a narrow steel dirk. The pillow is bloody. A small black satchel belonging to the missing man contains a Russia leather wallet marked with the name Simon Harrington. In it is found money and three or four inches of fine gold chain, stained with blood. Blakeley is practically accused of the murder when the train is wrecked. When Blakeley recovers from unconsciousness the girl in blue is bending over him. His hand and wrist are broken. He and the girl leave the wreck and he learns that she is Allison West, Gilmore's granddaughter and Richey McKnight's fiame. They stop at an empty farmhouse and have breakfast. Something happens there which Blakeley does not understand. Miss West is plainly very much agitated. Blakeley puts her gold purse in his pocket for safekeeping. While confined to bed in his home Blakeley learns that lights have been seen in the empty house next door and that some person or persons there has been watching his house. His doctor tells of operating on one of the wreck victims whose skull was crushed. She had a wealth of bronze hair, he says. Blakeley almost captures a woman in the house next door to his home. He goes to a moving picture show with McKnight and sees a picture of the wrecked train taken two miles before the wreck. A man is leaping from the Pullman step. Blakeley, McKnight and the amateur detective find the man sprained his ankle and remained in the Carter place, near the scene of the wreck. He left there more pieces of the torn telegram. It was signed Br—, supposed to be Bronson. Blakeley tries to be loyal to McKnight, but he tells Allison West that he loves her.

CHAPTER XXIII.

I SLEPT most of the way to Cresson, to the disgust of the little detective. Finally he struck up an acquaintance with a kindly-faced old priest on his way home to his convent school, armed with a roll of dance music and surreptitious bundles that looked like boxes of candy. From scraps of conversation I gleaned that there had been mysterious occurrences at the convent, ending in the theft of what the reverend father called vaguely, "a quantity of undermuslins." I dropped asleep at that point, and when I roused a few moments later, the conversation had progressed. Hotchkiss had a diagram on an envelope.

It was raining when we reached Cresson, a wind-driven rain that had forced the agent at the news stand to close himself in, and that beat back from the rails in parallel lines of white spray. As he went up the main street, Hotchkiss was cheerfully oblivious of the weather, of the threatening dusk, of our generally draggled condition. My draggled condition, I should say, for he improved every moment, his eyes brighter, his ruddy face ruddier, his collar newer and glossier. Some time, when it does not encircle the little man's neck, I shall test that collar with a match.

I ducked into the next shelter, which happened to be the yawning entrance to a livery stable, and shook myself, dog fashion. Hotchkiss wiped his collar with his handkerchief. It emerged gleaming and unwilted.

I sat down on the usual chair without a back, just inside the door, and stared out at the darkening street.

Hotchkiss had penetrated the steaming interior of the cave, and now his voice, punctuated by the occasional thud of horses' hoofs, came to me.

"Something light will do," he was saying. "A runabout, perhaps." He came forward rubbing his hands, followed by a man in overalls. "Mr. Peck says," he began—"this is Mr. Peck of Peck & Peck—says that the place we are looking for is about seven miles from the town."

While they harnessed the horse, Hotchkiss told me what he had learned. "Six Curtises in the town and vicinity," he said. "Sort of family name around here. One of them is a telegraph operator at the station. Person we are looking for is—was—a wealthy widow with a brother—named Sullivan! Both supposed to have been killed on the Flier."

"Her brother," I repeated stupidly.

"You see," Hotchkiss went on, "three people, in one party, took the train here that night, Miss West, Mrs. Curtis and Sullivan. The two women had the drawing room, Sullivan had lower seven. What we want to find out is just who these people were, where they came from, if Bronson knew them, and how Miss West became entangled with them. She may have married Sullivan, for one thing."

I fell into gloom after that. The roan was led unwillingly into the weather, Hotchkiss and I in eclipse behind the blanket. The liveryman stood in the doorway and called directions to us.

"You can't miss it," he finished. "Got the name over the gate, anyhow, 'The Laurels.' The servants are still there; leastways, we didn't bring them down." He even took a step into the rain as Hotchkiss picked up the lines. "If you're going to settle the estate," he bawled, "don't forget us, Peck & Peck. A half-bushel of name and a bushel of service."

Hotchkiss showed a disposition to be surly. The rain, which had lessened for a time, came on again, the lightning flashes doing more than anything else to reveal our isolated position.

And then through the rain-spattered window of the blanket I saw a light. It was a small light, rather yellow, and it lasted perhaps thirty seconds. Hotchkiss missed it, and was inclined to doubt me. But in a couple of minutes the roan hobbled to the side of the road and stopped, and I made out a break in the pines and an arched gate.

It was a small gate, too narrow for the buggy. I pulled the horse into as much shelter as possible under the trees, and we got out. Hotchkiss tied the beast, and we left him there, head down against the driving rain, drooping and dejected. Then we went toward the house.

It was a long walk. The path bent and twisted, and now and then we lost it. We were climbing as we went. Oddly, there were no lights ahead, although it was only 10 o'clock—not later. Hotchkiss kept a little ahead of me, knocking into trees now and then, but finding the path in half the time I should have taken. Once, as I felt my way around a tree in the blackness, I put my hand unexpectedly on his shoulder, and felt a shudder go down my back.

The occasional relief of the lightning was gone. I could not see an outline of the house before me. We had no matches, and an instant's investigation showed that the windows were boarded and the house closed. Hotchkiss, recumbent, was ascertaining the damage to a leg that had been in contact with an urn.

"Upon my soul," he said finally, "I don't know whether this moisture is blood or rain. I think I've broken a bone."

"Blood is thicker than water," I suggested. "Is it sticky? See if you can move your toes."

There was a pause; Hotchkiss moved his toes. By that time I had found a knocker and was making the night hideous. But there was no response save the wind that blew sodden leaves derisively in our faces. Once Hotchkiss declared he heard a window sash lifted, but renewed violence with the knocker produced no effect.

"There's only one thing to do," I said finally. "I'll go back and try to bring the buggy up for you. You can't walk, can you?"

Hotchkiss sat back in his puddle and said he didn't think he could stir, but for me to go back to town and leave him, that he didn't have any family dependent on him, and that if he was going to have pneumonia he had probably got it already. I left him there, and started back to get the horse.

Only by a miracle did I find the little gate again. I drew a long breath of relief, followed by another equally long, of dismay. For I had found the hitching strap and there was nothing at the end of it! In a lull of the wind I seemed to hear, far off, the eager trud of stable-bound feet. So, for the second time I climbed the slope to the Laurels, and on the way I thought of many things to say.

I found Hotchkiss at last around an angle of the stone wall, and told him that the horse was gone. He was disconcerted, but not abased; maintaining that it was a new kind of knot that couldn't slip and that the horse must have chewed the halter through! He was less enthusiastic than I had expected about the window.

I swung my feet over the sill and dropped. I made a clutch at the window frame with my good hand when I found no floor under my feet and landed with a crash that seemed to split my ear drums. I was thoroughly shaken, but in some miraculous way the bandaged arm had escaped injury.

"For heaven's sake," Hotchkiss was calling from above, "have you broken your back?"

"No," I returned, as steadily as I could, "merely driven it up through my skull. This is a staircase. I'm coming up to open another window."

It was eerie work, but I accomplished it finally, discovering, not without misstep, a room filled with more tables than I had ever dreamed of. By accident I stumbled across a tabouret with smoking materials, and found a half-dozen matches. The first one showed us the magnitude of the room we stood in, and revealed also a brass candlestick by the open fireplace, a candlestick almost four feet high, supporting a candle of similar colossal proportions. It was Hotchkiss who discovered that it had been recently lighted. He held the match to it and peered at it over his glasses.

"Within ten minutes," he announced, impressively, "this candle has been burning. Look at the wax! And the wick! Both are soft."

In the light of the candle we surveyed each other, and we were objects of mirth. Hotchkiss was taking off his sodden shoes and preparing to make himself comfortable, while I hung my muddy raincoat over the ghost in the corner. Thus habited, he presented a rakish, but distinctly more comfortable appearance.

I have no idea how much time had passed when something threw itself violently on my chest. I roused with a start and leaped to my feet, and a large Angora cat fell with a thump to the floor. The fire was still bright, and there was an odor of scorched leather through the room, from Hotchkiss' shoes. The little detective was sound asleep, his dead pipe in his fingers. The cat sat back on its haunches and wailed.

The curtain at the door into the hallway bellied slowly out into the room and fell again. The cat looked toward it and opened its mouth for another howl. I thrust at it with my foot, but it refused to move. Hotchkiss stirred uneasily, and his pipe clattered to the floor.

The cat was standing at my feet, staring behind me. Apparently it was following with its eyes an object unseen to me, that moved behind me. The tip of its tail waved threateningly, but when I wheeled I saw nothing.

The emptiness, the stillness were oppressive. Once I heard footsteps coming, rhythmical steps that neither hurried nor dragged, and seemed to mount endless staircases without coming any closer. I realized finally that I had not quite turned off the tap, and that the lavatory, which I had circled to reach, must be quite close.

The cat lay by the fire, its nose on its folded paws, content in the warmth and companionship. I watched it idly. Now and then the green wood hissed in the fire, but the cat never batted an eye. Through an unshuttered window the lightning flashed. Suddenly the cat looked up. It lifted its head and stared directly at the gallery above. Then it blinked, and stared again. I was amused. Not until it had got up on its feet, eyes still riveted on the balcony, tail waving at the tip, the hair on its back a bristling brush, did I glance casually over my head.

From among the shadows a face gazed down at me, a face that seemed a fitting tenant of the ghostly room below. I saw it as plainly as I might see my own face in a mirror. While I stared at it with horrified eyes, the apparition faded. The rail was there, the Bokhara rug still swung from it, but the gallery was empty.

The cat threw back its head and wailed.

By HELEN ROWLAND.

But he's got a basement suite,

Nowadays a man's heart is covered by such a thick layer of resistance that he doesn't even know that he is in love with a girl until she explains it to him with a diagram.

Strange how a husband never seems to be able to understand why his wife can't dress as well on an income of $50 a week as a chorus girl can on $15.

Success in love making, as in cooking, consists in never letting the fire go out.

It is almost as hard for a woman to believe that a man is in love with her if he isn't jealous of her as it is for her to be in love with him if he is.

A wink to the wise is sufficient, but it requires several nudges under the table to awaken the average husband out of his day-dream at a dinner party.

If a man loves his wife he can forgive her for breaking the Ten Commandments, but not for leaving her hair in the comb.

Married people are so uninteresting because at first they are too happy to talk about anything but their joys, and afterward too unhappy to talk about anything but their troubles.

The wise shall dwell in a bachelor flat—but fools shall marry and go to housekeeping.

The Tragedy of Old Maidenhood.

BUT this—this is the tragic part of being an old maid. You find men of your own age basking in the smiles of pretty girlets of 18 or so, with never a glance in your direction. And those who seem attracted to you are old beaus of hoary head and tottering step, callow youths who are too young for the 18-year-olds to notice, who fall in love with you violently and hint darkly at running away with you as soon as they have saved up enough money. And—oh, more dangerous than all the rest—those dear men, a few—only a few—years older than yourself, married to careless, extravagant, thoughtless wives, who live the butterfly life and crave the attentions of other men—any men save those who belong to them. These men, plodding away in the harness to earn money for the Paquin gowns and Lewis hats, and starving for sympathy and love and companionship, realizing too late that they and all their sacrifices are taken as a matter of course by their wives, craving the love for which they have been cheated into paying the great price and finding that it is only counterfeit—and pleading, oh, so eloquently, with their poor, starved hearts in their voices, for friendship and understanding and camaraderie—for all that you may give and all that they may take.

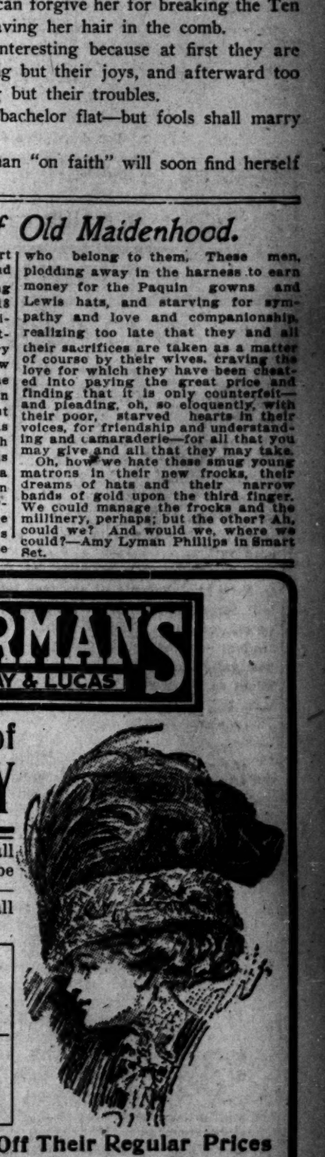

Oh, how we hate these smug young matrons in their new frocks, their dreams of hats and their narrow bands of gold upon the third finger. We could manage the frocks and the millinery, perhaps; but the other? Ah, could we? And would we, where we could?—Amy Lyman Phillips in Smart Set.

GIRLS WORK IN BOYS' CLOTHES

CADILLAC, Mich., Nov. 23.—Sadie and Lena Robinson, farmer's daughters living near Cadillac, have gained considerable fame since the story got out that, dressed in boy's attire, they picked up 1800 bushels of potatoes on neighboring farms.

They found the work easy in such attire, and were able to make good wages.

MANY RAILROAD COMPANIES HIT BY OIL DECISION

Huge Holding Corporations Planning to Change Their Corporate Forms.

MINORITY IN CONTROL

By Forming Pyramids a Few Financiers Vastly Increase Their Power.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—In anticipation of the Standard Oil decision by the United States Circuit Court at St. Louis, some of the largest holding companies in the country have prepared plans for changing their corporate form should the decision be upheld by the Supreme Court. There is no scare or hurry in the financial district, but a great deal of discussion as to what holding companies come within the scope of the decision and what ones escape.

The Court's order distinctly forbade the parent Standard company from voting the stock or exercising control over the subordinate companies in which it has stock ownership, and on the other hand stops these companies from handing up their profits in the form of dividends.

Nearly all the large railroad companies of the country are the result of combinations and amalgamations in some form, but only within comparatively recent years was there generally adopted the plan of building a pyramid of many small companies, forming a broad base and gradually centering financial control in a relatively small company at the apex. Sometimes this scheme is started at the top and worked downward.

Minority Can Control.

It is necessary only to own 51 per cent of the stock of a company to control it, or in the case of widely scattered stock a solid block of 33 per cent is sufficient. Mr. Harriman and his small group of personal associates were minority holders of Union Pacific, but they absolutely controlled it.

Companies organized on the same lines as Standard Oil and therefore affected by the decision are as follows:

Atlantic Coast Line Co., a holding corporation under the laws of Connecticut, capital $12,600,000, controlling $60,000,000 of railroad capital.

Railroad Holding Companies.

Rock Island Co., a New Jersey holding company, capital $150,000,000, owning through subsidiary companies $500,000,000 of railroad stocks and thereby controlling probably twice that amount.

Union Pacific Railroad Co., capital $300,000,000, owning $353,000,000 stocks of other companies, absolutely controlling companies capitalized at $1,000,000,000 and exerting strong influence in companies capitalized at $500,000,000 more.

New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Co., capital $178,000,000, owning $142,000,000 of other securities and controlling approximately $500,000,000 of railroad capital.

KELLOGG DECLARES DECISION DOES DISSOLVE STANDARD OIL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 23.—Frank B. Kellogg, special Assistant Attorney-General for the Government, in charge of the Standard Oil case, said today with positiveness that the decree handed down by the Circuit Court of Appeals on Saturday does in its effect dissolve the Standard Oil Co. as such.

This means that if the decree is sustained by the Supreme Court an appeal to which must be filed within 30 days, the Standard Oil Trust will go absolutely out of existence, unless some ingenious plan for evading the letter of the decree is constructed by those who are paid princely salaries for legal advice.

Mr. Kellogg's statement came as a reply to a statement of Mortimer F. Elliot, general counsel for the Standard Oil Co., who said in New York:

"The decree does not order a dissolution of the Standard Oil Co. That is a misunderstanding. What the decree orders, as I now understand it, is that the company shall distribute among its stockholders, of whom there are approximately 5000, its holdings in the stock of subsidiary companies."

When Mr. Kellogg read this statement he replied sharply:

"The decree doesn't order any such thing. Mr. Elliot had evidently not carefully read the decree if he made that statement. The decree enjoins the Standard Oil Co. from continuing combination control of its subsidiary companies and its effect is that this does dissolve the Standard Oil Co."

"Finally and completely?"

"Yes, finally and completely. The language of the decree is too plain to be misunderstood."

CRIMINAL PROSECUTION OF ROCKEFELLER IS POSSIBLE

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—It was made clear at the Department of Justice today that whatever may be its future intentions regarding the Standard Oil Co., the Government has never impaired its legal rights to proceed criminally against John D. Rockefeller and the officers of the Oil Trust.

It does not appear that the Government intends taking any further legal steps in the case until the Supreme Court has passed on the decision just handed down. This was the attitude of the previous administration. The criminal prosecution card was kept up the sleeve of the law office with a view of springing it in case circumstances demanded it.

Every precaution was taken to avoid giving any of the Trust officials an immunity bath. When Judge Landis examined John D. Rockefeller in the noted $29,000,000 fine case it was feared for a time that the Oil King had been absolved from criminal responsibility, but search of the records convinced the Department of Justice that this was not true.

Wade Ellis, assistant to the Attorney-General, said today that the department had not reached any decision contrary to that of the former administration. Attorney-General Wickersham denied himself to callers. He went over some details of the Standard's case, and will explain it to the President and the members of the Cabinet.

The least the Government will do is to hold the threat of criminal prosecution over the heads of the Trust officials in order to force them to make no attempt to perpetuate the monopoly by some subterfuge.

ROADS IN BIDDING CONTEST WITH B. F. YOAKUM AS PRIZE

Rock Island Chairman Undecided as to Plans for the Future.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The mix-up in the affairs of the Rock Island System over the prospective retirement of B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the executive board, still is unsettled and doubt is expressed in some quarters as to whether he will switch his allegiance. The numerous conferences which have been held by Mr. Yoakum, Judge Moore, President Winchell and Edward Hawley have given rise to the belief that competitive bidding is going on for Mr. Yoakum's services.

One story running is that Mr. Yoakum, recognizing the opportunity presented by the unusual situation, is placing a high valuation on his services, and ultimately will be found in the ranks which can give him the greatest power. If he thinks that by taking hold of the various Hawley railroads, something of a hodge-podge at present, and make of them a great system, and do it under conditions which will guarantee a recognition of the fact that the success is the product of his genius, then he will go to the Hawleys. On the other hand, if his Rock Island associates will agree to a policy of extension to make the Rock Island a far greater system than it is at present, the policy to be developed by him, then he will remain with the Moores.

CAUSE OF ECZEMA EXPLAINED.

After years of debate medical authorities are now agreed that Eczema and other skin diseases are not seated in the blood, but are caused by germs in the skin. Myriads of microscopic animals gnaw the flesh just below the epidermis. The patient is perfectly healthy, it is only the skin that is diseased. Hence, scientists are now agreed that you must cure the skin through the skin.

The medicine must be in liquid form in order to penetrate properly. And we can say with confidence that we have the true remedy for Eczema in our store. It is the mild Oil of Wintergreen wash known as D. D. D. Prescription, and on a special offer just now we are able to give you a bottle in a large trial size at only 25c.

The instant you wash with this soothing liquid you will find the itch relieved. We positively assure you of this. Will you try a bottle on our recommendation?

Nervous Headache

"I know from experience that Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will relieve severe cases of headache quickly." MRS. GEO. S. HENRY, Sullivan, Wash.

In many persons the least excitement, exertion or irritation causes headache. They cannot attend church, theatre, places of amusement, travel, or mingle in a crowd without suffering an attack of headache. The nerves of the brain are easily excited, and this irritable condition causes pain. Such persons should take

Life Isn't Worth Living

When This Statement Is Made It May be Generally Attributed to the Lack of Good Health.

We want to talk to people who are nervous, who suffer frequent headaches, who don't enjoy their food, who are irritable, quickly lose their temper, who are so exhausted that they feel they must give up, and have become so despondent that life doesn't seem worth living. We believe we know what is the matter with these people in this condition, and if they will follow our advice we can tell them how to regain good health and that buoyancy of feeling which makes life seem surrounded with happiness and sunshine.

Most of the above described conditions are chiefly caused by what is commonly called catarrh, a "below par" condition of mucous membranes. The delicate lining of certain of the body cavities becomes weakened, inflamed and congested until the whole system is weakened, mental depression coming as one of the results. The wise way to overcome this condition is through treatment of the general system. We have the treatment, and we are so positive it will produce the results we claim for it that we will supply it to any one with the understanding that we will return to them every penny paid us in every instance where the treatment is not in every way satisfactory and beneficial to them.

We want you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, which is a scientifically prepared alternative tonic and body builder, its action being to aid the body in its effort to re-establish the natural and healthy functions of the mucous membranes.

Rexall Mucu-Tone thus acts to expel the "catarrhal poison," restore the mucous cells to good health, tone up the whole body, allay inflammation, remove congestion and stimulate the system to healthy activity. It is splendid for aiding in the building up of flesh and muscle tissue and removing weaknesses.

Come to our store and get a bottle of Mucu-Tone, and after giving it a reasonable trial, if you are not satisfied, simply tell us so, and we will hand back your money without question. Surely nothing could be more fair than this. Rexall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in St. Louis only at our store—The Rexall Store. MRS. RUFUS DELANO introduced her debutante daughter, Miss Elinor Delano, to society Tuesday afternoon at the St. Louis Woman's Club. The decorations were violets and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Delano was gowned in blue-gray brocaded satin and crystal garniture. Miss Delano's gown was white satin and she carried yellow pearl roses.

The ladies assisting Mrs. Delano were Mmes. August A. Busch, Irene Sanford, J. Van S. Barrett, Frederick Gardner, Edward L. Preetorius, Harry McCormack and Monroe Harkins. The debutantes assisting Miss Delano were Misses Malotte Houser, Callie Ives, Alby Mason, Louise E. Nugent, Gladys Beach, Reba Cole, Mildred Prince, Helen Bonsack, Ida Young, Kyle Adams and Airie Jones.

Mr. Daniel Houser entertained at the Woman's Club last night for his daughter, Miss Malotte Houser. The ballroom was decorated in Maryland roses, tied with wide bows of pale blue satin ribbon. The receiving party included Mr. Houser and Miss Houser, Mr. and Mrs. Aderton, Mr. and Mrs. R. Waldron Shapleigh, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Ray.

Miss Houser was gowned in white chiffon over white satin with loops of crystal. Mrs. Aderton was in white with touches of amethyst velvet and pearls. Miss Shapleigh was gowned in white brocaded satin, trimmed in rose point lace. Mrs. Ray's toilet was cream satin, veiled in net.

Mrs. Douglass Robert has sent out cards for a mixed tea to be given for the beaux and belles Thanksgiving day from 4 to 6 o'clock. The affair is in honor of her niece, Miss Eugenia Blow Miltenberger, one of the season's prettiest debutantes. The young girls that will "float" for Miss Miltenberger are Misses Sophie Fishback, Cornelia Garrison, Malotte Houser and Mary Turner. Mrs. Robert has asked several of her married friends to assist her in chaperoning the young people.

Mrs. Isaac D. Kelley of 5232 Washington boulevard has issued cards for a reception Monday, Nov. 29, from 4 to 6 o'clock, to meet her debutante daughter, Miss Virginia Kelley.

The members of the St. Louis Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold their first meeting Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Cabanne Library rooms, Union and Cabanne avenues, at which time the report of the recent State Conference at Cape Girardeau will be made.

Miss Esther Weiss of 1805 Carr street entertained her friends Friday night with a musical. Those present were: Misses Bessie Silver, Mary Waltham, Sadie Lasofsky, Henrietta Brown, Mamie Jackman, Leah Goldstein and Mamie Goldstein; Messrs. Meyer L. Prensky, Harry Walpert, Morris Parnass, Harry Jacobs, Ely Parnass and Isidore Silver.

Mrs. Ernest H. Tittgemeyer gave a luncheon Wednesday at her home, 4232 Warne avenue.

Miss Ruth Weil was given a surprise party Monday in honor of her birthday. The house was decorated in Japanese lanterns, ferns and carnations. The guests were: Misses Nelson, Grahl, Dowling, Herman, Abrahams, Weil, Ill and Haenschen; Messrs. Roat, Filstead, Goldwasser, Weil, Haenschen, Habenicht and Goeuling.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Mossler of 4744 Cote Brilliante avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Anna, to John Pfeiffer.

On Tuesday evening Miss Elinor Miller entertained Miss Clayton's and Miss Kiel's classes of Centenary members at her home on Randolph street. A flashlight photograph of the group was taken. Misses Elinor Miller and Violette Schuelte received the guests. Among those present were Misses Molly Clayton, Fridie Uhdan, Susie Simmons, Fannie Linberg, Ella Donnboucker, Violette Schuette, Millie Bulett, Gertrude Donnboucker and Nellie Roemnuck; Messrs. George Purson, Charles Robinson, Charles Cumer, Joe Compa, John Tansell, Charles Smith and George Parsell.

Miss Hazel Ziegler of 3323 Halliday avenue entertained Monday with a handkerchief shower for Miss Edythe Damerst, a bride of Thursday. Some of the guests were: Misses Geisel, Nieman, Cartwright, Sensenbrienner, Verborg, Boechler, Allyn, Conrades, Newell, Cone, Stifel and Mrs. Arthur Bluemeyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bode announce the engagement of their daughter, Mabel Margaret, to Henry H. Heidoen. The wedding will be celebrated Thanksgiving night at 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. F. C. Bonsack of 5275 Westminster place entertained with a buffet luncheon yesterday afternoon for her daughter, Miss Helen Bonsack. Many of the season's debutantes were present.

ZEBRA, JACKASS AND COMMON PLUG BLOOD MAKE THIS HORSE A RAREBIT DREAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A light buggy came across Fifty-seventh street today with a pleasant-faced man of tanned skin and grizzled hair upon the seat, while a weird, incongruous animal, like the creature of a rarebit dream, was between the shafts. The animal was as tall as a horse and of a horse's general proportions. It had the tail of a mule, but the ears were only those of a horse in length and a stiff, bristly mane stood up straight along the neck of the curious creature. Faint stripes ran up and down the ribs of the monstrosity, making dark bands upon a surface of lighter brown, all completing the most bewildering vision seen uptown in many ages.

"Where did you get him, friend?" queried a mounted policeman, with sociable curiosity. The driver halted, smiling, and gave due explanation.

"This fellow," said he, "came with me from Capetown, South Africa, and is quite a pet of mine, even though he does attract a lot of notice and looks like something escaped from the jimjams. His grandfather was a plain, honest, everyday horse. His grandmother was a zebra. His mother was half-horse and half-zebra and his father was an African jackass. The combination shows traces of all his people, and I fancy he does look rather perplexing. Nice animal, though, perfectly gentle, and a fine roadster, so I don't care what he looks like, or what people say. "Giddap."

FIGHTS SISTER IN WILL CONTEST

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—An order signed by Vice-Chancellor Stevens at Newark dismisses a bill filed some time ago by Louis A. Halsey of Elizabeth, in an action to restrain his sister, Lena P. Halsey, from disposing of any of the estate of their mother, Henrietta A. Halsey, pending a decision in an appeal which he had taken in a fight that he was making for a share of the estate.

Mrs. Halsey was the widow of the author of "Old Sleuth" stories, and when she died she left her estate to her daughter, stating in her will that she did so because the son had already received his share. Halsey filed a caveat against the will, but the Orphans' Court decided against him.

HARPER'S BAZAR

Christmas Number

Now Ready For You

The Christmas number of Harper's Bazar will be of special personal interest to every American woman for these reasons:

First—Because, beginning with this number, the Bazar goes into its new, greatly enlarged, greatly improved form.

Second—Because Harper's Bazar is edited and published on the theory that a great, successful magazine for American women must be edited up to them, not down to them.

Third—Because the Bazar is indispensable to every American woman with ambition to make the most of life for herself and for her family. It "sets the fashion." It is accepted as the final American authority on questions of good form and entertainment. It "stands for" rational economy, self development, Woman in the home, and Woman outside of the home.

Max, a Novel. Chapter I. . . By Katherine Cecil Thurston
Illustrated by Frank Craig of London (Author of "The Masquerader")

The Woman in Love . . . . . By Gertrude Atherton
Illustrated by Alice Barber Stephens

Marjorie Fleming, The Wonder Child . . By Mark Twain
Illustrated by Emily Hall Chamberlin

Rose Brocade, a Story . . . . . By Alice Brown
Illustrated by Peter Newell

The Christmas Truce, a Poem . . By Julia Ward Howe

The Biography of a Boy . By Josephine Daskam Bacon
Illustrated by Rose O'Neill (A sequel to "The Memoirs of a Baby")

Illustrated by Blanche Greer

French and American Fashions . . . By Marie Olivier
Illustrated by Ethel and Guy Rose of Paris.

AND

New York Society at Work . By Ralph Pulitzer
The wittiest, most interesting, most intimate and comprehensive study of society that has been written in years.

These are a few features, selected almost at random. They show the quality of the number, don't they?

In addition the Bazar will have page upon page of the best domestic material, the most helpful and practical departments, the most interesting and stimulating criticism and suggestion to be found anywhere.

Conners Believes Mayor-Elect Big Enough for Presidency.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—When William J. Conners, chairman of the New York State Democratic Committee, was asked if he was advocating the candidacy of mayor-elect William J. Gaynor for governor, he replied:

"William J. Gayner is one of the biggest men, if not the biggest man in the country. He is big enough to be President, and I shall be surprised if he is not the Democratic nominee in 1912."

My Only Medicine.

Miss Kathern Swain, a popular young lady of Dayton, Ohio, when weak, tired and run down, takes Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey—her only medicine—which gives her health, strength, and energy. Miss Swain recommends it to all in need of a health-producing tonic stimulant.

On January 9, 1909, Miss Swain wrote: "When I have a cough, or when tired, weak, and generally run down, I take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which helps me wonderfully. I take no other medicine, and can recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a tonic."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain, great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus producing a liquid food, requiring no digestion, in the form of a medicinal whiskey, which is one of the most effective tonic stimulants and invigorators known to science; its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

If weak and run down, take a teaspoonful four times a day in half a glass of milk or water.

WOMEN THRONG TO DEBATE ON ENGLISH BUDGET

Duchesses and Marchionesses Wait Two Hours for Entrance to Gallery.

SCRAMBLE FOR SEATS

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The House of Lords presented a scene of exceptional brilliance and animation when the Marquis of Lansdowne opened the debate on his motion which, in effect, is to kill the budget passed by the House of Commons. The press of Tory peers was so great that they overflowed on the Liberal benches, swamping the handful of nobles who support the Government. The peeresses were crushed together in their gallery, while at the doors they stood in clusters striving to get a glimpse of the House.

For two hours before the galleries were opened, Duchesses, Marchionesses and other select persons waited patiently in line, and when admission was gained they made an undignified scramble for seats, in which dresses were torn and elaborate hats knocked away.

King Manuel of Portugal was a serious counter attraction to Lord Lansdowne, to whose speech the youthful monarch listened with exemplary patience, though he looked at his watch half a dozen times. The Portuguese Minister, the Marquis of Soveral, sat beside the King, pointing out notable English peers. But Manuel showed more interest when Soveral singled out notable peeresses for his attention.

Ambassador Reid and Secretary Carter had the best places in the diplomatic gallery.

Lords Claim More Power.

The debate, which will last three days, was dull, but contained two pronouncements of the gravest importance. Lord Lansdowne claimed for the Lords coordinate power with the Commons—to be consulted on questions of finance. Hitherto their highest claim was to reject a finance bill if they disapproved of it.

Lord Chancellor Loreburn declared that no Liberal government can ever accept office again unless provision is made against a repetition of the treatment accorded to Liberal bills in the last four years.

This means that either the Lords must consent to a limitation of their veto power or the King must agree to create a sufficiency of peers to swamp the present permanent Tory majority in the House of Lords.

Lord Lansdowne quoted precedents to show that although the House of Lords cannot amend a finance bill, it has full right to discuss it and to throw it out if it so wills.

"Besides," he said, "the present bill has tacked onto it legislation, such as land taxation and increased license duties, which the House of Lords has already rejected and which has been placed in the bill with a view to ousting the Lords from their legitimate opportunity of dealing with these measures. No self-respecting Second Cabinet would tolerate such treatment.

"What is to prevent home rule from being introduced in the finance bill? There is no limit to such abuses. The Unionists oppose license duties because they are crushing in their severity; the same applies to land taxes. The people, not having been consulted, have a clear duty, not to decree the final extinction of the bill, but to insist that before it becomes a law the country shall be allowed an expression of opinion.

Ready to Face Consequences.

"The Lords have carefully considered the consequences of the rejection of the bill and are ready to face them.

Lord Loreburn replied: "There is nothing in the bill foreign to finance, with which the House of Commons has the exclusive right to deal. The attempt of the Lords to interfere is the beginning of a system which would lead to constitutional revolution. What is embodied in the bill is not new either in the United States or Germany, and has been approved not only by the present, but by the late House of Commons."

After the Lord High Chancellor, many peers addressed the House, but interest waned.

Watchman Badly Burned.

Robert Krause, 1718 Goode avenue, watchman at the Robert M. Collins Carriage Woodwork Co.'s factory at Vandeventer and Chouteau avenues, was badly burned about the face and hands while attempting to extinguish a fire in the boiler room of the plant Monday night. The damage is estimated at $7000.

Moving Pictures for the Poorhouse.

Miss Cora Hofman, 4141 West Belle place, will receive all donations sent her to buy a moving picture machine to cost about $200, with which to give entertainments in the large hall just completed on the City Poorhouse grounds for the benefit of the 1300 inmates. These entertainments will be interesting and instructive. A generous St. Louisan will donate the films and electric apparatus. It is a worthy charity, everybody should contribute.

Grab $2000 in Gems and Flee.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—The jewelry store of Jensen Brothers was robbed of jewelry valued at $2000 last night when two thieves threw a brick through a show window and grabbed two trays of diamond rings. E. J. Jenson, one of the members of the firm who was in the store, chased the thieves for a block before they escaped.

AUSTRIAN IS SUSPECTED OF PLOT TO POISON SIXTEEN OF HIS BROTHER OFFICERS

If Found Guilty He Will Be Told to Commit Suicide and Avoid Army Scandal.

Copyright, 1909, by Press Pub Co. (New York World.)

VIENNA, Nov. 23.—The War Minister has offered a reward of $400 for a clew to the person or persons who tried to poison 16 officers recently promoted to be captains and attached to the general staff of the army.

Every army officer and the newspapers are watching anxiously for the outcome of this attempt to kill some of the most capable young commanders in the army.

It is believed that the man who attempted the wholesale poisoning is himself an Austrian army officer. If this suspicion proves true, a certain time will be given him in which to commit suicide. For the sake of the honor of the army, there will not be a court-martial.

Besides, it is whispered that the person who sent the poison belongs to a nation which is the historic foe of Austria and which has shown a disposition recently to break her allegiance with this Empire.

Opposed to this theory is the fact the postal authorities have discovered that of the 16 packages 12 were mailed in Vienna, three in Bohemia and one in Galicia.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

SALOON MAN HIT BY ROBBERS LOSES MEMORY

East St. Louis Resident Comes To in Missouri Town After Two Weeks.

Maurice J. Montgomery, who lives at 519 North Twenty-ninth street and who owns a saloon at Nineteenth and State streets, East St. Louis, returned Tuesday morning after an absence of nearly two weeks and explained that he was struck on the head by a highwayman, Nov. 11, and just "came to" Monday at Clarksburg, Mo. He says he does not know where he was in the meantime.

Montgomery's story is that he was crossing the Vandalia track at St. Clair avenue Nov. 11, when two young men accosted him and asked him for money for a meal. He gave each a dime and was turning away when one struck him in the forehead with a piece of iron.

When he came to a realization of things Monday he was being cared for in the City Hall at Clarksburg, where he had been placed by order of Mayor A. J. Hodge. He had been picked up on the street and had been unable at first to give an account of himself.

Will Give a Free Lecture.

Dr. Augustus Seibert will give a free lecture at the Compton Heights Christian Church, California and St. Vincent avenues, Friday evening on "What Is the American Boy Worth?" The McKinley High School Mandolin Club will give a concert.

WELL DRILLERS AT WORK CAUSE A PANIC AMONG MINE WORKERS

Mysterious Pounding Frightened Men Underground and They Rush to the Surface.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 23.—Working in the lower depths of the tipple mine, near Shelburn, a group of men were thrown into a state bordering on panic by a mysterious pounding, directly over their heads. The men were working half a mile from the mine opening and made a frantic dash for the surface.

They were hoisted to the outer world and a hurried investigation revealed that at the spot where the pounding had been heard, well drillers were at work. The miners then returned to the tunnel and resmued their digging.

Our Oysters

Come Straight from the Beds Under Seal

Our oysters right here in St. Louis taste just the same as though you ate them at the sea coast. This is because ours are SEALSHIPT OYSTERS. Through a perfect organization—The Sealshipt System—of which we are members and registered agents, our oysters come straight from the beds to our stores, in air-tight Sealshiptors—every mile of the way under supervision—every mile of the way under seal.

Sealshipt Oysters

All of the Sea Flavor Saved

It takes from three to six years for an oyster to mature and acquire the fine flavor of the sea.

Yet the whole value of this three to six years of care and cultivation can be lost in three to six hours of transit—if the oysters do not come inland in the Sealshipt way.

About Other Oysters

For the common way of shipping oysters has always been in open tubs—the only way of shipping oysters ever devised until the Sealshipt System was organized.

The oysters in open tubs must be re-iced en route. It is "railroad" ice in the tub with the oysters. It melts and the oysters must swim in the "meltage."

Sealshipt oysters must be re-iced en route, of course. But the ice is on the outside ofthe airtight container which holds them.

Sealshipt Air-tight Containers

These germ-proof containers are packed solid with oysters at the seaside. The seal put on there is not broken until the oysters reach us here.

The oyster shipper is under contract to the Sealshipt System. We are under contract. Sealshipt Oysters are under constant supervision from the time they were dredged from the deep until we hand them to you in a Sealshipt paper pail.

Sealshipt Oysters are natural in color—unbleached, unbloated and have the true tang of the sea which you expect only in oysters eaten at the shore.

No "Liquor" With Sealshipt

You get no "liquor" in buying our Sealshipt Oysters—nothing but solid meats. The "liquor" is what spoils common oysters. It is melted railroad ice. So, if you have been accustomed to buying a quart of other oysters, remember you will only need a pint of Sealshipts. For common oysters are half liquor.

Call at any of the stores mentioned here and let us show you the cleanly white and blue porcelain SEALSHIPT CASE from which we sell Sealshipt Oysters. We shall also be pleased to hand you our book "SEASIDE OYSTER DISHES" which gives many shore recipes you'll be glad to know about.

Painter and Other Regulars Battered and May Be Unable to Play Against Carlisle Indians.

By JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

ST. LOUIS UNIVERSITY'S football squad will be prepared for a lively and gruelling battle when it meets the Carlisle Indians at League Park, Thursday afternoon. Unexpected assistance has cropped up among the scrubs, so that Coach William Warner will have a host of athletes for the fight against Brother Glen's Redskins.

After the long and muddy practice of Monday evening, it seemed that two or three of the scrubs were likely to replace some of the regulars in the coming game. They have gradually come to the front under the aggressive teaching of Assistant Coach Kinney, and with one or two of the regular varsity men in a crippled condition, the assistance is most welcome. The men on the scrubs who are likely to take an active part in the closing game are Moran, Carroll and Ed Stadtherr, the latter a younger brother of Tony Stadtherr, the regular lineman.

William Warner knows that his only chance to whip his brother's team is to have an abundance of material on hand so that a snappy and aggressive game may be maintained from the start to the finish. The St. Louis eleven sank down in defeat against the Oklahoma boys because of poor physical condition. The fast play of the Sooners took the life out of the local men. The game was too fast for them and they were played off their feet.

Though the Indians of this season are not rated as high as last year, still it is certain that they will play in much the same lightning style as they did one year ago, when they whipped St. Louis, 17 to 0. William Warner is preparing a defense that can stand up against the rapid playing of the redskins, and the only way he can do it is to have plenty of men on hand so that if one tires, another may jump in and take his place and the battle go on without letting up.

Halfback Painter, one of the fastest and best players on the varsity squad, is among the injured at the present time. The bumps given him in the Oklahoma game have not yet passed away and he spent Sunday and Monday in bed at the hospital trying to recover his strength. It seems likely he will be fit to start the game, but hardly capable of standing the battle to the finish.

Berry, one of the regular end men, is being rehearsed as halfback and will take Painter's place if the latter gives out. Then Ed Stadtherr will be placed at end. Stadtherr has developed faster than any man on the squad this fall. He knew very little football when work began, but he has the physical strength and mind to take to the game and has worked industriously on the scrubs every day. His reward is likely to be a place on the varsity team for the final game.

Moran, the fullback of the scrubs team, has come to the front so rapidly during the past few weeks that he is quite certain to play a part of the game Thursday in Lowe's place. He's a splendid line-plunger and has even more speed than Lowe. Carroll is a little man and has taken part in two or three games this fall as sub-quarterback. A lame ankle has impeded his progress and he hasn't the weight nor the kicking strength of Dockery, but is almost sure to be in the game against the Indians for a part of the time.

Warner Makes No Predictions as to Game Against Indians

WILLIAM WARNER is still silent and makes no prediction on the outcome of the game. He states that he expects to have a team in fit condition for a game and that he hopes to make a good showing, but beyond such indecisive statements he has nothing to say.

It is quite probable that the field will be heavy. That should favor the St. Louis team a trifle, though in the Oklahoma game it spoiled their offense completely. However, the Indians in the past have depended on active, open-field plays on offense, using the forward pass and on-side kick and resorting to end runs and trick plays almost exclusively, all of which require a good footing for perfect execution.

The St. Louis squad has been drilled to the limit during the past week. Warner finished the strenuous practice with a scrimmage on Monday in the mud and water. The players were thoroughly fagged out when the session ended, but they will take it lightly from now until the game. Tuesday there may be a bit of scrimmage to perfect some plays both on offense and defense, but not for the purpose of testing the men's physical endurance. Wednesday there will be but a light signal practice and the team will then be in tip-top form for the big game.

With good weather it is likely that a tremendous crowd will be present and the management states that the demand for box seats has been heavy.

Cayou's Men in Last Practice.

Coach Cayou of the Washington squad assembled his players at the Stadium just before dark Monday night and found conditions a bit better than expected. Halfback Nipher, the star of the team, and Maddox, right end, are the only regulars who will be unable to go to Little Rock for the game with Arkansas Thursday. The other players reported and a fast signal practice was held. Fatty Durr was played at left halfback in Nipher's place and Sihler, the substitute half, was played in Durr's place at fullback. Cayou think he may place the men in these positions in the game.

Nelson, left end, and Falvery, quarterback, will be able to make the trip and play in the game, though both were knocked out in the Saturday game against Vanderbilt. The team, consisting of 19 players, Coach Cayou and Manager Ewerhardt, is to leave St. Louis Tuesday night and will take signal work Wednesday, in Little Rock.

FOUR ST. LOUIS BOYS MAY PLAY AGAINST KANSAS

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 23.—Columbia and the University of Missouri is football mad. The undefeated Missouri Tigers, who left last night for Excelsior Springs, were given a greater send-off than any other football eleven ever received in the history of the institution. Following a snake dance headed by the cadet band and participated in by 2000 students at the Taft signal practice on Rollins Field, this afternoon, the whole team and student body turned out at a great mass meeting in the university auditorium and joined in the "Beat Kansas" demonstration.

Speeches were made by Coach Roper, Assistant Coach Gibson and Hamp. Rothwell. The latter, who is City Attorney and spoke in behalf of the Columbia citizens, pledged the support of the town people to "Bill" Roper, win or lose. He said that this year's team reminder him of the great '95 team, and that many old church deacons, who had not been out of town for years, had already bought tickets to the game Thursday and would undoubtedly be seen around the Kansas City buffets Thursday.

Coach Roper said that he never predicted victory, but had the pledge of every Tiger not to come out of the Kansas game "standing up;" that it would be a battle of pluck and grit against weight. His speech was followed by four minutes of continuous applauding.

Distance Men to Get Workout for 10-Mile Race

Joe Erxleben, winner of the Missouri A. C. Marathon race; Irvin Biel, the best 10-mile runner in St. Louis during the past summer, and a number of other well-known local athletes will have their first trial run Saturday for the annual 10-mile race to be held under the auspices of the Missouri A. C., Saturday, Dec. 11.

Biel, Erxleben, Guest, Millhouse, Mannion and Watson will represent the Missouri A. C. in the race. They will be accompanied by Dr. C. W. Bassett, athletic director of the M. A. C., Saturday, when they will run over the course for the race from Normandy Grove to the M. A. C. For several years Frank Jackson of the Missouri A. C. won the race in easy style. It is hardly probable that Jackson will compete this year.

J. P. SULLIVAN, DISTANCE RUNNER, MUST QUIT

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—J. P. Sullivan, who won the first mile race at the Olympic games in London, and who is one of the fastest distance runners in this country, has probably run his last race.

In the three-mile race at the Canadian championships in Montreal last September, Sullivan turned his ankle and strained a tendon. The injury has been getting worse and now he is in Bellevue Hospital, undergoing treatment. The doctors say he will not be able to run again.

Among Sullivan's feats are the American one-mile and the Canadian three-mile records. With Melvin Sheppard, George Bonhag and Harvey Cohn, he broke the four-mile relay race record.

DONLIN REFUSES DIAMOND OFFER FOR STAGE BERTH

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Mike Donlin, former star outfielder and leading batsman for the New York Giants, announced Tuesday that he had turned down an offer to manage the Philadelphia National League club, the terms of which would net him $30,000 a year, and that he is out of baseball "for keeps."

He stated further that ownership of the Quakers had passed to Felix Isman, and that the latter would have control before spring.

"This I know to be a fact," said he.

When asked his reason for ignoring this magnificent offer, Donlin explained that he and his actress wife, Mabel Hite, had just signed a three-year theatrical contract by which Mrs. Donlin is to be billed as a star, beginning in January, and that he is to be given high pay for playing a minor part.

Alley Strikes and Spares.

Several squads of individuals, also a number of two-men teams, are scheduled to bowl their games in the City Tenpin Association tournament, on the De Soto Pine alleys, Tuesday afternoon. The first squad will start bowling at 1 o'clock. In the evening two squads of two-men teams will hold the boards. The first will start at 7 p. m. and the second at 9 o'clock.

Hockwinkle of the Burkes is mainly responsible for his team being out in the lead in the five-man competition, the five not only establishing a new scratch total, but a high handicap total as well, when the five got 2739 pins, with which a handicap of 249 pins gave the team a total of 3038. The handicap total may not be beaten, but the scratch total is reasonably certain to suffer.

Bowlers are discussing the high scratch total registered by Roland Herwig. He got 667 pins. It is said that he has not been bowling for a couple of years, but nevertheless he found an alley on which his medium-speed ball would work just right, and, as the result, averaged considerably over the double-century mark.

The Regals No. 2 team bowled into second place in the five-men competition Monday, when the five got a total of 2480 pins, which, with a handicap of 606 pins, gave them a 3086 figure. There is no telling where the high figures of the five-men teams will stop. The teams that have bowled so far are considered only fairly strong. When the teams that are really capable of ripping in a high score once in a while get started it would not be surprising to see a 3100 handicap total registered.

One of the best-known teams in the country competed in the tournament Monday, the Buckeyes, from Doe Run, Mo. This team annually competes in every American Bowling Congress competition, no matter where it is held, always bowls in the St. Louis City tournament, and also shoots in the city tournament. The team is composed of bowling enthusiasts, who do not care for expenses when it comes to tournaments. Nevertheless the team got a total of 2845, including handicap, which should land the five up fairly near the top. Most of the members of the team will bowl their two-men and individual games Tuesday afternoon.

Gus Schmitt, one of the two Schmitts who beat Jimmy Smith and Alex Dunbar of New York, has his right arm so badly blistered that he will be unable to do much in the tournament. His arm was badly blistered while repairing an automobile. Jules and Gus Schmitt have never been beaten in a two-men match, but they came near defeat when Gus was unable to get going until the match with the New Yorkers was almost over, because of the pain of his arm.

Dennis Sweeney, secretary of the Middle West Bowling Association, is expected to return from Kansas City Tuesday. Sweeney promised the Middle West men that the prize list for the annual Middle West tournament, to be held on the De Soto Pine alleys, would amount to $10,000. This will make the tournament one of the most important ever held in the West. Local bowlers are eager to hear what Sweeney learned from the delegates who attended the meeting as to what the entry will be from St. Joseph, Mo.; Kansas City, Excelsior Spring, Mo.; Iowa and Kansas, from which most of the team are expected.

S.S.S. THE ONLY REMEDY FOR BLOOD POISON

The first symptom of Contagious Blood Poison is usually a little sore or ulcer, so insignificant that often no attention is given it. But when the blood becomes more fully infected with the virus the mouth and throat get sore, glands in the neck and groin swell, and sometimes ulcerate, forming sores and ulcers, the hair comes out, copper colored spots appear on the body, and where the disease is allowed to remain in the system the poison frequently penetrates deeper and attacks the bones. S. S. S. is the true antidote for Contagious Blood Poison—the only remedy that is able to get at the very root of the trouble and remove every particle of the virus from the circulation; at the same time S. S. S. acts with upbuilding and tonic effect on every portion of the system. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the symptoms begin to disappear and soon a perfect cure is made. S. S. S. can be used in the privacy of one's own home and a permanent cure effected. To aid those who wish to cure themselves at home we have prepared a special Home Treatment book which contains much valuable information to Contagious Blood Poison Sufferers. With the aid of this book and the use of S. S. S. a cure can be effected in every case. We will send this book, and also any medical advice desired free to all who write.

WRAY'S COLUMN.

RUBE WADDELL ought to be a football coach. Evidently the story of his being stranded in Kansas City with a couple of cubs is just another bear story.

"Leave the spikes alone," writes Tinker of the Chicago Nationals. No need to advise that, Joe. Most basemen are only too willing, but the Ty Cobbs won't let them.

Why all this talk of a National League president other than John Heydler, the present incumbent? The man's as clean as a whistle, the best-posted person in the country on the details of the office, and is popular with most magnates, players and writers. There's no need for any Harts or Montgomery Wards as long as he is in the field.

Looks as though some magnate—don't have to be named—wants to move a pawn into the king's place.

Little Amherst College made a name for itself in football and is evidently trying still harder to rise in the world. It has taken up aviation.

The efforts of the Columbia business men and shouters to give Missouri University a championship football team bear a strong family likeness to the endeavors of the St. Louis Million Club to root a 700,000 population into a seven figure notoriety.

Football vs. Highball.

CITY ATTORNEY ROTHWELL of Columbia, Mo., must have a queer idea of where these college boys play their football games. In a recent speech at Columbia, on the coming game of the Tigers at the Kaw City, he said: "Many old church deacons, who have not been out of town for years, will be seen around the Kansas City buffets."

Evidently Mr. Rothwell has confused the games of football and highball.

What's the matter with the Carlisle stars? In the list of eligibles for the St. Louis University game the name of Cries-for-Ribs is missing? Can it be possible that this gentleman's craving has at last been satisfied?

Is that most democratic of all institutions, Princeton, losing its athletic grip? For years this tight little university has held its head up with commendable valor among its giant neighbors and suffered but little loss of prestige. It does appear, however, that the natural handicap of its somewhat scant attendance is beginning to work its inevitable drawback. Princeton does not often shine in intercollegiate championships other than football and baseball, and even there it generally has to take a back seat. With 5000 students to draw upon, to Princeton's 1200 or 1500 the chances are four to one against the Orange and Black.

Still, it sticks pluckily in the hunt. It rather hurts the feelings of those who have followed the career of this hard-fighting clan to find it suffering defeat at the hands of interlopers in the hall of fame like Lafayette. But it points out one thing—that Nassau must fatten her attendance to keep in the race with the big 'uns.

Keep Chief Cayou Here.

TWO other institutions, one of them said to be Purdue and the other Indiana University, are after Coach Cayou, Washington's football mentor. Cayou has done wonders with an indifferently large bunch of material. Next year, if he remains, he will have a still better opportunity. For, littering the side lines on a big practice day are to be found several fine-looking freshmen who will undoubtedly strengthen the team. Among them is a brother of Harold Short, the famous Princeton line man. Young Short is fast, strong and well taught in football.

Cayou has instilled spirit into the student body that should bear good fruit next year. It is to be hoped the athletic association votes to meet any offers he may have received from other schools. Nothing breaks down the possibility of a good football team so much as continual shifting of coaches.

What Will Poor Warner Do?

ST. LOUIS UNIVERSITY will have a hard row to hoe next season. It is observing the freshmen and other eligibility codes and will be pure as snow—next year. The team will lose the services of veterans Berry, Lowe, Lindsay and Wills and can, of course, not make any use of new men. The substitutes have been none too strong this year, chiefly because they did not know the game; and some of them through lack of weight. There seems little possibility that the eleven can be materially stronger than that of this year. The loss of Lindsay and Wills in the line will be hard to replace, while Lowe and Berry are sadly needed in their respective positions.

PLAYERS SPIKES STICK MAGNATES

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, is of the opinion that a solution has not yet been reached in regard to the spikes worn by baseball players. This will be one of the most important matters to be considered by the joint committee on rules at the meeting here next month.

For a fast game of ball, Heydler declares that spikes are necessary. He also believes that the proposition to prohibit players from sliding into a base feet first is impracticable.

"Some other solution is necessary," said President Heydler. "If we do away with spikes the game will necessarily be slow, and if we make players slide head first into a base, more of them will be injured than if they slide feet first; but the many injuries through spiking necessitates a solution, and I believe it will be reached.

Zbyszko Throws a German.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 23.—Zbyszko scored a decisive victory over Heinrich Weber, the German wrestling champion, tonight, when, after winning one fall in 55 minutes, he went in with a rush and disposed of the German in 22 minutes in the second fall.

Jeff Puts Out Jack Johnson—in Dream Bout

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 23. JIM JEFFRIES will knock out Jack Johnson in the fourth round of their mill if dreams are made of real stuff.

Jeffries confided here today that he has dreamed twice of the coming mill and that each dream has found him winner by the knockout route in the fourth round. Just after the articles were signed he dreamed he had won by a knockout in the fourth. He told Sam Berger, his manager, so.

In Akron, Saturday night, Jeffries again dreamed of the fight, and the result was as in the previous dream. It is a long swing that is to put out Johnson, according to the dream stuff.

M. A. C. Boxing Stars to Meet Saturday Night

It is expected that Bobby Charlton and Bobby Gresham, both of the Missouri A. C. amateur squad, and two of the best 105-pound boxers in the city, will meet in the feature bout of the amateur boxing show, to be held at the Missouri A. C. Saturday night.

Gresham has a decision in his favor over Charlton. In the latter part of the last boxing season Charlton got a decision over Gresham so that the boys figure about even up. Gresham is the cleverer and more experienced boxer, but Charlton is stronger than Gresham and also has a harder punch. The bout should be a good one, as Gresham is willing to mix it up, while Charlton is at his best against a man who will swap punches with him.

Eddie Randall, boxing instructor of the club, has a broken hand, the result of playing basket ball. He is unable to work out with the members of the M. A. C. boxing squad, but is present at their practice and tells them how to get in trim. The entire card for the show will not be announced for a couple of days, but it is probable that Charley Dalwitz, who fought George Kirkwood last Saturday night, will also go on.

AMERICAN HORSES IN FUTURE RACES ABROAD

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The American nominations for English turf fixtures for the year 1912 have been made by many representative owners. In the Two Thousand Guineas Stakes, August Belmont, William Astor Chanler, William Hall Walker and Charles Carroll have entered two horses. Richard Croker has entered two and Harry Payne Whitney four.

For the 1000 guineas Filly Stakes, Messrs. Belmont, Carroll, Chanler and Croker have each entered one candidate and Mr. Whitney has four.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Frank Slavin, who, it was thought, was long ago buried pugilistically, is striving to resurrect himself. Slavin came to life with a challenge from Victoria, B. C., in which he offers to fight Charley Mitchell, John L. Sullivan, Jake Kilrain or Joe Choynski in one night and says that he will guarantee to "stop" them all inside of 10 rounds each, for the modest sum of $.0,000. If he doesn't stop them he will give his adversaries $10,000.

When Slavin was "good" he was beaten in four rounds by Peter Maher, the "perpetual Irish champion," at Madison Square Garden in New York, and was knocked out in this city by Peter Jackson in 10 rounds.

East Waiting on Stagg for New Football Ideas

Rules Committee Expects Chicago Coach to Tell How Gridiron Game Can Be Made Safe as Beanbag.

BY ROBERT EDGREN,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.

NOW that the curtain has practically dropped on the football season of 1909, the annual discussion concerning a "more open game" is in order. Something will probably be done to eliminate the danger in the present line-up, although it is difficult to conceive how a game could be more open than the one at Cambridge, or—coming closer to home—the game played by Brown and the Indians in New York.

There is agitation all over the country, however—probably more than any other year—chiefly because the game this year has cost 26 lives, and the severe blow struck at West Point in the death of Byrne. As a result of this one accident, the greatest spectacle of the year has been called off, and it is doubtful if either West Point or the Navy will take up the game next year.

Coach Stagg is said to be coming East with some valuable suggestions in the way of moderation. Stagg is a football genius and anything he has to offer will be carefully considered by the football committee.

WHEN Harry Hillman, the great Olympic runner, announced his permanent retirement from athletics a few days ago, he didn't intend leading the public to believe he was giving up all interest in the game; he only found it convenient to refrain from mentioning the fact that he had accepted a very favorable offer to coach the runners of one of the large Eastern college teams. Harry says that the management of the college has requested him to keep the name of the institution a secret until the latter part of this week. Some trainer is going to lose a job, and they seem anxious to put off giving him the hook until the last minute. Hillman referred to the college as "up there." Yale, Harvard and Cornell are supposed to have their trainers under contract, so there's another guess coming.

Horses Bring Big Prices.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—At the annual "Old Glory" auction sale of horses at Madison Square Garden, 126 horses were sold Monday for a total of $41,255. The 2-year-old trotter, Malcolm Forbes, was sold to J. R. McGowan of Mount Sterling, Ky., for $3750. United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas was among the visitors at the sale.

Decision to Delmont.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 23.—Al Delmont received the decision over Freddie O'Brien in the 12-round bout at the National A. C. last night. It was a rattling good contest, for there was lots of action in it from the tap of the gong. O'Brien allowed Delmont to carry the fight to him in nearly every round, which proved a bad mistake for O'Brien.

Cocked Hat Men Star.

Charley Kicker and L. Rogge did some of the best cocked-hat rolling witnessed in St. Louis when they opposed V. A. Wieda and J. R. Waite in a match on the Royal alleys Monday night. Kicker averaged 55 4-5 for five games while Rogge shot the five average of 51 2-5. The pair averaged 53 6-10, with a total of 586. Wieda and Waite were unable to get going and got only 478 pins.

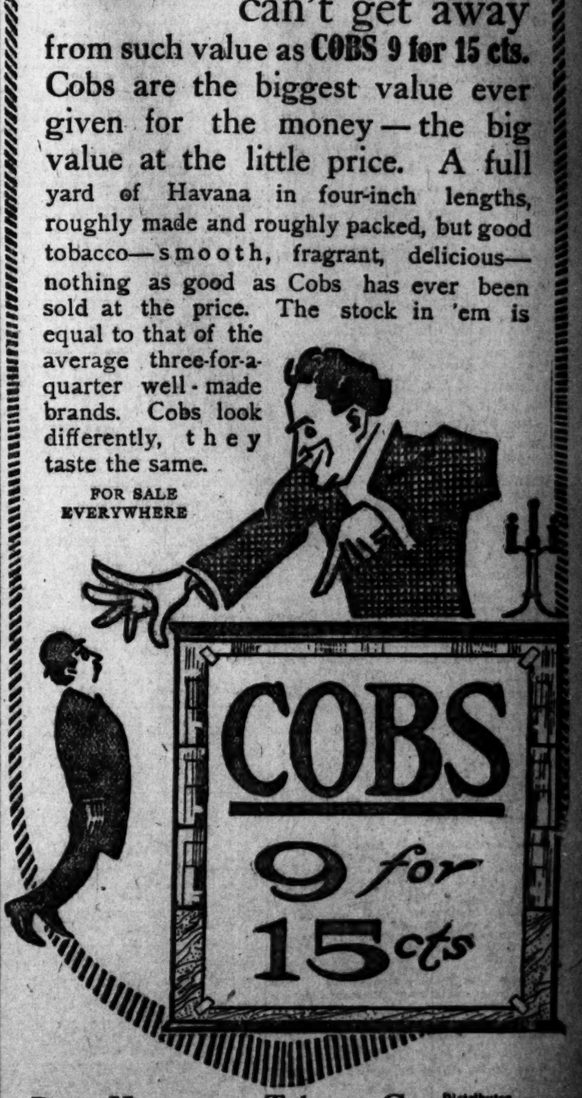

TAXICAB?

ST. LOUIS TAXICAB CO. Olive 1994. Central 4555

You can't get away from such value as COBS 9 for 15 cts. Cobs are the biggest value ever given for the money—the big value at the little price. A full yard of Havana in four-inch lengths, roughly made and roughly packed, but good tobacco—smooth, fragrant, delicious—nothing as good as Cobs has ever been sold at the price. The stock in 'em is equal to that of the average three-for-a-quarter well-made brands. Cobs look differently, they taste the same.

FOR SALE EVERYWHERE

CAUTION Cobs are so good that in half a year Cobs have become the most popular cigar in America; so popular that imitation is everywhere. Be sure that you get the real Cobs, in the GREEN package, or you won't get the real enjoyment. Only the best is copied, and copies are never best. Look for the green package.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS' REPORTS OF THEIR SALES

GREER REAL ESTATE CO.

Sold 6814 Clayton avenue, consisting of large, new, double brick building, containing two front storerooms, large rear poolroom, new regulation bowling alleys in basement and two 5-room flats on second floor. This building has just been completed under direction of the Greer Real Estate Co., and sold to Kate Murphy, for $12,000, for investment, as it is under a five years' lease at $1200 per year. The lessee put the bowling alleys in at an extra cost of $2500.

Also sold another one of the handsome bungalows they have built on Tuxedo boulevard. The one just sold is very unique, has six rooms and Southern style of architecture throughout. The roof is sweeping and covers an 8-foot porch around three sides of the house. The interior is finished in Flemish oak. It has plantation brick mantel and modern plumbing. Lot is 50x150 feet. Sold for $3850, to William J. and Celeste Blesse. Mr. Blesse is now negotiating to buy other vacant ground in the same location.

Also sold 4537-37A and 4539-39A Clayton avenue, consisting of a double, substantial brick building of four apartments of four rooms and bath each, renting for $816 per annum; lot 50x150 feet. Sold for $8000, from Frank H. Hiemenz to a client of the firm, who purchased for investment. B. H. Stoltman represented the seller.

Also sold 1124 Victoria place. This is another one of the several 4-room and bath brick cottages built under the direction of the Greer Real Estate Co. in Victoria place and sold this fall. The present one sold for $2650 to Felix Leutzinger of Jefferson County, Missouri, who purchased for investment.

Greer Real Estate Co. reports a healthy demand for money and has loaned $32,000 at 5 per cent and 6 per cent in loans of various denominations in first mortgages on city real estate.

PRICE CHANGES ARE FRACTIONAL AT THE OPENING

Movements Irregular in First Half Hour With Downward Tendency; London Firm.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23, 12:30 p. m.—A sharp break in the Copper stocks had a demoralizing effect on the general list, which sagged a large fraction. In the general weakness it is noteworthy that Consolidated Gas and Wabash preferred advanced, the former gaining ⅝ and the latter 1 point.

Steel common and preferred lost ¼ each, American Telephone and Telegraph ⅛, Colorado Fuel 1, American Car and Foundry 1⅛, Lead and Anaconda ⅜ each, Smelting 2¼, Utah Copper 2½ and Amalgamated Copper 3½ points.

In the rails section B. & O. and Canadian Pacific declined ⅛ each, Atchison and Southern Pacific ¼ each, St. Paul, Great Northern, Erie, Missouri Pacific and Northern Pacific ½ each, B. R. T., New York Central and Pennsylvania ¾ each, C & O. and Reading 1 each. Union Pacific was the weakest of the rail issues, declining 1½ points. The Rock Island stocks were unchanged.

While the trading was in less volume than on Monday, it was, nevertheless, large, the total sales to noon amounting to 739,000 shares.

Small fractional changes from the close was the rule at the opening of the stock market today. Price movements were in both directions, with gains and losses about equal. The Copper stocks were markedly irregular, Anaconda and Amalgamated receding, while Utah and Smelting advanced.

In the industrial stocks Colorado Fuel and Laclede Gas lost ⅛ each, Anaconda and Amalgamated ¼ each. Steel common gained ⅛, Railway Steel Springs and Smelting ½ each, Consolidated Gas ⅝ and Utah Copper 1½ points.

In the railway list B. R. T. declined ⅛, N. Y. Central ¼, Pennsylvania and Rock Island common ⅜ each. St. Paul gained ⅛, Atchison, Great Northern and Southern Pacific ¼ each, C. & O., Northern Pacific and Reading ⅜ each, and Union Pacific ½ point. Wabash preferred and Missouri Pacific were unchanged.

Changes in the rail stocks during the first half-hour's trading were generally insignificant.

While there were some gains the tendency of prices seemed to be downward. Pennsylvania, N. Y. Central, Great Northern and Atchison receded ¼ each and Wabash preferred gained 1 point. The Harriman Pacifics and St. Paul were at parity.

With the exception of Consolidated Gas the industrials were lower. All the copper issues lost about ½ point each and Mackay declined ¾. American Telephone and Telegraph was about unchanged and Western Union was slow in opening.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Opening dealings in stocks today were small in most cases, but there were large transactions in Reading at an advance of ⅜. Utah Copper rose 1¼. The price changes in the general list were small and mixed.

The show of strength made by a few stocks was taken advantage of to press sales, under which prices fell violently to below yesterday's closing. Pressure was particularly severe against the copper stocks and Reading. There was a demonstration of strength in the Gould stocks which lifted Texas & Pacific 1 and Wabash preferred 1⅜.

In the heavy liquidation which broke out again at 11 o'clock, Amalgamated Copper slumped 4½, Reading 2⅜, American Smelting and Anaconda 2¼ and many prominent stocks a point or more.

The rally ran to a point in Reading and Amalgamated Copper, 1½ in Anaconda, 1¾ in Utah Copper. Stocks were unloaded again and Union Pacific sold below 200. Colorado Fuel and International Harvester fell 2 points. The feverish and violent fluctuations discouraged efforts to trade and the dealings became dull. Bonds were easy.

The report of an extra dividend on Central Railroad of New Jersey caused an active buying movement in Reading, which soon made up its previous loss. The movement in this stock strengthened the whole market again, and some of the copper stocks rallied a point or more from their low prices. Railroad stocks were not very responsive and were quiet. American Snuff dropped 9½ and American Car 2 points.

An attack on Reading drove it down to near the low point, the price falling 2 points below yesterday's closing. The rest of the list was only slightly affected, and when the Pacifics and Wabash preferred were marked up the whole list hardened. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, St. Paul and other Western stocks sold fractionally over last night and Wabash preferred 3⅜. Reading also scored a pretty full recovery, but broke rapidly again at 2 o'clock.

The market closed firm. Buying from uncovered shorts kept the market quite steady, although Reading's fluctuations were very irregular. Southern Pacific and Western Union rose 1 and Consolidated Gas 2.

COTTON.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 23.

New York—January opened 11 points off, at 14.61c; March, 11 lower, at 14.88c; May, 11 off, at 15.02c; July, 12 lower, at 15c, and December, 20 off, at 14.32c.

EAST ST. LOUIS NOTES.

The purchase by the city of East St. Louis of a strip of ground 8070 feet long and 30 feet wide from David Rankin Jr. for $2400 has added that width to State street from Thirty-fourth street to the eastern city limits at Edgemont and the entire distance will be paved with vitrified brick as soon as the ordinance can be prepared. The widening of State street and the improvement will connect East St. Louis with the rock road to Belleville.

An ordinance for the improvement of Twenty-fifth street in Lansdowne and East Lansdowne was passed by the City Council Monday afternoon. The improvement includes the paving of Twenty-fifth street to Waverly place, then to Fortieth street and to Caseyville road. The cost will be $54,000.

The Board of Directors of the Provident Association of East St. Louis met at the Elks clubrooms Monday night and made plans for the winter. Another vice-president was added to the list of officers, Dr. C. W. Lillie being elected.

C. W. Haynes vice-president and general manager of the East St. Louis & Suburban Railway Co., has ordered 500 tags from the hospital association for employes for hospital "tag" day, which is next Saturday, and forwarded a check for $50 for them.

Union Thanksgiving services of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist congregations of East St. Louis will be held Thursday morning. The gathering will be at the First Methodist Church, the First Presbyterian Church and the First Baptist Church.

The first and second teams of the Winstanley Baptist Church will play a game of basket ball Thanksgiving night in the church gymnasium.

RAILROAD NEWS AND GOSSIP

A Baltimore & Ohio official says: "There will be no traffic arrangements made between the Baltimore & Ohio and the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton other than those already existing before Baltimore & Ohio assume control of the road. Tapping each other at many points is, of course, considerable opportunity for complimentary exchange of traffic. Such exchange will be carried on to the fullest possible benefit to both, but no alliance or arrangements already existing between the C., H. & D. and any other road will be disturbed."

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—City Railway rehabilitation certificates approved to date aggregate $16,801,510, which, added to the city's valuation of $21,000,000 under the ordinance, makes the purchase price $37,801,510.

Baltimore & Ohio—Month of October: Gross $7,660,821, increase $668,961; net $2,646,331, decrease $45,577. From July 1: Gross, $29,882,158, increase $3,247,206; net $10,557,543, increase $467,833.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—"I have not resigned," said President B. L. Winchell of the Chicago, Rock Isand & Pacific Railroad Co., on his return to New York today from a visit to the West.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 23.—It was announced here today that Thomas J. Walsh has resigned as secretary of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad Co.

He has been connected with the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton since 1890, and was widely known in railroad circles.

LONDON COPPER CLOSE.

ST. LOUIS MONEY MARKET.

New York exchange in St. Louis is still selling at a premium, showing the decided effect being exerted on the domestic movement of funds by higher interest rates. This condition will not continue indefinitely, as the situation seems to be steadily altering. Interest quotations were unchanged today at St. Louis banking institutions, rates remaining 5 to 6 per cent in the extremes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The only feature about the time money market is its dullness, but the market holds steady. Rates are 4¾@5 per cent for 60 and 90 days, with nothing procurable under 5 per cent. Four, five and six months, 4½@4¾ per cent. Commercial paper is fairly active, with business being done at 5 to 5½ per cent for best names.

TRADING ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE IS RATHER DULL

Only Four Transfers Are Recorded at the Forenoon Session.

The forenoon session of the St. Louis Stock Exchange Tuesday was one of the dullest that has been held for a long time. Not only were transfers small—only four—but quotations were much fewer than usual, indicating quietness in trading. Twenty shares of Kinloch stock sold at an advance of 1 point over Monday. Railways 4s were slightly harder, and the common was unchanged. The preferred stock was inactive, and there were no offerings in it.

National Candy was firm on quotation at 18½ bid and 19 asked.

There was only one sale at the afternoon session—a 10-share lot of Candy common, which changed hands at 19. This is an advance of ½ point over the last previous sale.

LIVESTOCK.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Nov. 23.—Comparative receipts:

| | Today. | Week ago. | Year ago. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cattle | 5,500 | 6,400 | 3,100 |
| Hogs | 13,500 | 11,900 | 9,100 |
| Sheep | 1,500 | 3,000 | 1,200 |
| Horses | 500 | 600 | 400 |

NATIVE CATTLE—The pressure of big receipts was not so apparent today and as a result the market inclined to rally. Steers were perhaps a shade stronger and moderately active, while heifers still inclined to drag. There was a fair proportion of steers among the arrivals, averaging ordinary to fair in quality. Veals were a little higher, tops bringing $8.75. Stock cattle in moderate supply and steady.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—About one-third of the day's receipts came to the quarantine division. Quality of offerings generally ordinary, no good Oklahomas being noted among the supply. Some Arkansas and Louisiana steers, however, graded above the average for those sections and sold at $4 to $4.35. The general market proved active and steady to strong. Buyers seemed to want everything offered them.

HOGS—Another good, liberal supply of hogs arrived, but they averaged better in quality than on Monday. The market opened on a good, active, steady basis on the best grades and weak to 5c lower on others. The top of the market was $8.10 for several loads and the same as the top yesterday, while the bulk of the desirable hogs weighing more than 160 pounds sold from $7.80@7.95. Pigs and lyights were about a dime lower all day and the market closed very weak on them. Best lights less than 160 pounds whent from $7.35@7.65, fair kinds $7@7.25, best pigs 110 $7.35@7.65, fair kinds $7@7.25, best pigs 110 pounds and under $7.10@7.40, fair ones $6.75@7 and trashy offerings clear down to $5.

SHEEP—The supply was but little better than yesterday and as there was a good demand the good fat sheep and lambs both were ready sale and prices went up 10@15c. The supply lasted but a short time and at least twice the number on sale were needed to meet the demand. Good kinds were scarce. Best lambs sold at $7.25 and the best sheep $4.75. Real good lambs would have brought about a dime more than any here today.

HORSES AND MULES—Horses sold about the same as yesterday. Eastern and Southern horses still lead for demand. Receipts approximated 200 head today. The mule market remains about the same today as on Monday, receipts a shade lighter. Prices about the same on quality. Southern mules most in demand. Mule receipts today approximated 300 head.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money abroad has eased off, but the official bank rates have not been reduced. The Bank of England's position by the last return has become strong again, although the bullion holdings are still £5,000,000 below the best of the year. As all the world still seems to want gold, the bank is likely to maintain its rate, especially as the burden of the demand for the metal is thereby shifted to other shoulders.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Call money was in fair request at 3¾ to 4 per cent. Bills were weaker at 4 per cent. There was market buying of short-time paper on some indications of a possible reduction of the bank rate early in December.

FINANCIAL ITEMS

Estimates of the total dividend and interest disbursements to all holders of stocks and bonds of various railroad, industrial and miscellaneous securities and of bond issues of all the municipalities of the United States for the year ended Dec. 31, 1909, can be placed at $1,450,000,000. As an estimate, this figure has necessarily been made in round numbers, and fractional variations are to be found in the sub-totals combining to form the aggregate, but for purposes of comparison, with only one month of the 12 yet to be estimated, the above sum is as accurate as can reasonably be made.

Although it was not generally expected that the 1909 report of the American Steel Foundries Co. would be particularly good, it was thought that the showing would be somewhat better than in 1908, instead of $1,826,180 smaller in gross sales and $38,600 less in the net surplus for the year.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The increased commercial activity which has characterized conditions in the United States during the past few months is beginning to make itself apparent in other parts of the world. The records of the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor, which have during the past several months indicated a marked improvement in both the internal and foreign commerce of the United States, are now showing improved conditions in the foreign commerce of many of the countries of the world.

Speaking of the consolidation of the Western Union with the American Telephone and Telegraph in reference to the bearing which such action has on the affairs of the Western Electric, an official of the latter company says:

"The consolidation is without particular significance as far as the Western Electric Co. is concerned. We have always been manufacturers of telegraph apparatus and have always sold to both the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph.

PRICES ON WHEAT ADVANCE FRACTION

Further Short Covering Causes Continuation of Moderate Upward Movement.

With the cash situation still strong and with the pit situation taking on an increasedly bullish appearance, longs in the local wheat market showed more confidence in their position Tuesday. There was exceedingly little wheat for sale. The demand was not large, but it included considerable short covering, and it was sufficient to promote a fractionally upward movement. Trading was light and the market dull a greater part of the time, but firm levels were maintained.

There were no changes in the situation. Further general rains fell over most of the Western country. While the present temperatures are in force this is not unfavorable for the plant itself, but it hampers the marketing of the grain. Receipts again were considerably below those of last year's, and showed a short reduction from the volume of a few weeks ago.

There was a higher trend to prices in foreign markets. It was based principally on the good demand for Manitoba, which was lightly offered and at firm levels. There was reports of rains in Argentine, which will cause much damage to the crop and futures there advanced sharply. This, the prediction that shipments from Russia will soon show a large falling off and the continued decrease in European supplies, contributed to the ¼d to ⅜d net advance in Liverpool and to the strong continental markets.

The local market opened firm and higher as a reflection of the responsive cables. The initial demand was composed mostly of short covering and it was encouraged by the gradual manner in which stocks of the contract grades are increasing. Chicago has been somewhat helped in this respect by the shipping of some spring wheat from Duluth, but the holdings there, like those in the local market and most important points throughout the country, appear to be insufficient to supply the shorts in the near position. The cash demand continued good and prices on the cash article were supported at high levels.

Aided by the virtual absence of offerings, prices steadily worked up early in the day. Toward noon the market was extremely dull and lifeless, but the fractional advances were held in a steady manner.

December wheat opened ¼@⅜c higher at $1.08, advanced to $1.08⅜ and sagged to $1.08¼@1.08⅛. May wheat opened ⅜@¼@⅜c higher at $1.07⅜@1.07½@1.07⅝, advanced to $1.07⅝ and sagged to $1.07⅜; July wheat opened ⅜c higher at 97⅝c and was offered down to 97¼@97⅜c.

LONELIES ENLIST WERREMEYER IN FINDING MATES

Involuntary Marriage Bureau of Poetic Justice Has Opened Again.

GETS FOUR LETTERS

Helen H. R. Admits That She Isn't Pretty, but Adds She's Honest.

Poetic Justice Werremeyer's Involuntary Marriage Bureau has opened again. It is involuntary in the sense that the marrying justice would rather run anything else, but the task is forced upon him by insistent widows and widowers who think he is a wizard when it comes to finding mates for the lonesome.

He received four letters Tuesday, two from St. Louis women and two from out-of-town men.

Helen H. R., who gives her address as 2831 Chippewa street, admits that she isn't pretty, but she hastens to add that she is honest.

"I don't want to break up housekeeping, but I find it hard with only my two boys and $6 a week," she writes.

She Is 40 and "Fair-Looking."

The other woman who calls on Justice Werremeyer to find a husband for her signs only her initials, N. I. S., and says she lives at 5061 Fairmount avenue. She addressed the envelope: "To the Justice of the Peace that writes poetry and also people getting married."

"I am a widow 40 years old and fair-looking," she writes. "Before the World's Fair I had a good business, but I went broke after the fair, and my son got married and now I have to work. I would make an excellent wife for a good man. He must be good-natured, pleasant and have manners. Dress don't make a man. I am a good writer and I am lonesome. Also a good cook. From this letter you can tell just the kind of man I want."

C. S. Pickett of Fairfield, Io., writes: "I am a widower, 38 years old, and have a little girl, 2 years old, and am keeping house myself. I don't want no stuck-up people and I don't want no riches. All I want is plenty."

Wants a Sober Wife.

C. C. Baker of Chuton, Ky., couldn't think of anything much to write after he had started his letter, so he just put down: "I am a widower, 48 years old. I am sober. Please find me a wife who is the same."

After reading the letters Justice Werremeyer tacked up this sign on his office door:

"If you'll pick out a mate for life,
I'll gladly rope and bind one,
But I'll be blamed if I'm a-goin'
To help you hunt and find one."

"I went out of that business last summer, when one widow's letter pretty near swamped me with applications from men and women who wanted me to furnish them with mates," the Justice said. "I'm here to marry people; that's all."

PUBLIC SERVICE BODY TO REPORT TUESDAY NIGHT

Commission's First Document Tells of Inquiry Into Union Electric Affairs.

The new Public Service Commission will make its first report Tuesday night to the Municipal Assembly. The document was written by James E. Allison, chief engineer and vice-chairman of the Commission.

It will include an account of the commission's investigation into the physical properties of the Union Electric Light and Power Co., and an inventory and appraisal of the corporation's real estate, buildings and electric and mechanical equipment. The inventory is complete, save for the amount and value of the wires used by the company.

A short review will also be given of the commission's preliminary work in compiling the statutes, ordinances and decisions in reference to public service corporations in St. Louis.

The commission, which was constituted last April by city ordinance, under the Cooper Act of the Legislature, and its members, appointed by the Mayor with the confirmation of the Council, are Joseph L. Hornsby, chairman; James E. Allison and James A. Waterworth.

The commission was not able to begin its work until June 20, because no provision for quarters was made until then in the City Hall.

Allison will be one of the witnesses at 4 p. m. Wednesday before the joint committee of the Council and the House of Delegates which is investigating the United Railways.

JUDGE SALE SUMMONED AS DEFENDANT IN WOMAN'S SUIT

She Asserts He Acquired Land That Is Rightfully Her Property.

Judge Moses N. Sale of the Circuit Court has been served with a summons in a suit filed against him in Pemiscot County, Missouri, by Mrs. Nannie E. Jones, who alleges that 640 acres of land he holds title to in that county is rightfully her property. She sues for possession.

The land was purchased last July by Judge Sale at $12 an acre and he now values it at $20. It is situated in the reclaimed portion of the county. Mrs. Jones and her husband formerly owned the property, but in 1886 it was transferred by them, and since then there have been five changes in ownership.

Judge Sale says he is informed that the woman now asserts the deed by which she and her husband were purported to have conveyed the ground was a forgery. At that time land in [illegible] was selling for $1 an acre.

PUBLIC SERVICE CHECK IS ASKED IN NEW CHARTER

Board of Public Improvements Desires Right to Force Extensions as Needed.

In recommendations sent to the Freeholders Tuesday, the Board of Public Improvements asks that the city's new charter vest in its members a partial control of public service companies. This authority would be sufficient to compel the several public utilities companies, on demand of the Board of Public Improvements, to extend their service to any part of the city in which it is needed.

The adoption of a new charter will necessitate the re-establishment of the Public Service Commission. The additional power asked by the Board of Public Improvements would not, therefore, conflict with any rights now exercised by the commission.

At present the Commission has no authority to enforce its recommendations which may be accepted or rejected, as the Municipal Assembly deems best.

Among other provisions which the Board of Public Improvements desires to have incorporated in the new charter is one commanding meetings on five days of the week. Under the present charter, the Board need meet only twice a week. Since the administration of President Reber there have been sessions nearly every day, but it is believed that the present voluntary practice ought to become the legal rule.

Several departments now indirectly under control of the President of the Board of Public Improvements will be merged with his office if its recommendations are written into the new charter.

Falls in Pool, Skull Fractured.

Hugh Matthewson, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Corinne Matthewson of 2927 Washington avenue, is at the City Hospital with a fractured skull and concussion of the brain. He was playing about the edge of the swimming pool at Father Dunn's Newsboys' Home Monday afternoon and fell to the bottom.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

A Topeka Woman Tells How the Tonic Treatment With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured Her.

The processes of digestion are controlled by the blood and nerves. That is why the tonic treatment, by which the blood is built up, has cured so many cases of stubborn stomach trouble.

Many people are suffering daily from stomach trouble because they cling to old-fashioned methods, eat predigested foods and in other ways aggravate the disorder they seek to cure.

There can be no real cure in stomach trouble until the digestive organs are toned up to do the work that nature intended of them. The only way that this can be done is through the blood which plays such an important part in the processes of digestion.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not only a tonic for the stomach but build up the general health. This is well shown in the case of Mrs. Emma Copeland, of No. 227 North Lake street, Topeka, Kan. She says:

"After treating with a doctor for several months and getting only temporary relief from nervous dyspepsia, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I began using the pills I was greatly run down in health and was reduced in weight. There was always distress after eating. There was a pressure like a weight on my stomach. At times there would be sour risings and also a great deal of gas from my stomach. I had to be careful what I ate, for any greasy food would put me in perfect misery. I was so nervous that I could not get any sleep and often had to walk the floor at night.

"I had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills only a short time when I could see that they were helping me. I continued using them until cured and I have had no trouble with my stomach or nerves since. I gained several pounds in weight. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a splendid remedy and gladly recommend them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Send for a copy of our diet book. It is free.

STIFEL GETS ACCESS TO RECORDS

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 23.—Judge Manton, in common pleas court today, granted to Herman C. Stifel of St. Louis a mandatory injunction to restrain the officers of the Toledo Home Telephone Co. from interfering with his inspection of the company's books.

Judge Manton said that he was satisfied that Mr. Stifel is a stockholder and therefore entitled to such examination.

Falls in Such a Way at Night That He Cannot Rescue Himself.

HARRISON, N. J., Nov. 23.—Falling as he was groping his way in the dark along the tracks of the Lackawanna Railroad near here late last night, Edward Carney met his death in a way that must have brought with it all the horrors of being buried alive. His body was found this morning, head downward, in a post hole six feet deep and about two and a half feet wide.

It is supposed he strayed from a beaten pathway and, stumbling over the mound of newly-dug earth that had been taken from the hole, pitched forward. But instead of finding solid ground under the hands he stretched out to save himself, he fell in such a way that he toppled head first into the hole. When his body was found the arms still were stretched out above the head, like those of a diver. But the man must have struggled desperately before death came.

Carney was 45 years old.

PHYSICIANS FEAR BLOOD POISON IN GOV. HADLEY'S INJURED HAND

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 23.—Gov. Herbert S. Hadley, who has been hunting in the Taney County Hunting Reserve, was forced to leave for Jefferson City last night on account of a badly swollen hand caused by a fall.

Physicians advised the Governor to return to his home at once, where he might receive treatment, as they feared blood poisoning might develop.

COW BREAKS A FARMER'S NECK

Found Sitting on Milking Stool in Feed Lot.

PARIS, Ill., Nov. 23.—Frank Mason aged 29 years, a farmer, was found dead in the feed lot at his home, one mile south of this city. Mason left the house about 5 o'clock to do the milking.

When he did not return, search was made and resulted in finding the body, still sitting on a stool. Mason's neck had been broken when a cow kicked him.
